Questions a

QUESTION: How urgent is the need for the Capital Development Program?

ANSWER: The Board of Trustees of Nova University, acting on recommendations from the Board of Governors of the Center for the Study of Law, has determined that the Capital Development Program is a need of the highest priority of the Center for the Study of Law to maintain and enhance the excellence of quality legal education for which Nova is nationally known. Further expansion of the library and academic offerings is extremely difficult given physical plant limitations. Nova Law Center urgently needs additional library space to accommodate the expanding library collection and provide additional student seating.

QUESTION: What is the goal of the Capital Development Program?

ANSWER: The goal is to raise $3,000,000 in Capital funds to expand the present library facilities to meet our needs and the stringent requirements of the American Association of Law Schools—AND—to raise an additional $1,500,000 in endowment to fund two “chairs” in the Law Center.

QUESTION: How will this money be raised?

ANSWER: We will raise this money from gifts and pledges from individuals, corporations, and foundations.

QUESTION: How much should I give?

ANSWER: Philanthropy is a highly personal matter. Only you can determine the amount of your support. No one can, no one should, no one will say how much you should give. We have provided a “guideline for giving” which may be of help in determining the amount of your gift.

QUESTION: How can I make a gift?

ANSWER: There are several ways in which you can make a gift to Nova’s Capital Development Program:

1. A pledge to be paid over a five-year period often allows you to make a greater commitment.
2. Assigning securities, real estate, or insurance policies may be your most cost-effective way of making a gift.
3. A gift of cash is always appreciated.

nd Answers

QUESTION: Is my gift tax-deductible?

ANSWER: Yes. Nova University is an institution of independent higher education fully recognized and registered by and with the Internal Revenue Service as a 501(C)(3) organization. Supporting documents are included in the prospectus.

QUESTION: May I designate my gift?

ANSWER: Certainly. The Board of Trustees recognizes that each person has an area of special interest or commitment. You may designate your gift to be used exclusively in the Law Center for either the library expansion or endowment.

QUESTION: Who else is being asked to make gifts?

ANSWER: Members of the Board of Trustees, Board of Governors, administration, faculty and staff of Nova University; alumni; parents of students; individuals throughout the United States who have shown an interest in Nova; individuals, corporations, and businesses in the South Florida area; corporations and foundations with national interests; and prospects identified by those listed above. We are trying to make this support base as wide as possible to help assure our ultimate success.

QUESTION: Is there a "deadline date" for my gift?

ANSWER: Not really. However, our Capital Development Program is geared to a five-year period (1983-1988) and pledges are sought over that time period. Of course, the earlier we can receive your gift, the earlier we can start construction of needed facilities.

QUESTION: To whom do I make my gift?

ANSWER: Checks, assignments of securities, and titles to real estate should be made to Nova University, Inc. Pledges should also be made to Nova University. Specific designations should be clearly indicated. You may also be interested to know that all gifts to the Capital Development Program will be placed in restricted accounts for use only in the areas you designate.
