Nova Southeastern University is a dynamic, not-for-profit independent institution dedicated to providing high quality educational programs of distinction from pre-school through the professional and doctoral levels, as well as service to the community. Nova Southeastern University prepares students for lifelong learning and leadership roles in business and the professions. It offers academic programs at times convenient to students, employing innovative delivery systems and rich learning resources on campus and at distant sites. The University fosters inquiry, research, and creative professional activity, by uniting faculty and students in acquiring and applying knowledge in clinical, community, and professional settings.

Approved by the Board of Trustees, March 24, 1997
VISION

The Programs in Life Span Care and Administration advances the fields of education and caregiving throughout the lifespan. LSCA graduates outstanding practitioners and administrators who are leaders and mentors in their fields. LSCA enhances students’ skills, values, and professional identities. The programs and graduates constructively change society through their commitment, ethical standards, respect for others, and demand for quality care and education.

GOALS

* To provide innovative education and learning experiences in unique formats for professionals who work in specialized fields that have been overlooked and traditionally underserved.

* To demonstrate and develop leadership committed to bringing about constructive societal change.
President Ray Ferrero has been involved with Nova Southeastern University for many years, serving on the board of trustees since 1984, taking on the chairmanship in October of 1988 until September 1995 when he became vice chairman, a post he held until becoming President in January.

A distinguished lecturer, a tireless civic activist, a prominent trial attorney and a man devoted to his family, wife Raquel, daughter, Denise Rae and son Raymond Gregory, President Ferrero is a man with a vision for the future of NSU, grounded in the blueprint laid before him by founding President Abe Fischler.

A graduate of the University of Florida Law School, a past president of the Florida Bar, the Broward County Bar Association, the Academy of Florida Trial Lawyers and Broward County Trial Lawyers Association, state delegate to the American Bar Association and a past member of the Board of Governors of the Association of Trial Lawyers of America, President Ferrero has served his city, county, state and nation well.

Women in distress, Broward County Chapter, named President Ferrero Man of the Year in 1988, and his many awards include the John F. Kennedy Leadership Award and the President’s Award in 1976 from the Academy of Florida Trial Lawyers, presented to the lawyer who has made the most significant contribution to the cause of justice in the State of Florida during that year.

Most Recently, President Ferrero was selected as one of six South Floridians to receive the Silver Medallion Award from the National Conference of Christians and Jews.
As a master’s candidate at the Fischler Center for the Advancement of education, you are a member of a very select group of educators. Every day, each of you, as you move forward in leadership roles across the country, find innovative avenues to advance your individual community, clients and school through collaboration. The essence of Nova Southeastern University is collaboration at all levels and with diverse partners.

It is why we are today. NSU’s educational delivery system and practicums, by their very nature have always been reality based.

As President of your university, I welcome you to this Summer Instruction and invite you to visit our award winning 232 acre Davie campus as well as our North Miami Beach campus where the Fischler Center is headquartered.

I thank you for your role as an ambassador for NSU and in your natural role as a leader among your peers showcasing NSU’s many technological and traditional educational opportunities. Most importantly, you together with our growing international network of alumni are making a meaningful difference on the lives of individuals worldwide.
Dr. H. Wells Singleton is the Graduate Education Provost/Dean for the Fischler Graduate School of Education. Dr. Singleton comes to NSU from Ohio University, where he served as Dean of the College of Education. Prior to that, he served as Associate Dean of Teacher Education at the University of Wyoming.

He holds a B.A, in social studies from the University of Wyoming, a M.A. in American History from Southern Methodist University, and a Ph.D., in curriculum/administration from Stanford University.

While at Ohio University, Dr. Singleton was involved in several major technology initiatives linking urban and rural schools and College of Education. He participated in securing more than $5 million in grants supporting public education technology efforts.

Dr. Singleton is a nationally recognized leader in fostering partnerships involving higher education and public schools, which benefit children and families. As an advocate for children, Dr. Singleton has served on a number of commissions and panels.

"I am very excited to be associated with the Fischler Center for the Advancement of education at NSU," said Dr. Singleton. "The Graduate School of Education at NSU is one of the few enterprises with a mission related to applied research and a focus on practicing Professionals," said Dr. Singleton. "Given its strong reputation in distance learning, I consider it a privilege to work with such an excellent faculty and staff who are committed to applying new technologies to the teaching and learning process."
Your attendance at this year’s Summer Instruction in Fort Lauderdale has been long anticipated by the faculty and staff here at the University. As it must be for you, it is an exciting and emotional time for us because finally we will meet face to face! Though we have been in regular communication for the past number of months, this will be our first “live contact” since you entered the master’s degree program.

The focus for this year’s Summer Instruction will be on issues in public policy and the profession. The students in Applied Addiction Studies will focus on issues in family and group counseling. As is done each year, we will also celebrate the accomplishments and successes of our students, graduates, and faculty. We will explore the challenges and complexities involved in developing the necessary insight and leadership required to better educate and care for the other members of our respective communities. To enable us to better achieve these objectives, we have selected some of our outstanding graduates, leaders from our fields, and NSU faculty to share their expertise, knowledge, and visions.

While the emphasis of the instruction will be on the topics mentioned above, another clear program agenda will be to foster a greater understanding and appreciation of the various professional disciplines represented. Each of these program specializations make a significant and invaluable contribution to the welfare of the human life span.

As we evaluate the overall quality of education and care provided children, youth, families and the elderly in our world, it is clear that innovation and change are greatly needed. This change will not and cannot occur without competent leadership. The mission of this graduate degree program is to develop, mentor, and nurture such leadership.

To date, there have been more than 1000 program graduates. These individuals have continued to be very successful in making significant contributions to the welfare of society and to their communities.

The Summer Instruction provides a rare opportunity for sharing experiences and networking with people committed to societal improvement in the same way that you are. We encourage you to take advantage of this one-time experience.

You have information on each program participant, and provisions have been made for both formal and informal interaction. Make use of this time to enrich yourself by establishing contacts and friendships that will extend far beyond these short few days.

Much time and thought have been devoted to planning and designing these activities. It is our hope that you will find the presentations, classes, and discussions valuable and insightful.

Each of you has embarked on a pioneering road in your selection of this specialty of the Programs in Life Span Care and Administration and its nontraditional format of directed study. Your enrollment in these programs is an indication of your belief in the mission of Nova Southeastern University and your desire to create constructive change through proactive leadership and committed involvement.

Michael Forster, Ph.D.  The Profession and Public Policy in Family Support Studies

J. Kate Howze, Ed.D.  The Profession and Public Policy in Early Childhood Education Administration
Mark Krueger, Ph.D.  The Profession and Public Policy in Child and Youth Care Administration

Carmine Pecoraro, MS, CAP  Substance Abuse Counseling in Applied Addiction Studies (Group Theory and Practice)
Frank Pastizzo began his career in the seventies as a medic in the United States Air Force. He worked in Emergency Rooms on air force bases in England, Germany and in South Carolina. During his assignments overseas, he was selected to be part of a traveling entertainment troupe, and he toured with the European “Tops in Blue” Showcase as a comedian and musician.

Following his military service, Frank studied Theatre Arts, Speech Communication and Education at the University of Maine. He acted in over thirty University productions, and directed a play during his student teaching that received honors in the Maine State Drama Festival in 1986. In 1987 he accepted a teaching position with the Department of Defense Dependent Schools in Cambridgeshire, England. During the summer months he continued acting in professional productions in London and at the annual Theatre Festival in Edinburgh, Scotland. Two of his original plays were produced by his students and won first place in three international festivals.

As an English and Drama teacher, Frank became very involved with exceptional children and realized the importance of The Arts as a vehicle for expressive communication. He returned to the U.S.A. in 1990 and began working with United Helpers as a Program Manager and QMRP, and recently was appointed Coordinator of Communication with an emphasis on community education and outreach. Through his humor and music, he has developed many meaningful relationships with those he works for. Frank has given presentations throughout New York State including Keynote Addresses at Direct Care conferences in Fishkill and Keuka Lake. He is a regular columnist for the Crystal Run Village CURRENTS newspaper, and his column has been reprinted in other statewide publications. Frank has been invited to speak at the Annual NYSACRA conference at Lake George for the past four years, including a feature session this year and his presentations are more in more in demand. A few years ago at The Sullivan County Consortium for Human Services Education, the following was written about Frank: “Through his music and large doses of laughter, Frank writes the prescription for compassionate communication. Frank has the ability to weave through the hearts and minds of people so we may discover the similarities within ourselves.” During his personal time he continues to perform professionally as a storyteller/comedian and is a house comedian at The Mirror Lake Inn in Lake Placid. His latest script is currently being marketed as a screenplay in Los Angeles.
DISTINGUISHED GUEST LECTURER: PROFESSIONAL ISSUES IN LEADERSHIP

Jethro Toomer, Ph.D.

Dr. Toomer is Professor and Director of the Graduate Program in Community Mental Health Counseling at Florida International University, Miami, Florida. He also maintains a private practice in forensic psychology. Dr. Toomer received his Ph.D. from Temple University, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania and completed a post doctoral clinical internship at the Moss Rehabilitation Center of Albert Einstein Hospital, Philadelphia.

He is a Diplomate of the American Board of professional Psychology and the American Board of Forensic Examiners. He frequently serves as a psychological consultant to corporations, law forms, governmental agencies, throughout the United States, the Carribean and South America. On regular basis he consults with firms in Dade County and throughout the United States in jury selection (criminal and civil) in state and federal courts; conducts psychological evaluation of clients, provides expert witness testimony; consults with attorneys in capital collateral proceedings and regarding psychological aspects of litigation strategy and clemency appeals.

He has authored and co-authored numerous papers, articles, and monographs in the area of intergroup relations, management and organizational leadership, and cross-cultural counseling and psychotherapy, his major research interest. His most recent publication is Appreciating Difference: Readings in the Psychology of Cultural Diversity, published by Ginn Press, Lexington, Massachusetts.

Dr. Toomer serves as a member of the editorial board of the Educational and Psychological Research Journal and ad hoc reviewer of the journal of Personality and Social Psychology.
