

1-1-2009

Threads

Niala Sharma
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Sharma, Niala (2009) "Threads," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 6 , Article 13.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol6/iss1/13>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Threads

Niala Sharma

Sparkling reflections Created by mirrors
Adorn my traditional wear; Golden sequins meander
Stealthily pacing along the hemline Sitting, only striving to enter.
There are many onlookers who curiously find this sort of attire strangely appealing.
Something invokes A feeling of unfamiliarity and unknowingness All at the same time
 Only made possible by what one has heard
 Or witnessed on their own travels abroad.
 The earth-tone thread reminds one of the
 Mud-covered road that's been traversed
 By the constant flurry of townsfolk and
 Not to mention four-legged pedestrians.
 A lifestyle so different from the fast-paced
Timely hemisphere in which these foreigners
Participate in a routine, mechanical oblivion.
But we are not so different after all. We both
Strive for the same goals in our existence.
Unknowingly, we both don the same threads.