

5-1-2001

Little White Lies

Lindsay Dreyer
NSU University School

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Dreyer, Lindsay (2001) "Little White Lies," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 8 , Article 87.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol8/iss1/87

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Little White Lies

Lindsay Dreyer

I am sick and tired of your little white lies.
The ideas you invent and the false accusations you make
Are not enough to sway the truth.
You have started a war right here in this room.

I am sick and tired of your little white lies.
No one sitting over there will believe what you say.
No matter how long you ramble this nonsense,
They will see right through your glittering façade.

I am sick and tired of your little white lies.
My client has done nothing wrong in the eyes of the law.
Who are you to point your finger at an innocent person?
Your accusations only benefit your selfish desires.

I am sick and tired of your little white lies.
When I present the facts, the truth,
Your fabrications will seem as though they were only a dream.
And the truth, once again, will bring us justice.