Nova sponsors U.S.-Soviet panel

If you're feeling philanthropic, a Nova University official says he has just the ticket.

It's a ticket to a round-table discussion on U.S.-Soviet relations.

The panelists are newscaster David Brinkley, Zbigniew Brzezinski, former presidential adviser on national security; James Schlesinger Jr., former secretary of defense; Andrew Young, Atlanta mayor and former ambassador to Young the United Nations; William G. Hyland, former deputy assistant for national security; and for the Russian side of the story, Arkady Shevchenko, a defector and former Soviet ambassador to the United Nations.

The discussion will take place at 7:30 p.m. Oct. 17 at Sunrise Musical Theatre. Regular tickets cost $15 and $25, and holders of major credit cards can make reservations by calling the theater, 741-8600. But Stephen Goldstein, Nova vice president, is looking for donors to buy preferred seats at prices from $100 to $1,000. The four-digit figure is for a seat on stage. Donors should call Goldstein at 475-7406.

In the winter of 1981, Alice Cooper, a former Nova student, informally initiated a club for Undergraduate Day Division residents of the Davie Living Complex. The objectives of the club were to bring residents living on campus closer together and to inspire parties and other social events. There were elections of officers and the club's main activity was monthly barbecues funded by the school. Last year this informal club was spiced up, given a name, and formal elections for officers took place. Bob Sabo was the President, Daphne Seiling the Vice President, Stephen Ferrante the Secretary, and Ina Samuels the Treasurer. As a club organization, named the Resident Student Association, the group did very little to bring about any changes which the residents of the Davie Living Complex requested. A couple of successful parties were planned and carried out on the grounds of the school. As May of 1984 sped by and school was suddenly over, the affairs of the R.S.A. were left somewhat in the air. With the coming of the Fall semester, and the start of a new school year, an increasing number of students took up residency in the D Building. Because of some disciplinary problems and the increase of students in D Building, Ms. Mimi Stevens organized a small group of students to "initiate" projects and events for the residents of D Building. This may be all well and good to keep down the ruckus over at D Building, but inevitably a question arises-- why weren't S.G.A. officers, former R.S.A. officers, or active students within Nova Day Division ever contacted about the "creation" of this committee. Another question to be raised is: What about all the other students in A, B, and C Buildings? An official club, The Resident Student Association, has been formed to concentrate on matters of grievance of students living in the apartments, parties, and other activities to try to create harmony and friendship for all students living in the Davie Living Complex. Doesn't it seem that the organization of a "D Building committee" is almost at once alienating all other students in Buildings A, B, and C? Rest assured that action will be taken in the very near future to strengthen the R.S.A.. The Resident Student Association will be the faction in which other committees (formed by resident Day Program students) are welcome to work in congruence with the goals of the R.S.A..

The Nebulae, Nova's literary magazine, is gearing up for this year's issue. Every year, students write poetry, short stories, essays, and creative drawings to be published in the magazine.

Every year, our Governor, Senators, and Congressmen receive a copy of the magazine. Many of them have written to us to commend the quality of the magazine, and their appreciation of the literary arts from a college viewpoint.

As editor of Nebulae, this year I'd like to see more student involvement. I'd like to have a diversification of creative works, such as computer artwork, puzzles, and humorous caricatures of faculty, staff, and students. I believe this magazine is an excellent one, and gets even better year after year. I also believe everyone likes to see their work in print!

If you are interested in getting involved in any of the aspects of the magazine, such as submitting creative works, working on layout, or selling advertisement to local businesses and organizations, contact Bonnie Rosen or Dr. Nadel P205.

Entertainment

Was it the bronchitis?

It's already 8:30pm and the 13000-strong crowd is waiting impatiently for the appearance of their idol. Finally, the pre-recorded bagpipes signal the Scottish rocker's arrival. The audience becomes instantly a screaming, standing mass of sweat and desire.

His voice was in wonderful, gravelly form as he marched through such stalwart Stewart favorites as "Hot Legs", "Tonight I'm Yours", "You're in My Heart" and "Tonight's the Night". By the time he reached "Passion" thousands of women were swooning and sighing (and perharps fantasizing). Rod threw in a couple of pleasant surprises, such as "Dock of the Bay" (Otis Redding) and an acoustic version of Bruce Springsteen's "Hungry Heart". Needless to say that the 13-year-old classic "Maggie May" as well as "Gasoline Don't Want to Talk that special note Still, his overall showmanship and performance was admittedly overwhelming and I'm sure most of the folks (50% of whom were girls under-18) left the Sportatorium... happy!!

The Liberace of ROCK

Perharps the first rock "superstar" of the Seventies, Elton John was launched on his highly popular recording and performing career with ecstatically received shows in 1970. Exhibiting a flair for outrageous showmanship, wearing wild and often silly clothes, and performing in a flamboyant and flashy fashion, Elton John has been compared to Jerry Lee Lewis and, perharps more accurately, to Liberace. Often identified with the "glitter rock" movement, John nonetheless retained a sense of tastefulness which avoided a garish and disconcerting image.

Reginald Dwight (his real name) was born in Middlesex, England, on March 25, 1947 and began playing piano at the age of four. He attended the Royal Academy of Music in London and performed with local bands during the early years of his career. By the beginning of 1971 and undaunted by initial failures, John recorded the single "Your Song" which became his first major hit single. Over the next two years, Elton John enjoyed what is generally regarded as the artistic highpoint of his career. With smash hits like "Rocket Man" and "Honky Cat" (1972) and later "Bennie and The Jets", "The Bitch is Back" and "Lucy in the Sky with Diamonds" (1973), John established himself in the high altar of artists.

His latest album ("Too Low For Zero") is simply brilliant and surprising only in its unflawed consistency. Elton John is performing this coming weekend at Holywood Sportatorium. A review of his concert is coming up next week.

Sports

Basketball.

IMPORTANT

The Nova University Basketball team is in need of people who are interested in helping to keep statistics for our home basketball games.

We also need someone who would like to video-tape our home games. Any students who are interested in these positions should see coach Hansley in Rm 249.

-SOCCER-

Nova Knights lost their last game against St. Thomas of Villanova. This puts Nova at three wins and three losses. The Knights played some good soccer, but St. Thomas outplayed them. The Knights' next game is against St. Thomas (away). The Knights hope to put on a better show, provided players do not get sent off the field!!

-VOLLEYBALL-

The Volleyball team played against Florida Memorial Monday night, and won in three sets. This puts the team's record at five wins and four losses. One of the team's key players, Dawn Dietzel (spelled with a -D and not a -K...sorry about that young lady) tore ligaments in her leg while practising, and will be out for the season. Obviously this is not a good turn of events, since the team has only 6 players. However, the players feel confident about their next home game which is on Friday October 19 (trimatch against Webber College and Trinity Baptist).

-CROSS COUNTRY-

The team's most recent involvement was in an Invitational at FIU. Nova ran against teams from FIU, FAU, Miami Dade, Barry University, and University of Miami. Nova mens team finished fourth, defeating FIU and FAU. The womens team did a fine job, each girl making a personal achievement. However, they did not finish as a team because they were short on runners.

Arthur's Page

Perharps this section would be better called "Arthur's Page's Page"* since I am the King's messenger. When he wants to communicate an important announcement to the realm, Arthur cries out, "Page!!" You see, I have no name, so perharps to avoid confusion this newspaper section would be more accurately titled "The Page's Page".

I introduce my column to you so that you may benefit from its services. Arthur places the highest priority on communication, simplicity and what he calls "keeping informed, in touch and insane". From this page will come the latest information (Campus Bete),¹ the most simple King's English and the most "in" subjects which this humble courtier can muster from his home in Camelot. As Squire Kay probably said to my master (in the days before Arthur pulled a sword from an anvil), "Get on with it! Hurry it up, knave!".

 Notes:¹ "Campus Bete" is pronounced as Chaucer would say it: beet. To avoid confusion with the vegetable (which is better suited for making nourishing soup than this column's contents), we spell "Campus Beat" with a Medieval twist. Please note, francophones that we omit the circumflex over the first -e.

Editor's notes:

- * page- 1 one side of a leaf of paper in a book.
- 2 (in the Middle Ages) boy in training for knighthood and living in a knight's household.

 bête- thing or person one dislikes greatly.
