We Weren't Love

Author Bio

I just recieved the good news that I've been accepted into an MFA program in creative writing!

“We were 2 o’clock mornings drowned in alcohol.
We were slurred vibrations.
We were lips that articulated the words I love you.
But our vocal chords wouldn’t dare project the sound.

We weren’t love.
We were eyes that exchanged smoky glances across the room saying baby I can’t wait to get you all alone.
We were sweat soaked bed sheets.
We were that was so good I can’t even speak.

But we weren’t love.
We were screams of I hate you, look what you’ve done to me;
Look at what you have done to me.
We were echoes of get your hands off of me.
We were nights spent alone while in each other’s company.
We were repeated mistakes and apologies.
We were I’m sorry baby please don’t leave me because tomorrow I know you’re going to leave me and I am tired of waiting.

We weren’t love.
We were missed communications.
We are speaking in two different languages.
Do you understand me?
No.
We weren’t love.
Nothing is that easy.”
