FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF EDUCATION

Nova Southeastern University's Graduate Teacher Education Program (GTEP) offers an array of majors in teacher education and school administration, providing opportunities for the working professional to earn master's and educational specialist degrees.

The curriculum is designed to enable teachers to add certification areas and endorsements, renew current certification areas, and increase their levels of expertise within their fields. Through its Initial Certification Plan, GTEP provides opportunities for persons with bachelor's degrees in other fields to enter teaching.

The focus in all programs is on growth in professional practice, application of current research and theory to the students' professional work, acquisition and enhancement of leadership capacities, and the achievement of career objectives.

The Graduate Teacher Education Program offers persons with bachelor's or graduate degrees four types of opportunities to meet their educational goals. All four options share a common instructional system and mission, but are designed to meet different needs.

M.S. and Ed.S. Majors in Education

Designed for persons who already have a bachelor's or graduate degree in education and who wish to obtain a graduate degree, add certification areas, or increase their level of expertise in their current field.

Educational Leadership

Designed for experienced, certified teachers who wish to obtain a graduate degree and/or gain their initial administrative credential.

Initial Certification Plan

Designed for persons with bachelor's degrees in fields other than education who wish to gain a graduate degree and initial certification in teaching.

Endorsement and Certification Renewal Options

Designed for persons who do not seek a degree but wish to take courses to add a certification area, renew their certification, or take individual courses for professional development.

Accreditation

Nova Southeastern University is accredited by the Commission on Colleges of the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (1866 Southern Lane, Decatur, Georgia 30033-4097; Telephone number 404-679-4501) to award bachelor's, master's, educational specialist, and doctoral degrees.

Notice of Nondiscrimination

Nova Southeastern University admits students of any race, color, sex, age, nondisqualifying disability, religion or creed, or national or ethnic origin to all the rights, privileges, programs, and activities generally accorded or made available to students at the school, and does not discriminate in administration of its educational policies, admissions policies, scholarship and loan programs, and athletic and other school-administered programs.

Nova Southeastern University

Nova Southeastern University is an independent, nonsectarian, nonprofit university chartered by the State of Florida in 1964. It is located on a 232-acre Main Campus west of Fort Lauderdale, as well as three other campuses in the South Florida area. NSU is licensed to operate in 30 of the 50 states and is alma mater to more than 54,000 graduates. With more than 15,000 students studying in South Florida, across the country and around the world, NSU offers more than 100 degrees ranging from education to medicine, law, oceanography, psychology, dentistry, optometry, health professions, liberal arts, and others.

Fischler Center for the Advancement of Education

The Fischler Center for the Advancement of Education is the University's graduate school of education. It is the largest in the country, with more than 7,500 students at master's, educational specialist and/or doctoral levels. In addition to the Graduate Teacher Education Program, the Center offers degree programs in educational leadership, higher education, instructional technology and distance education, child and youth studies, communication sciences and disorders, addiction studies, elder care administration and others. With a full-time faculty of more than 60 and support staff and administration of more than 150, the Center is housed in its own four-building, 18-acre campus in North Miami Beach, Florida.
