

5-1-2001

Sisters

Danielle Rubin
NSU University School

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Rubin, Danielle (2001) "Sisters," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 8 , Article 35.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol8/iss1/35

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Sisters

Danielle Rubin

We left our home for a land of nothing we had known,
All that was familiar is now useless.
We struggle to find ourselves, one another, God.
We each travel down a different path and experience different joys and sorrows.
Murder, death, deceit, and disease plague our lives.
With each day another lesson is learned,
We must move towards the light.
Months pass on; we lose track of time,
Mind and soul intertwine.
Years later we separate; our past now leads to different futures.
Marriage, birth, education, and growth come with hope.
The roots we have still hold strong, even as our time apart grows long.
Looking back on a life passed, I see a family of sisters.
How the time went by so fast!