

5-1-2012

Untitled

Miriam Bedrin
NSU University School

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Creative Writing Commons

Recommended Citation

Bedrin, Miriam (2012) "Untitled," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 18 , Article 39.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol18/iss1/39

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

by: Miriam Bedrin

What is a clock or days or time
When an hourglass can only hold a stime
And sand can always fall through the sieves?
A way to count what can't be counted.

What is a promise, oath, or treaty
When life exists in anarchy
And words wilt easily as falling leaves?
A way to surmount what can't be surmounted.

What is my title or race or tie
When those around me can always lie
And worth is more than the brain perceives?
A way to discount what can't be discounted.

