

5-1-2013

The Price of Being Different

Emily Kopas

Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Fine Arts Commons

Recommended Citation

Kopas, Emily (2013) "The Price of Being Different," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 19 , Article 24.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol19/iss1/24

This artwork is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Discrimination by Miranda Tavgian

We are hated.
We are lesser.
We are black.

Though colors and creation are considered art,
We are seen through darkness without a matching heart.
To others we are inferior.
Forever and unchanging,
To us there will always be a superior.

We are the top.
We are the best.
We are white.

Without fail, we are the greatest,
To all and for forever.
Our domination is to fall at a point seen never.
Through pain and sorrow we take our power,
And our control is as steady as the May showers.

We are pain.
We are dirtied.

We are as far as I can see,
less than the greatness we hope to be.
Never perfect, nor flawless, nor kind.
Our pain and pain of others takes domination
and discrimination of our alike mind.

We are cruel.
We are hatred.
We are people.

Sculpture: The Price of Being Different by Emily Kopas