

1-1-2015

Stuck in Freedom

Maheen Dhanani
Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions>

Part of the Poetry Commons

---

Recommended Citation

Dhanani, Maheen (2015) "Stuck in Freedom," Digressions Literary Magazine: Vol. 12 , Article 23.
Available at: <https://nsuworks.nova.edu/digressions/vol12/iss1/23>

This Poetry is brought to you for free and open access by the CAHSS Journals at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Digressions Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

---

Stuck in Freedom

Author Bio

To me, interests are something that you focus a lot on and use to try to improve yourself. My interests and my hobbies are very seasonal. Last year I was really into fashion designing and creating all sorts of abstract paintings. These days I'm focusing a lot on health, fitness and nutrition. I'm a biology major focusing on pre-medicine. I'm working towards becoming a doctor, but I have yet to figure out what kind of doctor I want to be. I have always admired the art of using language as a form of expression. I used to keep my poetry to myself, but now I feel more open about my opinions and am able to share it with everyone!

Stuck In Freedom

Maheen Dhanani

//////////////////////////////////// //////////////////////////////////////

The clouds that hover above,
Creating that unnecessary shade,
Secretly merge with the shadow,
Of the man that tries to exist.

Many might not fathom,
This pivotal concept in life;
When the man drowns in the rain,
The shadow remains dry.

The shadow you see,
Is what he is, it's him,
Just not encaged as a target,
That the clouds might objectify.

His thoughts are free
But his will is not
He waves through this journey
The shadow is his life.

He tries to flee,
To reach the sun,
Where the grass is green,
And the daffodils yellow