In Native American culture knowledge is often shared through oral tradition telling stories as a teaching tool. Robert Frost said that;

“I am not a teacher; I am an awakener.”

Teaching is indeed visible in all forms and in this issue contributors share their insights, wisdom, artwork and reflections on this potent theme.

“True teaching is always an epiphany: sometimes a clap of thunder...but often only a whisper easily missed.”

I hope that this issue is inspiring and motivating!

Special Thanks to Dean Wallace, Pat Gateley, Bebe Chang, Gena Meroth and all the contributors!
