THE NOVA KNIGHT

February 12, 1985

Homecoming Events

The festivities began last Monday with a pie-eating contest. Seven students participated in this event. They were Jimmy Ochoa, Deanna Finney, Nick La-Barbera, Bill Pederson, Eddie Artau, Robert Lamelas, and Rockie Mastrapa. Bill won first place, receiving free tickets to the Homecoming dance.

On Tuesday there was an afternoon picnic followed by the Nova Olympics. The five events of the olympics were tug-of-war, egg toss, five-legged race, pass the lifesaver with a toothpick, and neck-to-neck baseball pass.

The annual bon fire was on Wednesday night. Everyone enjoyed watching the fire and drinking beer.

Thursday night was the students vs. faculty basketball game. The students won the game.

The culmination of Homecoming activities was the Friday night ball. This was held at Marina

Bay. There was a buffet with the main attraction being a chef carving the roast beef.

The awards were given out after dinner. Mr. Dan Sullivan received the most valuable player award in the students vs. faculty basketball game.

The tie for the Homecoming king between Marcus Valere and Jimmy Ochoa was broken through a second-round voting at the beginning of the party. Jimmy Ochoa and Effie Kallas were voted as the 1985 King and Queen. Marcus Valere, Theresa Lane, Jim Levey, Zeida Rodriguez, Robert Lamelas, and April Collins comprised the court.

Overall, Homecoming week was a big success and Friday's ball was the perfect final touch to this most enjoyable week. Congratulations to our S.G.A. officers and all of the people who helped and participated in the events.

Editorials-Letters

I WONDER!!

Recently, S.G.A. president, Eddie Artau, issued a three page list of decrees to his fellow SGA officers. The decrees, in effect, eliminate the right of students (other than officers) to attend S.G.A. meetings, to propose solutions to S.G.A. problems, and to have any other meaningful form of input on Student Government issues.

Artau further ordered his officers not to discuss S.G.A. matters with members of the Nova Knight staff, except for the S.G.A. Public Relations Director, who "must act to deny access to classified student information to all reporters...or disguised reporters."

Artau's decrees have caused some students to wonder whether the S.G.A. has entered the era of King Edward the I.

Sports

Nova Knights Vs Eckerd College

Last Friday night the Knights faced Eckerd College, their toughest opponent in six games. The officiating had a great impact on the game. This is not to suggest that the Knights could have won the game, but that the referees did a terrible job!!

As in recent games, the Knights played great defence which kept Eckerd off-balance (at least at the beginning of the match). Eckerd, however, used its great outside shooting to make up for the non-existing inside shooting.

Offensively, the Knights scored from an unusual source, Ricky Stanley. He was the spur in the Knights' fast-breaking offense. Ricky got some help from Curt Colberg who was on target throughout the game. At half-time, the Knights were down by 5 points (34-39).

In the second half, the atrocious officiating continued. However, Eckerd did play very well. The Eckerd team made more points from the free throw line -- as it did in the first half. It also out-rebounded the Nova Knights (2-1).

Keith Skinner, Curt Colberg and Bucky Taylor played well to keep the Knights in the game. Their collective effort wasn't good enough, however, and the Knights lost to Eckerd 84-98. Leading scorer for the Knights was Curt Colberg with 25 points.

FACULTY Vs STUDENTS:

The students won 21-10.

Most Valuable Player-- Mr. Daniel Sullivan

Better luck next year faculty.

A notice to students and faculty of Nova who care: The Center for the Study of the Presidency in New York City has announced a 2500-word essay contest on the subject of "Priorities and Strategies: 1985-1989" -- deadline: March 13, 1985. Students, faculty, members of the administration and anyone else who would like to see their views included in the essay submitted by Saucero are invited to send their suggestions to Saucero, Box 1284, Rollins College, McKain Hall, Winter Park, Florida 32789. Saucero will compile the ideas and make a synthesis of whatever he thinks accurately reflects best the classic view of Natural Right as first described by his ancestor, Plato. All contributors will receive a copy of the final essay and an invitation to a party, where the contributors will meet each other. Send your ideas (include your phone number or address) to Saucero postmarked before March 5.

With many thanks to the editor,

Saucero.

Arthur's Page — EXTRA —

Let's practice some critical thinking. /

Take, for an exercise, the statement:

ALL HUMAN BEHAVIOR IS CONVENTIONAL

The reasoning that I dress the way I do is because of convention. All my activity is grounded in convention. For example, I just wrote this sentence: that's a behavior and the grammar of the language which I used is based on a convention of language.

(Get this next sentence...)

"The notion that these words have a referentiality to a certain kind of meaning is itself a convention."

(Dig it?)

If everything is conventional,
If every action I make is conventional,
then the sentence which I started with is conventional. Therefore:

SAYING THAT "ALL HUMAN BEHAVIOR IS CONVENTIONAL" IS CONVENTIONAL.

But, after all, since I just wrote that previous statement, we can write another sentence:

Saying that SAYING THAT "ALL HUMAN BEHAVIOR IS CONVENTIONAL" is conventional.

... and we can go on with this infinite regression.

Our conclusion is that "the notion that all behavior is conventional is incoherent because the supposition that enables you to say that assumes that there is a behavioral position for the person making the claim. THERE IS NO BEHAVIORAL POSITION WHICH THAT PERSON CAN ADOPT WHICH IS ITSELF NOT CONVENTIONAL.

If you can explain this more clearly, you will win a cosmic poster and a chance for your explanation to appear on this page.

JOIN THE NATIONAL WOMEN'S HISTORY WEEK CELEBRATION

How well do you know the contributions women have made to their cultural heritage? Try this short quiz and see. All quizzes should be submitted to Ms. Fran Bohnsack-Lee (Writing Lab, Rm236) by Friday 16. The winner will have the pleasure of enjoying a classic book: "Story: Fictions Past and Present" by B.Litzinger and J.C.Oates.

One of the world's finest violinists, this Korean woman's ambition was to live up to her gifts.

Despite opposition, she became the first woman cabinet member and authorized the Social Security Act of 1935.

Her ideals of sisterhood and partnership for women were shown in her work against sweatshops and in the women's trade unions.

Puerto Rican poet who dealt with nationalism and women's struggle for freedom before others recognized their validity.

This woman worked tirelessly in civil rights and on behalf of all poor people. "Hunger has no color-line," she proclaimed.

Black daughter in a strong family, fought courageously to bring justice to American Blacks victimized by lynching.

Chief and native American, she deserves recognition as an early inspired leader, an advocate of her people, the painter of the Great Nevada Basin.

 DAY!!

Artists Corner

To all the Valentines!!

The forward violet thus I did chide:

"Sweet thief, from whence didst thou steal
Thy sweet that smells if not from my love's breath?

The purple pride which on
THY SOFT CHEEK for complexion dwells
In my love's vein thou hast too
grossly dyed."

The lily I condemned for thy hand
And buds of marjorem had stol'n of thy hair.

THE ROSES FEARFULLY ON THORNS DID
STAND

One blushing shame, Another white despair;

A third, nor red nor white, had stol'n
of both

And to his robbery had annexed thy breath

More flowers I noted but I none could see.
But sweet or color it had stol'n from thee.

Bill could say it with words, but Nova Joes can say it with flowers, a smile and a handsqueeze... it's not terribly macho, but Guido tells me that it's better to blush when you tell her you really care, than to mumble an amorphous "I love you" and be misunderstood.
