As Far As The Eye Can
See

D y m u n F e n g s h u i

Staring at the ocean make me question my significance
Waves are breaking hard, lately I've been on some different shit
Take the world in through my eyes, my brain just be twisting it Basquiat state of mind, wishing you could witness it.

They say life is real, I'm wondering if it is

Or if its just really.

really what we think it is

What if dreams are real life, and that is where we live

What if when we go, It doesn't really end

Abstract thoughts from an overactive mind

Like how'd I get this far

Like what is really time

Like what do I control

Like what is really mine

Like are these people real or am I just really blind
