DOCTOR OF SCIENCE DEGREE IN INTERNATIONAL ECONOMICS AND FINANCE

THIS PROGRAM

- Serves both those who intend to pursue a career in international investment and finance, and those who intend to work in government in international trade policy or economic planning and industrialization;
- Enables the student to hold full-time employment while attending the program and completing the coursework requirements in two years.
- Provides corporate executives the needed training to do business effectively on a global level.

PROGRAM PHILOSOPHY

The International Doctoral programs providing a comprehensive curriculum in government and international business, focus on the professional development needs of governmental and/or business leaders involved in international investment, trade policies, economic development, monetary systems, and organizations.

PROGRAM SCHEDULE

The International Doctoral programs may be attended in two distinct formats or in a combination of two formats. An intensive mode with classes scheduled for five days every second month permits a student to complete all coursework in two years. An alternative mode, with classes meeting one weekend per month with one full-week seminar yearly, also permits the student to complete the coursework in two years. Generally, students do not write their dissertations until after they have completed all coursework and passed the required comprehensive exam.

PROGRAM ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

1. A master's degree from an accredited college or university
 - * 2. Three letters of reference, either academic or professional
 3. A resumé detailing previous and present employment
 - * 4. Submission of official transcripts from all previous institutions
 5. A genuine intellectual capacity and motivation to pursue graduate work as determined by credentials, interview, written essay, or review of publications or research proposals by the applicant
 - * 6. Satisfaction of graduate prerequisite course work
 7. Proficiency in the English language, for foreign students, is required
 - * 8. Submission of a test score from the Graduate Management Admission Test (GMAT) or the Graduate Record Examination (GRE)
- * Students who lack any of the requirements for admission to the program may be granted provisional acceptance, with the understanding that full acceptance is dependent upon completion of all admission requirements. Professional experience in both government and international organizations can carry considerable weight for applicants.
