UNIVERSITY NEWS. . .

October 29th, 1965

Dr. Raymond R. Pepinsky, the university's research professor of physics and chemistry, has been signally recognized with an honorary doctorate from the Justus Liebig University in Giessen, Germany, - an institution which has awarded only three before in its history . . .

One of the world's leading authorities in crystal physics, Dr. Pepinsky has lectured widely in European universities on grants and fellowships. He was research professor of physics at Penn State for many years . . .

Securities investment counselors and all serious students of the stock market should set aside Nov. 16-19 for attending our Financial Securities Management Seminar at the Hollywood Beach Hotel. A number of the top U.S. authorities in this field will discuss its various phases, in a program intended to delve deeply into the subject of selecting and managing a securities portfolio . . . There's never been anything approaching it in Florida before . . . Julius Shiskin, chief economic statistician of the Bureau of the Census, will deliver the keynote address. Dr. Lawrence Klein, professor of economics at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania, will discuss the current economic expansion . . .

Organization of the Davie Fund Campaign is virtually complete. Eugene Ameral, president of the Sterling National Bank, is treasurer. . . . Chairman is A. D. Griffin, Sr. . . .

Watch for the announcement of plans for the first annual Nova Ball, which we expect to hold in the spring . . .

Also forthcoming: dedication of our campus site, with an appropriate gathering of dignitaries . . .

A significant Institute of Public Safety is being established by the University jointly with the Pilot Club of Hollywood, to be launched on Nov. 11 . . .

Leading architects of the county are working with the University toward the holding of an important seminar this winter on Educational Architecture for the Sub-Tropics. We anticipate that the foremost architects of both hemispheres will be attracted here for it . . .

Technology is the only sound basis for international understanding, and the computer may prove to be a means to great accomplishment in this field. Dr. Warren Winstead, the University president, offered these opinions to a meeting of the B'nai B'rith and Women's Chapter here this week. He believes men can communicate readily through the technologies where they are unable to understand each others' politics or cultures . . .

The model of our campus is now on display at the Sterling National Bank in Davie. Later on it will be placed in the Fort Lauderdale-Hollywood Airport . . .

Dr. Charles E. Gauss, our Assistant to the President for Academic Affairs, is working with a group of men and women on bringing the Oliver Wendell Holmes lectures here this winter. He is currently delivering a series himself Nov. 4, 11 and 18 at the Fort Lauderdale High School . . .

The Chicago Tribune of Oct. 17 carried a 17 page article on the Nova Complex, giving us excellent exposure in one of the nation's largest metropolitan dailies.
