

1-1-2008

Boys with Accents

Lydia R. Malcolm
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Malcolm, Lydia R. (2008) "Boys with Accents," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 5 , Article 33.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol5/iss1/33>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Boys with Accents

Lydia R. Malcolm

Your brow is furrowed,
Your eyes shine with brilliant thoughts.
But the words won't come.
Your hopes rise, fall, your confidence lost.

You start to walk away,
I stop you and smile, I see you.
I don't need the words.
I see you.

Take my hand and I will let you show me
Who you are, where you've been.
I will teach you,
Learn from you.

Talk to me with your broken words.
Look at me with eyes that speak volumes.
Soothe me with your sing-song sounds.
Make love in a language of our own.