

1-1-2009

Solace for an Angel

Daniel King
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Poetry Commons

---

Recommended Citation

King, Daniel (2009) "Solace for an Angel," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 6 , Article 25.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol6/iss1/25>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Solace for an Angel

Daniel King

Sometimes you wonder just what you're made of
It seems like you're the last who believes in true love
You walk the same world but you never belong
You dream like a child after childhood's gone

Maybe they're afraid and so nobody dares
But deep down inside you fear nobody cares
Is everyone empty? Is everyone dead?
Is that why the meek suffer and the cruel get ahead?

You ask for a purpose, you long for an aim
Anything to keep tomorrow from being the same
The same waking dream where nothing makes sense
Nothing is worth doing, nothing merits defense

And you feel like a ghost because no one can see you
And you feel like a monster because no one can free you
But to me you're an angel like any above you
Our hearts beat the same and I'll always love you

So if it's a struggle just to hold on to your mind
I hope in these words a little solace you'll find
I've only survived here because long have I known
We may be outnumbered but we're never alone