

5-1-2002

The Falling Leaf

Michael Waller
NSU University School

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Waller, Michael (2002) "The Falling Leaf," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 9 , Article 15.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol9/iss1/15

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

The Falling Leaf

Michael Waller

The leaf's journey is unpredictable,
Slowly its union with the tree is weakened
And it begins to descend toward the distant ground.

It falls at an extremely rapid pace,
Yet it looks as if it weren't moving at all.
It sways from side to side, with elusive movements.
It's almost impossible to pinpoint its exact location.

While the leaf's path is unknown
Hope is still alive.
The excitement of the leaf's voyage
motivates,
Its mysterious elements capture the complete attention of all.

Even though the leaf leads in many directions,
It can end in only one place.
The leaf makes its final attempts to fight,
But it cannot avoid the inevitable.
The ground is the final stop.