NSU has your prescription for success.

Pharm.D. students focus on patient-centered care and disease-state management while receiving real-world training from expert faculty members and preceptors in the field. Experiential sites—located across several states, including Florida, and in Puerto Rico—provide training in community, hospital, and specialized pharmacy settings. Travel study, mission trips, health fairs, internships, and research and development expand active learning outside the classroom. Pharm.D. students can also pursue a concurrent master's degree in business administration, public health, or biomedical informatics.

NSU's Ph.D. in Pharmaceutical Sciences program students conduct transformative research alongside faculty members in molecular medicine and pharmacogenomics, drug development (pharmaceutics), and social and administrative pharmacy. For a role in a changing health care environment or preparation for NSU's internationally known Pharm.D. or Ph.D. programs, the university also offers an M.S. degree in Pharmaceutical Sciences.

NSU ATHLETICS

STRONG. FAST. ADAPTABLE. NSU Sharks not only dominate in academics, but athletics as well. NSU's highly competitive and nationally recognized intercollegiate athletics program provides students with the opportunity to harness their leadership, sportsmanship, and teamwork skills.

Since joining the NCAA Division II ranks, NSU teams have consistently been ranked among the top 25 in the nation. Our teams have won 8 national titles, 36 Sunshine State Conference titles, and 21 individual national champion titles. The Sharks finished 2018–2019 ranked second in both men's and women's SSC Mayors' Cup standings, earning 26th nationally in the Learfield IMG College Directors' Cup to garner a top-30 ranking for the seventh time since joining the NCAA.

NSU student-athletes also have thrived in the professional ranks. Members of the 2018 and 2017 World Series Champions, respectively, J.D. Martinez (Boston Red Sox) and Mike Fiers (Houston Astros), as well as St. Louis Cardinals pitcher Miles Mikolas were all Sharks before moving to the big leagues. Former NSU golfer Sandra Changkija now tees up on the LPGA tour. Gerard Tarin graduated from the court at NSU to the NBA G-League. Not to mention over 27 players selected in professional drafts and numerous players competing professionally overseas in several sports.

NSU strives to help athletes strike a balance between academic and athletic pursuits, so they can excel in both arenas. As a result, NSU student-athletes maintain a gold standard academically, producing another dominating year in 2018–2019 with a 3.22 department grade point average. In fact, student-athletes have recorded an overall GPA of 3.15 or better for the past seven years. Our athletic Sharks have proven they have the edge—more than 225 student-athletes have earned Scholar All-American honors before moving on to successful careers in the business, legal, and medical fields.

EARLY CHILDHOOD AND AUTISM STUDIES

NSU'S MAILMAN SEGAL CENTER FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT (MSC)

MSC SERVES AS an educational and clinical demonstration center providing research and experiential learning for faculty members, students, postdoctoral fellows, and community professionals in the areas of early childhood education, autism and related disorders, developmental science, and pediatric behavioral and mental health. Through collaborative exchanges, professional training, and applied and translational research activities, MSC's clinical and educational settings provide a living laboratory to gain insights into young learners, families, and typical and atypical development.

Within MSC, children are viewed as active participants in their learning to ignite curiosity and investigation. Designed for children ages 6 weeks–5 years old, MSC uses a three-pronged mission of teaching, service, and research to provide a strong foundation for children, support for families, experiential learning, and professional development. NSU students can study the areas of applied behavior analysis, child life specialist, and autism.

MSC is also home to three unique clinics: The Unicorn Children's Foundation Developmental Assessment Clinic, The Kapila Family Foundation Feeding Disorders Clinic, and The Kapila Family Foundation Challenging Behavior Clinic.

The center's autism-related programs are renowned and serve as national models for best practices. MSC is the only learning center in Broward County that is both university based and NAEYC accredited. It is a truly remarkable place for children, families, and professionals to learn, play, and grow.

JUNIOR KINDERGARTEN–GRADE 12

NSU UNIVERSITY SCHOOL

WITHIN NSU'S Fort Lauderdale/Davie Campus lies another institution preparing students at every stage of their education. NSU University School combines academics, arts, athletics, and community service to develop young minds.

The junior kindergarten and kindergarten programs set the stage for a lifelong love of learning. Passionate and well-qualified educators capitalize on an innovative classroom design and exceptional resources to facilitate collaboration, active learning, and student-driven inquiry.

In grades 1 through 5, students are encouraged to be creative, take risks, and become critical thinkers. In addition to emphasizing proficiency in reading, writing, and math, the Lower School curriculum focuses on world languages, social studies, science and innovation, physical education, and character development.

Our cutting-edge academic program empowers Middle School students to pursue knowledge, big ideas, and questions. Our teachers understand that every child learns in his or her own way, so they continually seek to differentiate instruction in order to reach every student.

During grades 9 through 12, students craft individualized academic programs through which they discover their passions as learners and develop their voices as leaders. In any given day, Upper School students explore labs, participate in deep and probing discussions, write critically and creatively, refine their thinking, and learn to solve complex problems. For example, they don't just learn the process of protein synthesis; they invent their own systems for modeling the process.

As an added educational benefit, the school's unique affiliation with NSU provides students with access to world-class scientists, researchers, and distinguished professors.

NSU University School gives students an edge as they prepare for college and beyond.
