Nova University is a blend of the conventional as well as the non-traditional— an institution positioned to provide education utilizing modern technology—a university ready for the 21st century.

Our Law Center, well into its second decade, has made great strides. Fully accredited by the American Bar Association and by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, it stresses teaching as well as research and community service. Nova is proud of the accomplishments of its Law Center, of the dedication of its faculty, and of the contributions its graduates are making in all fields associated with the law.

ABRAHAM S. FISCHLER
President
LETTER FROM THE DEAN

We welcome your interest in Nova Law Center. The men and women of the Nova community invite you to consider joining us to study law. We think the education offered at Nova is unique, and we are quite proud of our school. Unlike most law schools, our first year students are introduced to the law in smaller sections for all of their courses. The faculty is young, energetic and available when you need them. These dedicated classroom teachers are interested in your progress. We have fostered a supportive environment at the school where there is a genuine spirit of community and mutual respect. This spirit of Nova makes the Law Center a special place to prepare for your career.

As this catalog shows, our curriculum at Nova is rich in courses designed to train future lawyers in both the substance and the practice of law. The Center's strong clinical programs are quite well regarded. The numerous second and third year elective courses present students with broad choices for intensive study in specialized fields or comprehensive preparation for a general practice.

The three years you will spend at Nova will be intellectually demanding and exciting. It will also be a time of personal growth and professional development, a time to form friendships with fellow students and the faculty. You will find a diverse student body at Nova. Many of our students are embarking on a second career, while others are proceeding to law school directly from college.

We encourage you to visit our campus in Fort Lauderdale to meet with our students and faculty and perhaps visit a class or two. Many who come to visit from other parts of the country decide that South Florida presents the ideal climate for the study and practice of law.

I am convinced that Nova offers its students an excellent professional education. Graduates of our school are well prepared to practice with firms or government agencies in Florida or anywhere in the country. We challenge you to fulfill your aspirations at Nova Law Center.

Cordially,

ROGER I. ABRAMS
Dean
Nova University opened in 1964 as a graduate school. Today the University, which is chartered by the State of Florida and accredited by The Commission on Colleges and the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, consists of six graduate centers, an undergraduate program, a University laboratory school, and a specially designed family center.

In 1974 Nova University established the Nova University Center for the Study of Law. The Law Center is fully accredited by the American Bar Association. This accreditation qualifies any graduate to take the bar examination in any of the fifty states, if residency and character requirements are met.

Today the Law Center has thirty-three faculty members and approximately 685 students. With a curriculum and viewpoint that is national in scope, the Law Center draws students from all over the country. Many alumni have elected to stay in the South Florida area and, although the charter class graduated only nine years ago, they have made an impact on the legal community. Several serve as judges and city commissioners, while others have excelled in the practice of law and related endeavors.
Initially, the Law Center was located on the University's 200 acre campus in Davie, Florida. In 1979, the Law Center moved to its own campus a few minutes away from federal, state, and local courts near downtown Fort Lauderdale. This ten acre campus includes the Leo Goodwin, Sr., Law Building which consists of a five-story tower and a library wing. Immediately across a private street from the Goodwin Building are several additional Law Center buildings. These house the bookstore, cafeteria, dormitory space, clinic offices, student organization offices, and the law review office with its library.

The Leo Goodwin, Sr., Law Building houses faculty, admissions, financial aid, placement and administrative offices, as well as classrooms, lounges, lockers and the library administrative offices. A courtroom complex located here is used for both degree-related activities and continuing legal education for practicing attorneys. In addition, it has been used by appellate and circuit courts, as well as for administrative hearings and labor arbitration panels. A computer lab, also located in this building, has IBM PC computers available for student use. All students are invited to learn how to operate these personal computers.

The Law Library currently has more than 250,000 volume equivalents and contains the materials required for legal study and research: English, American, and state court reports and statutes, administrative rulings, legal encyclopedias, periodicals, treatises, and looseleaf services. In addition to this basic collection, the library includes extensive materials in the areas of taxation, land use planning and international law. It is one of the few collections designated as a depository for United Nations documents. The Law Center is also designated as a state legal depository and United States Government documents depository.

The library is open in excess of one hundred hours per week. It is administered by a highly skilled staff, composed of professional law librarians, library technicians, and clerical employees who provide a wide variety of services to aid the faculty, students, and practicing attorneys in their research.

Many teaching aids are also available at the Law Center, including a complete videotaping service to aid in the preparation of appellate and trial presentations, a battery of audio and visual classroom aids, and tape cassettes to provide students with legal education of the highest quality possible. Computer assisted research through LEXIS, NEXIS, WESTLAW, DIALOG, ELSS, and Prentice-Hall's On-Line Tax Service as well as computer assisted instruction terminals are a few of the new technological advances available in the library.
STUDYING LAW AT THE NOVA UNIVERSITY LAW CENTER

COURSE OF STUDY

The first year of study at Nova University Law Center is designed to build the basic foundation of legal skills which students will need as lawyers. In view of this fact, the faculty and administration at Nova Law Center have made a commitment to keep first-year classes smaller than those of most of the law schools in the United States, limiting their size to approximately 45 students. The core courses of contracts, property, and torts contain the basic concepts which subsequent courses and experience will refine and embellish. The structure and powers of the courts form the basis of the procedure course, while the courses in criminal law and constitutional law expose the students to both public and private law concepts. Application of these concepts in a practical setting is the focus of the research and writing component, which culminates in a mock appellate argument. All first-year courses are prescribed and must be taken by all first-year students.

Students in their second year, with the advice of a faculty advisor, develop a course of study to suit their own special needs and interests. Corporations, sales, criminal procedure, evidence, federal income tax, and wills and trusts are courses which the faculty feel are basic to other courses and should be taken at this time. Beyond these courses, students can select from a large variety of elective course offerings.

During the third year the only required course is professional responsibility. Students, if they so choose, can leave the rarified academic atmosphere and enter the world of the practitioner by taking courses such as civil or criminal clinical internship, judicial administration clerkship, advanced advocacy, or trial practice. These courses provide real life experiences in a controlled legal environment. Trial advocacy, a course in which students conduct simulated trials, is one which is immediately relevant to the practice of law. Students can also do independent research to expand their horizons in areas of special interest through the in-depth analysis of a specific legal issue. At the same time, freedom to select courses appealing to individual interests is virtually absolute, and students can explore interests in the highly theoretical world of jurisprudence or the more practical area of estate planning.

All students are required to write a major research paper prior to graduation from the Law Center. Students may fulfill this requirement with a paper written for a seminar or the law review, or they may pursue advanced research under the guidance of a member of the faculty.

TEACHING METHODS

Effective legal instruction instills in students the ability to collect facts, to sense patterns running through the data gathered and--by analyzing this material--to arrive at logical conclusions and solutions. At Nova Law Center, a blend of traditional and nontraditional methods of instruction offers the best opportunity to achieve that goal. No single method predominates at the Law Center, for each has its unique place in the development of an effective attorney.

Case analysis through the Socratic method of intense questioning of the students by the professors enables students to...
In trial advocacy courses, students conduct simulated trials while being video-taped.

In trial advocacy courses, students conduct simulated trials while being video-taped. They scrutinize rigorously both the decision-making process and their own powers of analysis. At the same time, they gain both poise and ability to reach reasoned conclusions rapidly under pressures that parallel those of the courtroom.

The problem method requires students to develop legal principles by coping with situations which might occur in practice. This classroom exercise forms the basis for actual practical experience in a later clinical setting.

In clinical classes, students have the opportunity to represent clients in state courts under the careful supervision and guidance of faculty members and the practicing bar. The process of understanding the basic concepts learned in class merges with the excitement of practical experience through dealing with problems based on actual cases.

Certain courses, such as pretrial practice and trial advocacy, are designed to teach a specific aspect of the lawyering process. In courses such as these, professors use simulation exercises and video-tape students during these simulations.

Common to all these methods is an emphasis on training students in legal reasoning and on the function of law in society with the attendant pressures that the political, economic, and sociological processes have on that function. In addition, throughout the entire educational process, professors underscore the ethical responsibilities of attorneys and the need for them to maintain the highest professional and personal standards.

SPECIAL PROGRAMS

Nova Law Center offers several special programs and courses which contribute to its unique character. These programs give students the opportunity to make court appearances, to publish articles written by legal professionals and students in the Nova Law Journal, to engage in moot court competitions and to work for judges and legislators. These programs especially add to the classroom study of law by giving students the opportunity to develop their skills and utilize the knowledge they have acquired.

CLINICAL PROGRAM

For students who wish to gain practical experience, the Law Center offers several clinical experiences. The Criminal Clinic is open to third year students who are certified by the Florida Supreme Court to appear in court and work at either the Public Defender’s or State Attorney’s Office. Most of the students work in Broward, Dade and Palm Beach counties, but occasionally some are placed further away. These students work on actual cases under the supervision of a staff attorney and attend a class to learn specific skills or crime training, as well as to meet and learn from experienced criminal litigators.

The Civil Clinic is comprised of two distinct components—an in-house clinic and an extern program. Similar to the Criminal Clinic, the Florida Supreme Court certifies students to work on cases referred to the Nova Clinic by Legal Aid Services of Broward County, Inc. This clinic has its own suite of offices on the campus and students conduct client interviews here. The extern component involves placing students in publicly funded offices, particularly Legal Aid Services of Broward County, Inc. Here they work under the supervision of staff attorneys and meet weekly with the Nova Clinic Director.

HANDICAPPED RIGHTS PROJECT

During the 1986-1987 academic year, the Law Center began a Handicapped Rights Project funded, in part, by a grant from the Florida Bar Foundation. The goals of this project are to develop a program which will provide legal and other assistance to handicapped individuals, to educate law students concerning the rights of the physically challenged and mentally impaired, to sensitize students to the needs and problems of individuals who are physically challenged and mentally impaired, to develop skilled advocates to protect and enforce the rights of the handicapped, to introduce law students to the responsibility of the Bar to provide quality pro bono services, and to develop in students an appreciation of a lawyer’s obligation to provide such services.

To accomplish these goals, we have started a program in which students may receive compensation for working with agencies serving the needs of handicapped individuals. The purpose of this phase of the program is to introduce students to the day-to-day problems facing the handicapped. Students interested in studying legal issues confronting the physically challenged and mentally impaired may enroll in courses discussing these issues. These offerings include such courses as The Legal Rights of the Handicapped and Prisoners’ and Patients’ Rights.

Finally, students enrolled in the Civil Clinic will have the opportunity to handle actual legal problems confronting physically challenged and/or mentally impaired individuals.

JUDICIAL ADMINISTRATION

Judicial Administration is a course which offers students the opportunity to work for a local judge and earn credit at the same time. Students keep a log of the work they are doing, as well as copies of all written work which they have submitted to the judge for whom they are working. There is also a one hour classroom component to this course. This course gives students a chance to view the courtroom experience from a different perspective.

LEGISLATIVE INTERNSHIP PROGRAM

This program, which includes a classroom component, offers students yet another perspective of the legal process. Students enrolled in this program are assigned to work in the local offices of South Florida state legislators for at least ten hours per week. Here they do research for the state legislator. One of the highlights of this course is a trip to Tallahassee to observe the Florida legislature in action.

MOOT COURT

Students interested in developing skills in appellate advocacy may obtain credit for participating in Moot Court competitions. Students participating in these competitions prepare appellate briefs and present oral arguments before a mock tribunal. In addition to intramural competitions, students regularly compete against law students from other schools. These competitions are sponsored by regional and national organizations such as the Florida Bar and the American Bar Association. The Moot Court Society, a student organization, helps coordinate these activities.

NOVA LAW JOURNAL

The Nova Law Journal, which is published three times a year, is produced by law students. The Journal staff is selected from the top 15% of the first year class, or through a writing competition following the first and second years. The Board of the Law Journal is selected by their predecessors.

In the past, leading jurists, academicians, practicing attorneys, and Nova faculty members have contributed articles. Students on the staff edit these articles and check for accuracy of footnotes. They also write brief casenotes and comments. The Nova Law Journal gives students an opportunity to gain in-depth knowledge of a particular subject and to develop proficiency in research and writing skills.

STREET LAW

Street Law is a program in which law students teach basic legal concepts to area high school students in conjunction with their social studies teachers. In the past, Nova Law students have also helped the high school students to conduct mock trials. Law students attend a weekly seminar at the Law Center and teach three hours per week in the high school classrooms.

TRIAL ADVOCACY PROGRAM

One of Nova Law Center's most popular programs is that of trial advocacy. The main materials for the trial advocacy course consist of a series of case files designed to simulate the material which a practicing attorney would have on the eve of trial. During the course of the semester, students work on the skills necessary to conduct a trial. These skills include making opening and closing statements, and conducting direct and cross-examination of witnesses. Students also work with several selected problems involving expert witnesses. In lieu of a final examination, students participate as one member of a two-student team in a simulated full length jury trial.

Nova Law Center also offers an intensive trial practice course. In Spring, 1982 Nova Law Center became the third school in the United States to offer a week long intensive skills practice course. This course is given during semester break and exposes students to the same basic material as the trial advocacy course. The student to teacher ratio for this course is eight to one and the teaching team is composed of professors, judges, and practicing attorneys. Many students describe this course as the most challenging and rewarding educational experience they have in three years of law school, particularly since it exposes them to the physical and emotional demands placed upon trial lawyers during a grueling trial.

Almost 200 students a year take one of these two courses, and because of the success of the program, an Advanced Trial Advocacy course will be offered in 1987. In addition, students have the opportunity to develop their trial skills by competing in a number of mock trial competitions. These competitions are sponsored by such diverse groups as the American Bar Association, the American Trial Lawyers Association, and the Florida Bar Association.

Administrative Law (3 credits). A study of the functioning of the administrative process at the federal level; the powers and procedures of administrative agencies and the methods and extent of judicial control over agency action. Graded.

Admiralty (3 credits). A inquiry into jurisdiction, the principles and problems of federalism in the area of maritime activities. Graded.

Advanced Research (1, 2, 3, or 4 credits). Research and production of a scholarly paper on a selected topic under the supervision of a faculty member. Graded.

Agency and Partnership (2 credits). Consideration and analysis of the basic forms of business association including agency and partnership. Graded.

American Legal History; History of the American Legal Profession (3 credits). A research seminar concerning the social and historical development of American lawyers as a professional group; growth of a Colonial bar; antilawyer sentiment in the new republic; the rise of professional organizations and a corporate bar; the structure of legal education; stability and crisis in the contemporary period. Graded.

Antitrust (3 credits). An examination of federal regulation of competition under the Sherman Anti-Trust Act, the Clayton Act, and the Robinson-Patman Act as construed by the federal judiciary. The course will attempt to identify both what are and what ought to be the goals of antitrust law enforcement. Graded.

Appellate Practice and Advocacy (3 credits). A study of the appellate decision making process and the methods used to invoke the process. Graded.

Aviation Law (2 credits). Basic principles governing the international regime of flight: Warsaw Convention, Chicago Convention, international rules of flight, safety, air traffic control and the International Civil Aviation Organization; basic principles of flight in the United States, including FAA and CAB noise and vibration damage, air freight, aircraft leasing and sales, aviation accident law, criminal and civil jurisdiction and hijacking. Graded.

Banking Law (3 credits). Banking law surveys the special problems of financial institutions arising out of their legal capacity. This offering complements courses in the Uniform Commercial Code concerned with the law governing typical commercial transactions such as secured lending. Graded.

Business Tax - Advanced (2 or 3 credits). Continuation of study of the taxation of corporations and partnerships including reorganizations, carryover of tax attributes, and business divisions. Graded.

Business Planning (3 credits). A study of business problems including formation of a close corporation and a public corporation, recapitalization through stock dividends and stock redemptions, merger and consolidation of medium sized corporations, corporate acquisitive reorganizations and corporate decisions in preparation of acquisition, and the choice of business entity. Each problem will be analyzed comprehensively, applying principles of corporate, partnership, and federal tax law. Graded.

Children's Rights Seminar (3 credits). A examination of the subject of children's rights and the particular problems children face in the legal system. Primary areas of study will be children in court (abuse and neglect, foster care, status offenses, and juvenile delinquency), children in institutions (mental health, corrections, and special education) and, to a lesser extent, children in the family (custody, adoption, medical treatment, contraception, and discipline). Graded.

Civil and Political Liberties (3 credits). Consideration of some contemporary problems of importance including racial equality, the right to vote, freedom of expression, the right of privacy, and freedom of association. Graded.

Civil Rights Litigation (3 credits). This course will study jurisdiction of the federal courts to hear claims of civil rights violations and jurisdictional barriers to the pursuit of justice under Reconstruction Period Amendment and Civil Rights Acts. The Civil Rights Act of 1964, particularly discrimination in employment (Title VII), and the Fair Housing Act of 1968 will be analyzed. Graded.

Clinical Legal Education - Civil Clinic (3 to 9 credits). An in-house division and an externship division. Students in the in-house division practice law under faculty supervision, representing clients of the Nova Law Center Civil Law Clinic in cases selected by the Civil Law faculty. Students in the externship division practice law under the supervision of law school faculty and practicing lawyers in cases selected by the practicing lawyers. Graded.

Clinical Legal Education - Criminal Clinic (12 credits). An externship program in which students practice criminal law full-time for one semester under the supervision of law school faculty and assistant state attorneys or public defenders. Students enrolled in the Criminal Clinic are prohibited from enrolling in any other course without the prior written approval of the Criminal Clinic faculty. Pass/Fail.

Comparative Criminal Law and Procedure (3 credits). A seminar comparing the criminal codes and penal systems of various foreign countries including varying cultural approaches and remedies. Graded.

Comparative Law (3 credits). Seminar course exploring the historical roots, ideological basis and structural components of various legal systems and legal cultures of the world; their resemblances and differences on the basis of codes and court decisions. Graded.

Computers and the Law (3 credits). A study of the interaction between computers and the law, with special emphasis on copyright protection, use of data bases.
computer crime, privacy, evidence, litigation management, computer terminology, computer literacy, and the use of expert systems in legal applications. Graded.

Condominium Law (3 credits). This course is designed to examine the advantages and disadvantages of residing in a condominium. Particular emphasis will be placed on the rights, privileges, and obligations of each resident, of the association, and of the developer. Graded.

Conflict of Laws (3 credits). This course is concerned with adjustment of the competing demands of the law of the forum and the law of a foreign state when the latter is invoked because of some connection with the transaction in question. Graded.

Constitutional Decision Making (3 credits). This course is designed to develop an understanding of the dynamics of the systems involved in judicial decision making, with particular emphasis on the United States Supreme Court. Graded.

Constitutional Litigation (3 credits). The mechanics of federal litigation. Real or hypothetical cases will be used and students will be required to prepare necessary documents such as complaints, motions, and memoranda of law. Graded.

Consumer Credit (3 credits). A critical examination of how credit is extended to consumers, the nature and extent of consumer rights in this process, and what remedies are available for violation of these rights. Graded.

Contracts (4 credits). A comprehensive study of the creation, transfer, and termination of contract rights and duties. Graded.

Copyright and Trademark (3 credits). Copyright deals with protection of literary, musical and artistic works. Particular emphasis will be on the "new" Copyright Act of 1975, effective January 1, 1978. In addition, the law of trademarks will be studied, particularly as it relates to federal protection. Finally, some necessary inquiry into the closely related area of the tort of unfair competition will be explored. Graded.

Corporate Finance (3 credits). A study of the corporate structure in terms of finance: capitalization, dividends, factoring, loans, creditors, shareholders, and share transfers. Graded.

Corporate Tax (3 credits). A study of corporate tax law including formation, operation, receipt of recurring and liquidating distributions, personal holding companies, accumulated earnings, and collapsible corporations. Graded.

Corporations (4 credits). Consideration and analysis of the corporate form of business organization, including shareholders' interests and rights; the duties and liabilities of promoters, officers, directors, and controlling shareholders. Graded.

Corporations - Advanced (3 credits). In-depth study of selected topics in corporation law, such as fiduciary responsibility of directors, shareholder democracy, and the role of corporate power in American society. Graded.

Creditor's Rights and Debtor's Remedies (3 credits). The collection and enforcement of money judgments through execution, garnishment, attachment and supplemental proceedings, the debtor's exemptions and protections from judgment creditors, the law of fraudulent transfer, and the relief of rehabilitation of debtors through assignments for the benefit of creditors, through receiverships, and under the Federal Bankruptcy Act. Graded.

Criminal Aspects of American Labor Law (3 credits). This course will deal with efforts to combat labor corruption and illegal activity through the use of regulatory laws. The course will explore the application of such laws as the Labor-Management Reporting and Disclosure Act, the Hobbs Act, the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO), and the anti-trust laws to employer-union violence, bribery, extortion, misuse of funds, and other abuses. This course will finally explore the responsibility of the attorney in defending a union/employer client in these areas, and the possibility of the attorney incurring criminal liability. Graded.

Criminal Law (4 credits). The basic principles of American criminal law, definition of crimes, criminal responsibility, defenses, proof, and punishment. Graded.

Criminal Law - Advanced (2 or 3 credits). This course is concerned with the prosecution and defense of selected (organized) white collar crime. The organizing concept for this course flows from recent Department of Justice policies concentrating investigative and prosecutorial resources on high-level drug conspiracies and related financial offenses. Included in the course is an examination of the elements and defenses of substantive crimes, forfeitures of property, and selected issues in the investigative process such as agent initiatives, protection of records, and plea bargaining, immunity and sentencing. Graded.

Criminal Law Seminar (2 credits). An examination of the sentencing and correctional process, the way discretion is exercised, and the lawyer's role in influencing it, as well as national and state trends in sentencing, probation, parole and corrections. Graded.

Criminal Procedure (3 credits). An introduction to the constitutional doctrines which courts use to control police procedures, including the admissibility of evidence. Graded.
Criminal Procedure - Advanced (2 or 3 credits). This course examines the criminal process from filing of criminal charges until conviction. * Courses with this asterisk have special requirements which students must meet. Please check The Student Handbook to make sure that you comply with these requirements.
ACADEMIC REGULATIONS AND GRADUATION REQUIREMENTS

CODE of STUDENT CONDUCT

Students at Nova Law Center are expected to abide by the Code of Student Conduct (Honor Code). The Honor Court has exclusive power to impose a penalty, including suspension, dismissal, or a lower grade, upon a student as a result of a finding or belief that the student has engaged in conduct which violates the Honor Code; provided however, that a professor retains unlimited discretion with respect to the grading of written work which is based wholly or partly upon research by the student. Students receive a copy of the Honor Code upon entering the Law Center.

SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY STATEMENT

Sexual harassment is a form of misconduct which undermines the integrity of the academic environment, which debilitates morale, and therefore interferes with the effectiveness of its victims and their peers. Since some members of the University hold positions of authority that may involve the legitimate exercise of power over others, it is their responsibility to be sensitive to that power, in order to avoid actions that are abusive or unprofessional.

JURIS DOCTOR DEGREE

In order to be recommended by the faculty to the President and Trustees of the University for the degree of Juris Doctor (J.D.), a student must complete a minimum of 87 hours of credit with a cumulative grade point average of 2.0 and must satisfy all required course and residency requirements. Requirements for graduation, with a detailed explanation of what constitutes credit hours, residency, and faculty recommendations, may be found in the Code of Academic Regulations which is given to every matriculated first year student.

DEGREE WITH HONORS

The traditional Latin honors, cum laude, magna cum laude, and summa cum laude, are awarded at graduation for excellence in course work. A student qualifies to graduate with honors if he or she earns the following average:

- cum laude 3.2
- magna cum laude 3.4
- summa cum laude 3.6

COURSE LOAD

Nova Law Center offers a full-time three year program. During the regular semester, a student may enroll for no fewer than twelve (12) semester hours and no more than sixteen (16), unless the Dean has given written permission allowing a student to do otherwise. There is no minimum course load prescribed for summer school, but a student may not enroll without permission for more than eight (8) semester hours in any summer session. Students may accelerate their graduation by attending two summer school sessions. In order to accomplish this, at least six (6) semester hours per term are needed to satisfy residency requirements.

Most law students find the library becomes their home away from home.
ATTENDANCE

In order to satisfy all residence and class hours requirements, a student must regularly and punctually attend classes. A professor may bar from a final examination any student who has unexcused absences in excess of 2 per semester credit hour. A student barred from a final examination because of unexcused absences will receive an F in that course.

AUDITING

Students may audit a course provided that the professor has given written permission and all seats are not taken by those enrolling in the course for credit. Students may not get credit toward graduation or residency for audited courses.

SCHEDULING

The majority of the Law Center courses are taught during the week. However, some classes may be held in the evening or on Saturday. The week long intensive trial advocacy course takes place during the semester break in January.

COURSES with SPECIAL REQUIREMENTS

Students may earn credit for non-law courses, for advanced research, for law review work, either by serving as an editor or staff member or by writing a publishable article, comment or case note, and for participating in interscholastic or upperclass intramural moot court and trial advocacy competitions. However, these courses have special enrollment policies as well as specific criteria which a student must meet in order to receive credit. Students planning to earn credit for any of these courses should check The Student Handbook, which contains the Code of Academic Regulations, to make sure they comply with these requirements prior to commencing the work. A student may earn up to six (6) semester hours toward graduation from any combination of advanced research papers, law review credit, trial advocacy competitions, non-law courses, and moot court competitions.

NON-LAW COURSES

In addition to courses in the Law Center curriculum, students may enroll in a non-law graduate level course in other University centers or universities by petitioning the dean well in advance of the beginning of classes for that course. The petition must state valid educational reasons for enrollment. A student must have at least a 2.0 grade point average to petition and may count up to four (4) hours of such credit toward a Juris Doctor degree. To receive credit, a student must successfully complete the course with at least a grade of B or a pass if the course is graded on a pass/fail basis. Grades on such work will appear on the student's transcript but will not affect the student's grade point average or class rank.
GRADING

The Law Center uses the following grading and quality point system:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Letter Grade</th>
<th>Quality Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A</td>
<td>4.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B+</td>
<td>3.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>B</td>
<td>3.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C+</td>
<td>2.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>C</td>
<td>2.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D+</td>
<td>1.5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>D</td>
<td>1.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>F</td>
<td>0.0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Incomplete</td>
<td>I</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Pass</td>
<td>P</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Withdrawal</td>
<td>W</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

A student’s cumulative grade point average is determined by adding the quality points earned from each course and dividing by the number of credit hours of work taken for which quality points are awarded. Credit hours for courses with a grade of F are included in this computation.

DETERMINATION of GRADES

In order to test scholastic achievement, Law Center students must take a written examination of suitable length and complexity in every course for which credit is given. Examinations are not required in seminars, clinical legal education courses or individual research projects. Nor are they required in courses involving extensive written work such as Moot Court, Appellate Practice, and Legal Drafting.

Law Center courses require extensive reading and research.

A professor may raise or lower to the next grade a student’s final letter grade based on the student’s classroom performance. A professor may also exclude a student from taking an examination for irregular attendance or lack of course preparation. A student so excluded will automatically receive an F in that course.
ACADEMIC REGULATIONS

The Honor Court is composed of both student and faculty members.

PASS/FAIL COURSES

Certain courses at the Law Center are graded on a pass/fail basis rather than by letter grade. These courses are so designated in the course descriptions. Successful completion of these courses earns hours toward graduation, but does not affect the quality point average. Failure of these courses will affect a student’s quality point average.

ANONYMITY of GRADING

Whenever practical, examinations shall be graded on an anonymous basis. The dean’s office shall give students anonymous numbers at a designated time prior to each examination period, and students shall use that number on all their examinations during that period. It is an Honor Code violation for a student’s name to appear on an examination booklet. Professors shall submit all grades earned on examinations by the anonymous number of the student earning the grade.

TRANSMITTAL of GRADES

Professors do not have the authority to advise students of their grades until such grades have been posted by the dean’s office. The dean’s office has the sole authority over the release of grades and no Law Center employee may transmit notification of a grade over the telephone.

CHANGE of GRADES

Once a professor has submitted course grades to the dean’s office, no change of grades may be made in that course except for the correction of clerical errors.

FAILURE of REQUIRED COURSES

A student who fails a required course must repeat that course by retaking it with the same professor if he or she teaches it the following year. If that professor is not teaching the course the following year, then the student may take the course from any professor teaching the course the following year, provided the subject matter of the course comports with the course which the student failed. If no professor teaches the same subject matter the following year, the student required to repeat the course shall do so with the professor whose syllabus most nearly follows that of the failed course. The dean’s office will make this determination.
FAILURE of ELECTIVE COURSES

A student who fails an elective course is not required to repeat it, but may do so at his or her option. A student earns no credit toward graduation or residency for a failed elective course.

REFLECTION on TRANSCRIPT of REPEATED COURSES

Both the original grade earned and the grade earned upon repetition for a repeated course shall be reflected on the transcript, be computed into the cumulative average, and count for class rank.

FAILURE to COMPLETE COURSES

WITHDRAWAL from REQUIRED COURSES

A student may not withdraw from a required first year course except in extraordinary circumstances and upon formal petition approved by the dean.

WITHDRAWAL from ELECTIVE COURSES

A student may withdraw from an elective course at any time prior to the scheduled deadline for dropping courses. A student may drop a course after the aforementioned deadline with the dean's permission based on a petition stating extraordinary circumstances. Such late withdrawal will be noted on the student's transcript.

ABSENCE from EXAMINATION

A student absent from a final examination shall receive a grade of F, unless the administering professor, with approval of the dean's office, finds that a lesser sanction is appropriate. A professor can excuse an absence from the final examination only if the student reports the cause of absence prior to the examination and if it is approved by the dean's office. Any excused absence from a final exam must be promptly reported in writing to the dean's office by the student, stating the reason why the student was excused from the exam. The dean must approve any other excuses for absences and, with the professor, determine an appropriate sanction. A student with a properly excused absence from a final examination shall receive a grade of Incomplete (I), which the student may remove in the manner described below.

INCOMPLETE GRADES

A student shall receive a grade of Incomplete (I) for any course in which he or she shall have a properly obtained excuse for absence from the examination, or for a course which does not require an examination in which the instructor shall have granted additional time to complete the course requirements.

REMOVAL of INCOMPLETE GRADES

In any course in which an examination will remove a grade of Incomplete (I), the professor may determine the date of the examination, which must occur prior to the end of the examination period of the second regular semester following the semester in which the original grade of Incomplete (I) was given.
In any course in which submission of a paper will remove a grade of Incomplete (I), the professor may determine the date for submission of the paper, which must be submitted not later than the end of the examination period of the next regular semester following the semester in which the original grade of Incomplete (I) was given. If a student submits a paper after this deadline, the student shall receive a grade of F unless the professor, with approval of the dean's office, finds that a lesser sanction is appropriate.

Students who fail to remove grades of Incomplete (I) in the proper manner will receive the grade of F on their transcripts for the course.

For the purposes of this rule, the term "regular semester" means any semester other than a summer or intensive term.

EXCLUSION from the LAW CENTER on the BASIS of GRADES

No student shall be academically dismissed after his or her first semester of legal education. Subsequently, any student whose cumulative grade point average falls below a 2.0 shall be academically dismissed when this occurs:

(a) at the end of the fall semester;
(b) at the end of any spring semester unless he or she chooses to enroll in the next immediately following summer term; or
(c) at the end of any summer term.

No student who is academically dismissed shall be academically reinstated except as provided below.

(1) First year students:

(a) Any student whose cumulative grade point average is between 1.8 and 2.0 after his or her freshman year (including summer if the student attended summer school) may petition the Scholastic Standing Committee in writing for academic reinstatement.

(b) Any student whose cumulative grade point average is below 1.8 after his or her freshman year (including summer if the student attended summer school) may petition the Scholastic Standing Committee in writing for academic reinstatement only if he or she received at least a 2.0 in either the fall or spring term of his or her freshman year.

(2) Upperclass and transfer students, and any students repeating the first year:

Any upperclass or transfer student, or any student repeating the freshman year, whose cumulative grade point average falls below a 2.0 at the end of any term, including summer, may petition the Scholastic Standing Committee in writing for academic reinstatement.

(3) No student may petition the Scholastic Standing Committee for academic reinstatement more than one time.
Academic reinstatement may be granted only if the Committee agrees by a majority vote that:

(1) the student's poor academic performance was the result of supervening circumstances over which the student had no control and which the student could not reasonably have avoided;

(2) the circumstances are no longer likely to affect the student's academic performance; and

(3) there is likelihood of satisfactory academic performance in the future.

All decisions of the Scholastic Standing Committee are final and no appeal to the Faculty or the Dean may be made on the merits of the decision.

For purposes of these rules, a student repeating the first year does not include a student who withdrew from the Law Center after completing the first semester and prior to taking any second semester examinations.

Graduation day is always a joyous occasion.
PRE-LEGAL EDUCATION

No uniform pre-legal undergraduate course is prescribed since law affects all human activity. Consequently, a student should consider courses which are exacting and develop the ability to analyze; which require the student to express thoughts clearly and cogently, both on paper and orally; and which foster creative power in thinking. Students should also take courses in the humanities in order to acquire a broad cultural background. Many students have found that some business and accounting courses have been helpful, and students with specialized backgrounds in science, engineering or other technical subjects can later combine these specialties with their legal training.

ADMISSIONS REQUIREMENTS

Nova Law Center usually requires that applicants seeking admission into the program leading to the Juris Doctor degree have earned a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited college or university. Applicants with undergraduate degrees from a foreign university must petition for waiver of this requirement. Applicants who have law degrees from a foreign university do not have to petition for this waiver. The admissions committee may require a satisfactory TOEFL score from any foreign applicant.

Applicants must also be of good moral character. As character is of critical relevance to the study and practice of law, the Law Center requires that written explanations be provided in the event an applicant has been charged with or convicted of a crime other than a minor traffic violation or has been subject to stern disciplinary action. In addition, any applicant who has been convicted of a crime other than a minor traffic violation, may wish to consult the bar admission authorities in the state in which he or she intends to practice.

Information about the requirements for admission to the bar of the various states may be obtained by writing the American Bar Association, 750 N. Lakeshore Drive, Chicago, Illinois 60611.

In the event of misrepresentations or omissions, the administration of the Law Center and Nova University reserve the right to take any steps necessary to protect the integrity of their programs. In an appropriate case, such action may include suspension, expulsion, or revocation of a degree.

LAW SCHOOL ADMISSION TEST

Nova Law Center requires that all applicants, except certain handicapped applicants (see below), take and submit scores from a recently administered Law School Admission Test (LSAT). The LSAT is given four times a year---between June and February---at numerous locations throughout the United States, as well as in foreign countries. Examination months vary from year to year. Applicants should write to Law School Admissions Services, Box 2000, Newtown, Pennsylvania 18940 to request an application and the Law School Admission Information Book. This booklet contains a complete sample test, discussion and explanation of the various types of LSAT questions, and detailed registration information.

The Law Center strongly advises that an applicant take the test no later than the December
Nova also welcomes applications from transfer students.

Law School Admission Information Book for sending transcripts of college work to LSDAS. Each applicant must send to the admissions committee a Law School Matching Form furnished with the Law School Admission Information Book, along with the Nova Law Center application form. The Nova Law Center admissions office will send the Matching Form to LSDAS to confirm that the applicant has applied. LSDAS will send its summary of the applicant's college record, together with copies of all transcripts and a report of all LSAT scores, to the Law Center.

RETAKING the LSAT

Some applicants choose to take the LSAT more than once. The admissions committee recommends a retake only if an applicant is certain that he or she had a "bad day" and a major improvement will result from the second try.

HANDICAPPED APPLICANTS

The faculty and administration at Nova Law Center are heartened by the increased interest in legal education and careers in law shown by individuals with physical and other handicaps. The admissions committee receives and processes applications from handicapped applicants under policies which fully comply with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the relevant regulations.

The admissions committee asks that handicapped applicants who can do so take the LSAT. For those who cannot, the committee asks for a statement to that effect in a letter to us, supported by medical confirmation. In such cases, the application will be considered on the basis of all

Because the admissions committee reviews files as soon as they are completed, admissible applicants taking a later test may be given only a wait list status. Each applicant should have his or her score reported to the Law Center as part of the LSDAS report (see next section). Separate LSAT reports are not accepted. The Law Center's code number is R5514.

APPLICATION PROCEDURE

APPLICATION DATES
Nova Law Center admits first year students only in the fall semester. To insure that it will be reviewed for consideration, the application and accompanying materials must be received by the admissions office by April 1, 1987. Applicants are urged to file as soon as possible, because the admissions committee reviews files as soon as they are completed. Applications filed after April 1 will be initially considered only for a wait list or summer conditional status.

APPLICATION FORM
An application form accompanies this catalog. Additional copies may be obtained from the Assistant Dean - Admissions, Nova University Law Center, Leo Goodwin, Sr., Law Building, 3100 S.W. 9th Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33315. No application will be considered unless it is filled out completely.

APPLICATION FEE
A fee of $30.00, payable by check or money order to Nova University, must accompany the application. This fee is not refundable, is not credited toward tuition or fees, and is not applicable toward the fee for the Law School Data Assembly Service. In cases of extraordinary financial hardship, applicants may seek a fee waiver by presenting documentation of need together with a written request to the admissions office.

information available, without prejudice to the applicant. For those who take the large-type edition of the LSAT or who take the LSAT under non-standard conditions, the committee considers the score as part of the record, but gives careful individual attention to the entire file because scores so obtained may not be wholly comparable to other scores. Handicapped applicants who take the test and feel that their handicap has affected their work on the test more than they anticipated may request that the admissions committee take this into consideration.

The admissions committee welcomes supplementary materials (such as letters of recommendation and samples of written work) which can enhance the committee members' understanding of the applicant's academic and professional potential. In addition, this helps insure that no handicapped applicant is prejudiced by a handicap-caused situation in the file, such as a low or missing LSAT score.

The Law Center's program and all of its facilities are physically accessible to the handicapped. There are special reading facilities at the Law Center for partially-sighted students.
PERSONAL INTERVIEWS
Out of fairness to all applicants, the admissions committee has a policy which prohibits the granting of evaluative interviews. No correspondence or other contact will be undertaken with relatives or friends seeking to intervene on behalf of an applicant.

STATUS of APPLICATION
Notification of receipt and status of an applicant's file will be made only if the response cards attached to the application are addressed, stamped, and enclosed with the application form. It is the responsibility of the applicant to see that the file is complete.

The admissions office will not answer telephone inquiries about the admissions committee's evaluation of an applicant's file. Results will be mailed to applicants as soon as a final determination is made. The applicant is responsible for keeping a current mailing address on file with the admissions office. Any failure to reply to correspondence from the Law Center will result in an automatic cancellation or denial of the application. Whenever a due date is specified in these instructions or in any correspondence, all responses, forms or any documentation must actually reach the admissions office by the specified date. Therefore, any applicants who expect to be away from their mailing address should make arrangements to have someone monitor the mail and forward any admissions correspondence to them. Given the delays involved in the mails, every applicant should allow ample time for his or her correspondence to reach the admissions office.

In passing upon applications, the admissions committee, whose membership includes representatives of the administration and faculty, will consider both the undergraduate grade point average and the LSAT score (as furnished by the LSDAS) and other relevant matters that may have been brought to its attention. Because of the large number of highly qualified students applying for admission, the standards for admission will be high. Every effort will be made to notify applicants promptly when decisions are made. However, because of the expected volume and timing of applications, most will not be considered until mid-February, 1987. A decision will not be made on many of the applications until April or May.

The admissions committee will make no decision on applications until the Law Center admissions office receives the Nova application form, a current LSDAS report, the LSAT score, and a personal statement explaining the applicant's interest in studying law. No action can ordinarily be taken on any application until first semester or first quarter college grades of the senior year have been submitted. All the documents described above must be forwarded directly to the Law Center admissions office.

Applicants are cautioned to submit all relevant data at the time of their initial application. Once a decision has been reached, no reconsideration will be granted unless it is based on new information which was not previously available.

All applicants accepted by the Law Center must submit a final transcript showing that a baccalaureate degree has been awarded prior to their matriculation at Nova.
SUMMER CONDITIONAL ACCEPTANCE PROGRAM

The Law Center reserves certain places in the first year class for candidates who successfully complete a summer conditional program. This program permits applicants, who otherwise would not be granted admission, to compete for admission by taking two courses of three credit hours each during June and part of July. The courses are taught by experienced full-time faculty members. Participants in the program will be admitted as degree candidates as a matter of right in the fall term if their grade point average based on the two courses equals 2.5, and neither grade is below a C. The Nova application form offers an applicant the opportunity to indicate whether he or she would like to be considered for this program if not admitted by the regular admissions process. The admissions office will notify applicants if they have been admitted to this program.

APPLICANTS EXCLUDED from OTHER LAW SCHOOLS

Any student who has attended another law school and failed to maintain the grade point average necessary to continue at that school shall be eligible to apply to the admissions committee for admission to Nova Law Center as a first year student only for a fall semester commencing when such student would have been out of law school at least two academic years.

For those students wishing to continue their study of law throughout the year, the Law Center offers a variety of summer courses.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

An applicant who has completed at least one full year of work at a law school approved by the American Bar Association may be admitted as a transfer student if, before undertaking the study of law, the applicant had received a baccalaureate degree from a college or university that is regionally accredited and if the applicant's law school record evidences academic excellence.

Transfer applicants are required to: (1) undertake the regular application process indicating on their application forms that they wish to apply for advanced standing as a transfer student, (2) provide a letter from the dean of the previous law school indicating they are eligible to return and are in good standing, (3) submit a copy of their LSAT/LSDAS report, and (4) submit a final law school transcript. The admissions committee will not consider applications where the student has earned a grade lower than a C unless there are extraordinary circumstances. Transfer applicants should complete their files no later than one month prior to the semester in which they desire to commence studies at the Law Center.

A transfer student may receive credit for up to two and one-half semesters of law school work toward residency requirements. A transfer student will not receive credit for a grade below C, and no grades received elsewhere will be taken into account at the Law Center for any purpose other than admissions. Transfer spaces are limited, and potential transfer students must exhibit outstanding potential for success if they are to be admitted.

FOREIGN ATTORNEYS

Graduates of foreign law schools seeking a Juris Doctor degree from a law school accredited in the United States by the American Bar Association are invited to apply to Nova Law Center. They must follow the procedures set forth for transfer students above and they must submit a written petition for advanced standing. They are required to take the LSAT examination and forward detailed course descriptions of all the law courses they have taken. The minimum residency requirement for those seeking advanced standing is three semesters. Generally foreign attorneys enroll at the Law Center for four semesters.

ACCEPTANCE DEPOSIT

Upon receiving the notice of acceptance for the first year class, an applicant will be required to make an acceptance deposit of $150.00 within the time specified in the letter of acceptance. Each accepted applicant must submit, with the deposit, six permanent passport-size (2" by 3") facial photographs. An applicant will forfeit his or her place in the class if the deposit is late. The deposit will be applied against tuition for the first term. An accepted applicant who has paid the deposit and then withdraws from the Law Center will not receive a refund of the deposit unless required to report for active military service.

SUMMER STUDY

Law students traditionally seek positions clerking for practitioners during the summer months. This practice, encouraged by the faculty and placement office, helps reinforce classroom lessons through direct practical experience. However, because many students wish to continue their study of law throughout the year, the Law Center operates an abbreviated schedule of upperclass courses lasting eight weeks, beginning in June and continuing through July. The offerings vary from year to year, and students can select from them just as they can during the regular school year.

Nova Law Center also encourages students currently enrolled at other ABA accredited law schools to attend the summer session at Nova. Transient students must send the Law Center admissions office on or before June 1st an application form, a fee of $30.00, and a letter of good standing from the dean of the law school in which they are currently enrolled agreeing to accept transfer credits for the course work completed at Nova.

Tuition for both regular and transient students for the 1987 summer session is $330.00 per hour.

BAR ADMISSION

Each state bar in the United States has its own requirements for admission to that bar. The Florida Board of Bar Examiners, for example, requires that every person intending to apply for admission to the Florida bar must register with the Board within 150 days after commencement of the study of law. Students can obtain precise information concerning the requirements of the state in which they desire to practice from the appropriate board of bar examiners, before or immediately after entering law school. The American Bar Association also publishes a helpful booklet entitled Law School and Bar Admission Requirements: A Review of Legal Education in the United States. Failure to meet specific bar requirements may result in delayed admission to the bar.
TUITION
The tuition for first year students for 1986-1987 is $7,800. As stated above, the acceptance deposit of $150.00, payable after an applicant's acceptance, is credited toward tuition. A first year law student's tuition is payable on August 1st and fees for registration, materials, and student activities of $70.00 are due July 1st. The admissions office will notify all accepted applicants if there is a change in the dates that tuition payments and fees are due. Failure to pay tuition payments on time will result in cancellation of the acceptance and forfeiture of the acceptance deposit. Any applicant who feels there may be a problem with paying the tuition on time should contact the Assistant Dean - Admissions.

Upon dismissal or suspension from the Law Center for cause, there will be no refund of tuition and fees. The balance due the University will be considered receivable and will be collected.

REFUND OF TUITION
Any admitted applicant wishing to withdraw because of illness or some other satisfactory reason must notify the admissions office in writing. Students already enrolled at the Law Center must notify the Assistant Dean - Students by petition. Adjustment of tuition will be computed from the date on which the written notice is received by the Law Center.

No part of the application fee, the registration fee, seat deposit, materials fee or the student activity fee will be refunded upon withdrawal.

The refundable percentage of total tuition will be computed in accordance with the following schedule:

August 1st through registration - we refund tuition minus a $500.00 deposit
Week 1 following registration - we refund 75% of tuition
Week 3 following registration - we refund 50% of tuition
Week 4 following registration - we refund 25% of tuition
Over 4 weeks - no refund

The semester is deemed to begin on the day classes begin. Summer school tuition will be refunded on the same basis, with appropriately reduced time periods. In unusual circumstances and for compelling reasons, tuition may be deferred upon written authorization from the dean's office. Such deferral may not extend beyond the end of the term for which tuition originally was deferred.
FEES AND FINANCIAL AID

OFFICE OF STUDENT FINANCIAL PLANNING AND RESOURCES

The Office of Student Financial Planning and Resources awarded over seventeen million dollars in financial assistance for the 1985-1986 academic year. Federal, state, institutional, and private sources are used to meet the needs of the graduate and undergraduate students. In doing so, the office served its purpose of helping find ways to make education affordable to as many deserving students as possible.

In order to be considered for financial assistance, students are required to complete the Financial Aid Form (FAF) from the College Scholarship Service and the Nova financial aid application. Application deadlines may be obtained by contacting the Office of Student Financial Planning and Resources.

The Law Center has a limited amount of need and merit-based scholarship and loan funds available. These funds are awarded based upon Law Center grades and a need analysis performed by the Office of Student Financial Planning and Resources, and are primarily reserved for upperclass students.

LAW CENTER SCHOLARSHIPS

The following endowed scholarship funds currently exist at the Law Center:
- Alumni Association Law Scholarship Endowment
- Paul B. Anton Law Scholarship Endowment
- Frederick Raymond Bland Law Scholarship Endowment
- Judge Albert Blase Law Scholarship Endowment
- Brolliar Law Scholarship Endowment

LOANS

GUARANTEED STUDENT LOAN PROGRAM (GSL)

The Guaranteed Student Loan Program is a federal loan program. It provides long-term low-interest educational loans through participating lending institutions to students enrolled at least half-time. The simple interest rate is generally 8% and is paid by the federal government while the student is in school. Graduate students may borrow up to $5,000 per year, with repayment beginning six months after the student graduates or is no longer enrolled at least half-time.
THE NATIONAL DIRECT STUDENT LOAN (NDSL)

The National Direct Student Loan is a federal program operated by Nova University. It provides low-cost educational loans to qualified graduate students enrolled at least half-time. The simple interest rate is 5% and repayment begins six months after enrollment requirements are no longer met.

AUXILIARY LOANS TO ASSIST STUDENTS (ALAS)

The Auxiliary Loans to Assist Students program provides non-need-based loans to independent students and parents of dependent students. ALAS loans are available through the Law School Assured Access Program (LSAAP) as well as through participating banks. The annual maximum loan limit is $3,000. Repayment begins 30 to 60 days after disbursement of the loan; however, principal payments and interest may be deferred while the student is enrolled full-time. The interest rate is 12%. Applications are available at the Office of Student Financial Planning and Resources or from participating lenders.

GRAD ED FINANCING

Grad Ed financing is a non-need-based loan plan developed to assist students in meeting the high cost of a professional graduate education. You may borrow from $1,500 to $7,500 each academic year, up to a total of $15,000. A Grad Ed loan carries a variable interest rate which is adjusted based on the bond equivalent of the 91-day U.S. Treasury bill auction rate plus 3.5 percentage points.

OTHER LOAN FUNDS

The Law Center has four internal loan funds: the Emergency Loan Fund; the Leo Goodwin, Sr., Loan Fund; the Minority Student Loan Fund; and the Honorable Hugh Glickstein Loan Fund.

VETERAN'S BENEFITS

The Law Center program is approved for veteran’s training by the Florida Department of Education. Full-time VA benefits are available for students enrolled for 12 or more credits. Eligible veterans and veterans’ dependents should contact the Registrar’s Office, Nova University, 3301 College Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33314. The telephone number is: (305) 475-7413.

EMPLOYMENT

In accordance with American Bar Association Standards, the Law Center will not permit any full-time student to work more than 20 hours per week. Any student who works in excess of 20 hours per week will lose residency credit for the semester involved.

COLLEGE WORK STUDY

Part-time jobs on campus are available for needy students through the College Work Study program. Generally, students work 15 to 20 hours per week. In limited instances, students may also work off-campus for participating non-profit agencies.

NOVA STUDENT EMPLOYMENT

Assistantships and part-time employment are available on campus. Positions are open to all students regardless of financial need. Students should contact the dean’s office for more information.

PART-TIME CLERKSHIPS

Many students find that limited clerking with local firms promotes a sense of realism and aids in relating the concepts learned in class to problems encountered in actual practice. The placement office has lists of part-time and summer clerkship opportunities and the Law Center encourages students to clerk for local firms, provided they limit the time so spent.
The Law Center and Nova University maintain a system of records which include application forms, letters of recommendation, admission test scores, and transcripts of students' previous academic records and performance while in residence. These records may be made available upon written request through the registrar's office. However, the registrar's office will not release transcripts of students' academic records until all their accounts, both academic and non-academic, have been paid.

The law limits access by and disclosure to a third party. Such access is given only upon consent of the student or if required by law, except for the information which may be released as directory information such as the student's name, address, telephone number, dates of attendance, and degree and awards received. Any student or parent not wishing to have this information disclosed should notify the admissions office in writing prior to August 2 of the relevant school year.

A person does not have the right of access to educational records until he or she has been admitted to and has actually begun attending the Law Center. There is no prohibition from disclosing such information to the parents of students who are listed on their parents' federal income tax forms.

Parents or eligible students will be provided a hearing by the University if they wish to challenge the content of the record. If they are still not satisfied, the parents or eligible students may add explanatory or rebuttal matter to the record. If the students or parents are denied access to a hearing or if the records are alleged to have been illegally disclosed to a third party, the students or parents may file a complaint with the United States Department of Education.

The Nova University general policies on student relations are on file in the Office of the Registrar.

Policies on student relations are on file in the Office of the Registrar.
ALUMNI ASSOCIATION

The close relationship formed between students and the Law Center does not end at graduation. Founded in 1977 with the graduation of the Charter Class, the Alumni Association has worked diligently to achieve its goals of enhancing the status of the Law Center and promoting its enrichment and development through moral, intellectual, professional, and financial support. This assistance has encompassed a broad spectrum of social and business activities, including placement of students and alumni, consultation on policy, and mobilization of financial support. An alumni directory and newsletter help graduates to maintain the close ties developed during their years at Nova Law Center and to assist each other in their continued professional growth.

PLACEMENT

Placement occupies a prominent place at the Law Center, because of the Center's philosophy of combining legal theory with the opportunity to gain practical experience. The Placement Office serves as a central clearinghouse for information on legal employment opportunities, both for student clerkships and for permanent employment upon graduation. Alumni also utilize the service, as positions for attorneys with several years of experience are regularly listed with the office. Lists of part-time and summer clerkship opportunities are constantly updated, and many students find that they are offered employment upon graduation with firms where they clerked during law school.

Local contacts are an integral part of placement efforts.

The main function of the Placement Office is to provide information and serve as a resource center to assist students in their employment search. Counseling on employment goals, resume preparation, and job search techniques is available in group or individual sessions. A full-time Placement Director oversees the operation of the Placement Office. Nova Law Center is an active member of the National Association of Law Placement, participating in its surveys and other national programs.

CONTINUING LEGAL EDUCATION

Recognizing the rapidly changing nature of the law during the period of a substantive law explosion, the Florida Bar encourages attendance at continuing legal education courses for members of the practicing Bar. In keeping with the policy of maximizing student exposure to the realities of law, an active CLE program operates at the Law Center to further the education of members of the Bar. Practical skills courses are taught by established local practitioners in their particular areas of expertise. The Law Center has also been a regular site for Florida Bar CLE presentations. Most courses are scheduled in such a way that attorneys can participate without taking valuable time away from their office practices.

The goal of Nova's CLE program is to involve the local legal community with Nova Law Center in an ongoing practical way. This benefits alumni and the local Bar, while at the same time allowing students to benefit from and exchange ideas with some of the most knowledgeable attorneys in this area of the country. In addition, members of the Law Center faculty often participate as lecturers in CLE seminars sponsored by the Florida Bar and other legal organizations.

MEALS AND HOUSING

The cafeteria at Nova Law Center offers meals and snacks at reasonable prices throughout the day. It is located across the street from the Goodwin Building on the Law Center grounds.

Dormitory space is also available in two buildings adjacent to the cafeteria. The number of rooms available at any given time is limited and assigned in order of room application.

Located on the main campus, seven miles west of the Law Center, are the University's apartments. These consist of four multi-story buildings. A limited number of apartments are available for law student use each year. These are leased on a yearly basis.

For further descriptive information, application forms and housing information, contact the Director of Housing, Nova University, 3301 College Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33314.
ABA/LAW STUDENT DIVISION

All Nova Law students may join the ABA/Law Student Division, which is a separate but integral part of the American Bar Association, the national organization of the legal profession. Student members are entitled to participate in all ABA functions at reduced rates and to receive ABA publications and insurance benefits. ABA/LSD matching fund grants have been awarded Nova in past years to support its Legislative Drafting Service and Speakers Program. Student representatives, appointed by the SBA Representative Council, serve as liaisons to the national ABA Law Student Division.

ASSOCIATION of TRIAL LAWYERS of AMERICA

The Nova Chapter of ATLA is the school's premier trial oriented organization. ATLA sponsors and coordinates a fall and spring Mock Trial Competition and assists students in understanding and applying valuable trial techniques. This program differs from Moot Court in that students learn how to conduct a trial before a jury, as opposed to writing briefs and presenting oral arguments to a panel of appellate judges.

Each year the outstanding trial advocates from the fall competition are selected to represent Nova at the Florida Bar Mock Trial Competition, the ABA Regional Mock Trial Competition, and the Florida ATLA Mock Trial Competition.

In 1985 Nova's Chapter of ATLA received national recognition as the largest student ATLA Chapter in the country.

BLACK LAW STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

The BLSA chapter at the Law Center began in 1978, with black students from the United States and abroad coming together in search of a common bond. Designed as a focal point for sharing experiences, the local BLSA chapter works to improve the recognition of the black student within the University structure.

ENTERTAINMENT LAW SOCIETY

The Entertainment Law Society (ELS) is one of Nova's most recent and active organizations. South Florida is rapidly growing into one of the vital centers of the world's entertainment industry. The ELS is a valuable forum for all students interested in this specialized field. The ELS has a speakers program planned featuring record producers, managers, literary agents, film producers, and attorneys for the major studios. The ELS also will be sponsoring various symposia on career opportunities in business, labor representations, and production for practicing and aspiring lawyers in the entertainment industry.

FLORIDA ASSOCIATION for WOMEN LAWYERS

One of the most active student groups, FAWL includes both men and women, students and faculty, who are concerned with the field of equal rights legislation. Funding comes from organizational dues, supplemented by grants from the SBA. In the past FAWL obtained grants to sponsor a film and speaker series on various legal topics and organized programs on assertiveness training for the courtroom. FAWL encourages academic excellence by offering workshops, lectures, a support network, and a mentor program for...
STUDENT LIFE

first-year students. In 1982, this organization was officially recognized as the first law student chapter of the Florida Association for Women Lawyers.

HONOR COURT
An honor court, composed of five student justices elected by the student body, and two faculty members appointed by the dean, hears cases alleging violation of the Honor Code and imposes sanctions when warranted.

INTERNATIONAL LAW SOCIETY
The goal of this organization is to foster interest and to develop an understanding of international law. The society sponsors mini-lectures by renowned international attorneys. To date the thrust of this organization's interest has been in the area of international trade law, thereby taking advantage of Nova's location in South Florida, an area whose economy is strongly affected by international trade.

LAW STUDENTS for GAY and LESBIAN RIGHTS
Founded in 1985, Law Students for Gay and Lesbian Rights has as its goal the furthering of the legal, political, and social interests of homosexuals. Students, faculty and staff--regardless of their orientation---are welcome to participate.

LAW STUDENTS' RESEARCH SERVICE
Operated and directed by students, The Law Students' Research Service offers research assistance to the local legal community. The service offers students an opportunity to earn a competitive hourly wage while sharpening their own legal research skills. Participating students are upper-class students selected on the basis of their research and writing abilities.

MOOT COURT
From its inception, the Moot Court Society has been one of the most active and prestigious student groups at the Law Center. The society offers several avenues in which to practice and refine advocacy skills. For example, competitions at the intramural and interscholastic level held throughout the school year provide members an active program of appellate advocacy. Results of these competitions show that many of our members are some of the nation's finest advocates and brief writers. Indeed, a Nova team won the first annual F. Lee Bailey Moot Court Competition held in San Diego in March, 1983. Membership in the Society is open to second and third year students who are in good academic standing.

SPANISH AMERICAN LAW STUDENTS ASSOCIATION
The SALSA chapter at Nova Law Center was founded in the spring of 1980. This organization brings together students of both Hispanic and American heritage. Since its creation, SALSA has worked with the International Law Society to sponsor speakers on subjects of common interest to the student body. An annual Spanish culture festival highlights this group's social activities.

STUDENT BAR ASSOCIATION
Students at the Law Center are automatically members of the Student Bar Association. Through this association (SBA), students have an effective means of communicating their point of view to all levels of the Law Center administration and faculty. The SBA exists to advance the aims and goals of the student body and the Law Center and to promote the Law Center’s general welfare.

Representatives to the governing body, the Representative Council, are elected from all three classes at the Law Center. In an attempt to foster community spirit, the SBA provides many student services—a speakers’ program, social functions, a bookstore, a student directory, and a faculty roast. SBA sponsored activities also include the spring banquet, a traditional part of the Law Center calendar. The Student Bar Association is affiliated with the Law Student Division of the American Bar Association and participates actively in division functions.

YOUNG DEMOCRATS

Young Democrats is an organization of people concerned about the issues and events that affect their lives on a daily basis. Young Democrats sponsors forums and speakers on topics of current interest. In addition, members have the opportunity to work on local, state, and national campaigns. This organization is open to all registered Democrats.

LEGAL FRATERNITIES

DELTA THETA PHI

Organized in 1982, Delta Theta Phi has more than 70,000 members nationwide. Nova’s Thomas E. Lee, Jr., Chapter was formed to offer students the opportunity to participate in national as well as local activities of this prominent legal fraternity.

PHI ALPHA DELTA

The Fleming Chapter of Phi Alpha Delta was chartered in 1975. In 1980, the Fleming Chapter was chosen as one of the top ten of 163 chapters nationwide, winning an “Outstanding Merit” award. PAD members play an active role in Law Center affairs, instructing freshmen members on study methods, providing assistance in completing bar applications, and supplying an alumni list to members for possible job placement.

PHI DELTA PHI

Blackstone Inn is the local chapter of the nation’s oldest and largest legal fraternity. It is one of the fastest growing organizations on campus. Inn members are active in all aspects of the Law Center, from Moot Court to Law Review. Inn activities provide a professional and social atmosphere in which members may associate with alumni from the bench and bar. Phi Delta Phi members are eligible for national fraternity benefits such as student loans and group insurance plans. Any student with the requisite G.P.A. is welcome.

STUDENT LIFE

Nova Law’s baseball team does not have to travel far for spring training.
