Abstract

Most law students don't want to get romantically involved with other law students.

Most law students don't want to get romantically involved with other law students. After studying law all day, who wants to talk it all night? But during third year, a friend began dating a particularly intense classmate.

"How can you spend time with her?" I asked. "All she talks about is contracts, torts and criminal procedure."

"That's the idea," he said. "It's a great bar review."
