THE NOVA KNIGHT

March 26, 1985

A BOOKSTORE AT NOVA ?

During the past week S.G.A. President Edward L. Artau has done extensive research on the possibility of having our own bookstore.

Mr. Artau spoke with Lou Hahl, coordinator of BCC Bookstore, to obtain further information on this issue. Mr. Hahl was apparently interested in helping us to obtain information and facts about this project. Mr. Hahl referred us to Missouri Book Services (they administer F.A.U.'s and F.I.U.'s bookstores) and Follett College Bookstores (they administer St. Thomas, Villanova, and Barry University bookstores).

A reliable source has informed us that S.G.A. President Edward Artau will be meeting with representatives from Missouri Book Services at F.A.U. this Wednesday at 4:00 p.m. Furthermore, we are also told that Follett College Bookstores has sent to the S.G.A. information about the service they can provide our students. However, Follett will not provide us with a formal presentation until the S.G.A. can obtain a letter of permission from Higher ranks of the Nova University administration.

The undergraduate program is not the only dissatisfied group with our current book service arrangement. Ted Brewer from the Ph.D. program (in Psychology) already started a bookstore for the Psy.D. students. Another source has informed us that Ed Artau has been in contact with Ted Brewer and have discussed the possibilities of consolidating their efforts.

More information on this heated issue should be available by next week.

An interview with the R.S.A. President,
Marc Cama.
(pg 2)

AN INTERVIEW WITH MARK CAMA -- R.S.A. PRESIDENT

Q: Is it true that there hasn't been an R.S.A. meeting in three months?

A: Yes, that's true.

Q: How then was the St. Patrick's Day party planned?

A: Arthur Frischman (R.S.A. Vice-President), Jaime Grimes (R.S.A. Secretary), and I had an informal meeting to plan the St. Patrick's Day Party.

Q: Is it true that many "outsiders" did not pay for food and drinks?

A: I was unable to attend the party. The other officers were cooking and couldn't always be watching who was coming. When they recognized "outsiders" they asked them to either pay $2.00 or leave. They did the best job they could to chase outsiders away. I pay an activity fee like every other Nova College Day Division student, and I, just as much as they, don't want our money to be spent on people who haven't contributed.

Q: What's happening with the R.S.A. budget?

A: Mitch Taylor (former S.G.A. treasurer) asked me to submit a budget at the beginning of the year. When I questioned Eddie Artau (S.G.A. President) he said I didn't have to submit a budget yet. All R.S.A. receipts have been kept. I have receipts for every penny the R.S.A. has spent, and photocopies of these receipts were submitted to the comptroller and to Mr. Hansley. The S.G.A. appropriated $1000 this year for the R.S.A.. We discussed the budget with Kim Reis (R.S.A. treasurer) at several meetings. She was aware of how much money the S.G.A. had given us. I also want a separate account for the R.S.A. instead of our money coming from the S.G.A. account as it does now. Last year's unspent R.S.A. money reverted back to the S.G.A. account. It wasn't available to the R.S.A. for this year. We asked for a separate account so that the money that is not spent this year will go to the R.S.A. next year.

Q: What happened with the ad contract with the Nebulae?

A: I signed an ad contract with copy and payment due on February 12, 1985. Bonnie (Editor of the Nebulae) wasn't in class on the due date, and I didn't see her for a few days after. I wasn't going to hunt her down to give her the ad copy and the money. I assumed it didn't make the deadline when I didn't see her that week. Then one week later she came and said she'd start grievance proceedings accusing me of breaching the contract.

- Q: Why didn't you or anyone else represent the R.S.A. at Student Union meetings?
- A: I was unable to attend the last meeting so I asked another R.S.A. officer to go. That officer, however, never showed up at the meeting. I was only aware of one other Student Union meeting, but I had worked the night before and I overslept.
- Q: A meeting was held to discuss plans for creating a Student Social Center. Eddie Artau (S.G.A. President) called to inform you about the meeting. Why didn't you go?
- A: I have been working with Mr. Dan Sullivan and Dr. Ken Rose on a Resident Student Lounge. This lounge will be located behind the student apartments, adjacent to the patio. We are now calling an architect to work on the plans.
- Q: Is there anything else you would like to comment on?
- A: Yes. A lot of things in last week's article, (R.S.A.: A Big Fiasco) give the impression that the R.S.A. doesn't have its act together, but that's not true. Furthermore, a suggestion box has been in Mimi Steven's office since November. There has been a notice on the bulletin board next to the elevators in Building D since that time, telling residents that there is a suggestion box and where it is located. So far we haven't received one suggestion. To me, this means that the students are happy with what we are doing.

This article is to inform you of a serious situation which currently threatens the health of Florida's young people. The situation involves four major college outbreaks of measles outside Florida and one widespead epidemic of measles within Florida.

The College outbreaks are occurring in Ohio, Massachusetts, Michigan, and Illinois. Cases from these outbreaks have already spread to other states. During the upcoming spring break and Easter vacation period, we can expect large numbers of students from these (and other) campuses to visit Florida's many beaches and tourist attractions. We cannot predict with any certainty the chances that measles may spread to our students or our community within the next month, but we can tell you that measles epidemics are life-threatening, expensive, time-consuming, and disruptive to campus life. They are also PREVENTABLE.

Your plan of action should include the following steps:

1. Check with your parents. Did you receive a measles vaccination or did you ever have the measles.
2. If you are not immunized, please have this procedure completed during spring break.
3. If you are not going home during spring break and you have not been immunized please contact Dan Sullivan (P-247) as soon as possible. We will make arrangements with the local County Public Health Unit to have our students vaccinated.

ON CAMPUS BOOKSTORE

It is time to delve once more into a matter which has been the discussion of a few past Hartsheets; the establishment of an on-campus bookstore. Almost every college in the United States is fortunate enough to have an on-campus bookstore. An on-campus bookstore is a fine asset to any school and if we had one on campus it would cater efficiently Nova students (undergraduate, career, and graduate).

Such a bookstore would have working hours that would give every possible customer (student) a chance to buy goods. Product selection would be extended to maximize sales. Extended selection would include more study guide materials, gifts (Nova bookbags, keychains, sweatshirts etc.), and possibly dry goods available for resident students. Book prices and return policies would not reflect the greed of the business man but rather the needs of the students, the professors, and the business man. The relationship between the bookstore and it's only custommer (the university) would undoubtedly be one of great benefits.

The enclosed questionnaire will let us know if you are happy with our present bookstore or if you would enjoy an on-campus bookstore. Please drop this questionnaire in the envelope next to the student lounge entrance.

* A BIG JOB ****

After two issues of harassment the President answered the call of the students' need for publicity. The event calendar is now posted in the hallway next to the SGA office. Since March is half over the calendar is only in print but next month will be posted in it's grand computerized form. Hopefully the calendar will hold important dates for all the clubs (take note RSA, Nisa, etc.). One small calendar for students, one large step for a Campus Life.

Sports

N.C.A.A.

It's that time of the year again: the best in collegiate basketball get together to show their "stuff". In the words of Al McGuire and Brent Musburger "It is prime time" or "It is money time". This year, Georgetown should verify its title as N.C.A.A. champions.

The last time any school performed this feat was in 1973 (UCLA Bruins led by Bill Walton). Georgetown should win. They play a complete game, their defense is one of the best in the nation (limiting opponents to 30.9% in field goals) and they have a most domineering player--Patrick Ewing.

What about St. Johns, Oklahoma, Memphis State, or Kentucky and North Carolina. Kentucky and North Carolina lost some good players last year. The only reason they have come this far is because of excellent coaching. (coaches Joe B. Hall and Dean Smith).

Oklahoma is playing well behind Wayman Tisdale and should emerge as the Midwest champions. Their only obstacle are the Tigers of Memphis State led by Keith Lee. Keith Lee, however, gets in foul trouble, so the odds go with Oklahoma.

In the West, St. John's should be the winners. The Red men are spurred by the playmaking of Chris Mullin.

Therefore, the final four should read; Georgetown vs. St. John's, Oklahoma vs. Maryland. St. John's doesn't have a "prayer" against the almighty Hoyas and will lose on Saturday. (Pick Oklahoma against Maryland).

In the championship game, Georgetown is the team to beat. The odds are simply Mahvelous (get it, not marvelous). And then again, we could end up with a surprise. Who could ever forget the North Carolina State team of 1983.

Dear Editor,

I liked the quote by Guido-in-Zanzibar and it reminded me of some dumb "meditations" I've seen in books and "stress-reduction" articles. They usually start with, "If I were just out of college" or "If I had to do it all over again" or (most incoherent of all) "If I could relive my life." These articles usually end with "I would stop to smell flowers along the road" and "I would spend more time with friends." These declarations don't help the person who finds himself stuck in this rite of passage called college. In order to do something, you've got to give up something, so do us the favor of telling us what in your wisdom is not worth doing--be like Socrates' DREMON and tell us what NOT to do.

*Just once, could some famous person please admit:
"...I would clean house less often so I could watch more movies"?*

Your friend, J. Alavenir

Yes, it was an amusing joke. I've gone insane trying to find these diskettes and my film journal. Now I want to reward you, the clever thief, with lunch at the restaurant of your choice. Crime doesn't pay but practical jokes can feed you. If you have these items please return them to the receptionist's desk (Parker 2nd floor).
