

5-1-2002

Juggling

Stephanie Saltzman
NSU University School

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag

Part of the Poetry Commons

Recommended Citation

Saltzman, Stephanie (2002) "Juggling," Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine: Vol. 9 , Article 56.
Available at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/uschool_litmag/vol9/iss1/56

This Poem is brought to you for free and open access by the University School at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in Hieroglyphics: the NSU University School Literary Magazine by an authorized editor of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.

Juggling

Stephanie Saltzman

Pick-up the pace; you're going too slow
In this rushed world we run to and fro
But we must look to those who have harmony and grace

Their world is like a juggling act that they embrace

They throw glass balls into the air
Ones that can't easily be repaired
Representing work, family, friends, and spirit
The juggler is careful not to drop them
For they can chip or shatter into pieces Yet the juggling act continues and never ceases.

Follow the examples set by those who are skillful

Amid the rocks and boulders of life
And realize that life is a journey over a rugged path

And through it all your juggling of balls must last

Keep them close

For they can be a source of strength and pride
And never cast them aside

Work, family, friends, and spirit