The Importance of Family

Maggie New

Family.

Family is your headstart in life.
People put on earth to guide you,
Support you, reward you, console you,
Provide for you and cry with you.
Family is having people who will always be
there for you,
And want nothing more than to care for you.

Family.

Some moments are sad and full of disdain,
But they will never last,
Because truth and love always shine through.
Families differ only in the way that they love
each other,
And nothing can break the bonds of family.
Without a family, life would be cold and lack the gift of love.

Family.

Though life may get bad at times,
You can be certain that things will always be right in the end
Because to have a family is to be loved;
To be loved is to be happy, and happiness is the key to life.
