

1-1-2010

Where I Am

Stefani Rubino

Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Rubino, Stefani (2010) "Where I Am," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 7 , Article 21.

Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol7/iss1/21>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Where I Am

Stefani Rubino

sitting alone in an empty newsroom helped me realize that there is no place for people like us anymore, people who care about the well-being of other people,
people who care about the well-being
of other animals, people who are trying to save this planet from complete destruction. our observations and empathetic intuitions have been replaced by numbers and machinery, spitting out results and statistics that are easily digested by the minds of scientists and social workers. after all, numbers printed on a clean white page with sharp black ink are much more appealing than the reality of suffering and irreversible damage.