Congratulations on deciding to become a lawyer!

It's certainly a challenging and rewarding career. Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad Law Center, we will introduce you to the life of a lawyer by putting you face-to-face with the law. Here, you will learn to do what lawyers really do, which is help ordinary people facing difficult problems:

- A citizens group fighting a multinational corporation's plan to build an environmentally hazardous project.
- An accident victim whose injury has altered the lives of everyone in her family.
- An entrepreneur eager to finance an exciting international business venture.
- An elderly widow denied the government benefits she desperately needs to live out her remaining years in dignity.
- Young parents worried that their child's disability will prevent him from obtaining a quality education.

- A teenager falsely accused of a serious crime.
- Owners of a family business anxious to turn their success into a franchise operation.

We stand ready to help you acquire the knowledge, skills, and professional values to help clients -- repeople -- confront tough problems and complex choices.

The Admissions Committee seeks students who:

- will perform successfully in law school;
- know why they want a legal education;
- demonstrate an eagerness to be challenged and an ability to overcome hardships;
- evidence a commitment to the community; and
- through life experience, will add to the perspectives of the student body.

The Committee strives to assemble a student body that is academically well-prepared, highly motivated, and diverse.

Admission Requirements

While students entering the Law Center must have either (1) an undergraduate degree from a regionally accredited institution, (2) an undergraduate degree from a foreign institution that the Admissions Committee believes provides an adequate educational foundation for the study of law, or (3) an appropriate professional degree, there is no prescribed pre-legal undergraduate course of study. However, a pre-law student should consider courses that are challenging and help develop the ability to analyze issues; require the student to express thoughts clearly; and foster creative thought.

Law School Admission Test

Each applicant must submit scores from a recently administered Law School Admission Test (LSAT).

We urge applicants to sit for the test as early as possible, preferably in the fall preceding the year in which they wish to enroll.

Retaking the LSAT

Some applicants choose to take the LSAT more than once. The Admissions Committee recommends a retake only if an applicant is certain that he or she had a "bad day" and a major improvement will result from the second try. In the event an applicant retakes the LSAT, the Admissions Committee will consider all scores.
Transcripts

The Admissions Committee reviews each transcript carefully and considers not only the undergraduate grade point average, but also the difficulty of course work; the quality of institutions attended; whether the applicant had a full-time or heavy part-time work schedule while earning a degree; whether the applicant’s grade point average improved during college; and whether the applicant holds advanced degrees.

Application Procedures

You can use the LSACD, a CD-ROM available from the Law School Admission Council to complete your law school application and send it to our school. The LSACD costs only $49.95 and is available from the Law School Admission Council (e-mail: lsacinfo@lsac.org; Web: www.lsac.org; phone: (215) 968-1001).

You should file an application as soon as possible. The Admissions Committee releases admission decisions twice during the winter semester, March 1st and April 19. To assure consideration for the March 1st decision, the applicant’s file must be completed by February 12. To assure consideration for the April 19 decision, the applicant’s file must be completed by March 15. No applicant’s file is considered complete until we receive the LSDAS report. It is the applicant’s responsibility to submit the necessary information to LSDAS and to list the Law Center as a recipient of the LSDAS report.

We strongly recommend (but do not require) that each applicant submit letters of recommendation relating to academic performance, extracurricular activities, or employment. Letters from professors who know the applicant and the applicant’s work are particularly encouraged.

Out of fairness to all applicants, the Admissions Committee has a policy prohibiting the granting of evaluative interviews, although we would be delighted to talk with applicants about attending the Law Center.

Part-time Evening Program

The Shepard Broad Law Center offers a part-time evening program. The new part-time evening program is limited to 60 students, with classes offered in the evenings four nights a week from 6:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. and on Saturday mornings. This program is designed for individuals employed on a full-time basis. Applicants can apply to only one program and must select either the full-time day program or the part-time evening program. The tuition for this program will be three quarters of the full-time program tuition.

Summer Conditional Program

The summer conditional program permits applicants who otherwise would not be granted admission to compete for admission by taking two courses of three credit hours each between May and July. The courses are taught by experienced full-time faculty members. Participants in the program will be admitted as degree candidates as a matter of right in the fall term if their grade point average based on the two courses is at least 2.5 (C+).

Applicants With Disabilities

The Admissions Committee receives and processes applications from applicants with disabilities under policies that fully comply with Section 504 of the Federal Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Americans with Disabilities Act, and the relevant regulations. These applicants are asked to take the LSAT, if possible. For those who cannot take the LSAT, a letter supported by medical confirmation is requested.

For those who take the large-type edition of the LSAT or who take the LSAT under nonstandard conditions, the Admissions Committee considers the score as part of the record, but gives careful individual attention to the entire file because scores so obtained may not be wholly comparable to other scores.

The Admissions Committee welcomes supplementary materials (such as letters of recommendation and samples of written work) that can enhance the committee members' understanding of the applicant's academic and professional potential.

Transfer Students

An applicant who has completed at least one full year of work at a law school approved by the American Bar Association may be considered for admission as a transfer student if, before undertaking the study of law, the applicant received a baccalaureate degree from a college or university and if the applicant's law school record evidences academic excellence. Transfer students are required to undertake the regular application process stating on their application forms that they wish to apply for advanced standing as a transfer student; provide a letter from the dean of their law school stating that they are eligible to return and are in good standing; submit a copy of their LSAT/LSDAS report; and submit a final law school transcript.

The Admissions Committee will not consider an application if the student has earned a grade lower than B except under extraordinary circumstances. Applicants should complete their files no later than one month prior to the semester in which they desire to commence studies at the Law Center.

A transfer student may receive credit for up to two and one-half semesters of law school work toward the residency requirement. A transfer student will not receive credit for a grade below C, and no grades received elsewhere will be taken into account at the Law Center for any purpose other than admission. Transfer spaces are limited, and potential transfer students must exhibit outstanding potential for success if they are to be admitted.
Applicants Excluded From Other Law Schools

Any student who has attended another law school and failed to maintain the grade point average necessary to continue at that school shall be eligible to apply for admission to the Law Center as a first-year student only for a fall semester commencing when such student has been out of law school for at least two academic years.

Foreign Attorneys

Graduates of foreign law schools seeking a Juris Doctor degree from an American law school are invited to apply to the Law Center. In addition to the procedures set forth above for transfer students, they must submit a written petition for advanced standing; take the LSAT; and submit detailed course descriptions for all law courses taken. Foreign attorneys enroll at the Law Center for at least four semesters.

International Students

International students who intend to reside in the United States and who are required to obtain an 1-20 visa must be full-time, degree-seeking students and must attend classes at the main campus in Fort Lauderdale, Florida. For further information, contact the International Student Adviser, Nova Southeastern University, 3301 College Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, Florida 33314, telephone (954) 262-7240.

AIDS Seminar (2 or 3 credits) - This course examines how the Acquired Immune Deficiency Syndrome epidemic has affected, and in turn been affected by, the legal system. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I & II.

Alternative Dispute Resolution (2 credits) - This course will focus on mediation and other forms of dispute resolution, such as arbitration. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses and Evidence.

Alternative Dispute Resolution Clinic (Fall & Winter: 8 Credits) Fall: In-house placement (4 cr. Pass/D/Fail) and two 2 credit courses: a skills and an interdisciplinary/policy course, and a substantive law course (4 cr. graded). Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV Litigation Track or Transactional Track, Professional Responsibility, and a 2.0 GPA. Students who did not complete four semesters of LSV may substitute a course providing background in alternative dispute resolution (Mediation or Alternative Dispute Resolution or Interviewing, Counseling & Negotiating) or have A.D.R. experience acceptable to the A.D.R. clinic director.

American Legal History Seminar (2 credits) - A research seminar concerning the social and historical development of American lawyers as a professional group; growth of a Colonial bar; anti-lawyer sentiment in the new republic; the rise of professional organizations and a corporate bar; the structure of legal education; popular culture as it helps shape as well as reflect public attitudes toward bench and bar; and stability and crisis in the contemporary period. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I & II.

Antitrust Law (2 or 3 credits) - An examination of the United States antitrust laws, principally the Sherman Act and the Clayton Act, and the manner in which the federal courts have interpreted these laws to promote competition. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Contracts and Civil Procedure.

Appellate Briefwriting (1 credit) - Students who participate in this course receive one credit hour for successfully completing an appellate brief and participating in oral argument rounds. Prerequisites: This class is closed to students in the Litigation track.

Appellate Practice Workshop (2 or 3 credits) - A study of the process of appellate advocacy and appellate decision making using simulation exercises to explore the determination of whether the record of a completed litigation presents appealable questions, the determination of which issues to appeal, the techniques of effective brief writing and oral argument, and the theory and practice of law-making by appellate adjudication. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses, except Property; Appellate Briefwriting or Litigation Track LSV III. Evidence and Litigation Track IV are pre- or co-requisites.

Art Law (2 credits) - This course examines the legal rights and responsibilities of artists, gallery owners, collectors, and museums.

Arts Law Seminar (2 credits) - This course explores the impact of traditional legal concepts as they relate to the particular needs of the artist. Topics include destruction, smuggling, and theft of art work; censorship and artistic freedom; and copyright. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses and Constitutional Law II.

Aviation Law (2 credits) - This course explores various aspects of aviation law and practice, including the building, selling, and leasing of aircraft; their operation and maintenance; and the various domestic and international legal regimes that have grown up around them. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Contracts, Torts, Property, and Civil Procedure.

Banking Law (3 credits) - This course surveys the regulation of financial institutions, including chartering, lending limits, bank powers, and services. This offering complements courses in the Uniform Commercial Code concerned with the law governing typical commercial transactions such as secured lending. Prerequisites: Passing grade in Corporations. Negotiable Instruments and Administrative Law are highly recommended.

Bankruptcy Law (2 or 3 credits) - This course surveys the rights and remedies of debtors and creditors in bankruptcy and under state law. Strategic considerations of alternative remedies are emphasized. Prerequisites: none

Bankruptcy Workshop (2 credits) - An examination of the rights of creditors and debtors through the use of simulations and exercises. The course places students in roles designed to duplicate those of lawyers involved in bankruptcies and bankruptcy-related proceedings. Prerequisites: None. Bankruptcy is recommended.

Bias Crimes & Domestic Terrorism Seminar (2 credits) - This seminar will address the increasing threat posed to societal order by hate crimes or bias crimes and all forms of domestic terrorism, whether committed by lone perpetrators, religious extremists, white supremacist groups, unorganized militia organizations, or, generally, hate groups. The course will compare problem and response, both here and in other nations, not limited to those using Anglo-American-based legal systems. The course will also examine whether there is a link between bias crimes and domestic terrorism. Some of the required reading may include strongly-worded and potentially offensive expressions of the views of some of these individuals and groups (e.g., the Unabomber's Manifesto, Andrew MacDonald's Turner Diaries). Prerequisites: LSV I & II, and Criminal Law.

Bioethics Seminar (2 credits) - This course explores legal and ethical issues faced by patients and physicians as a result of developing medical technology. Topics include organ transplantation, genetic engineering, end of life decisions including physician assisted suicide, reproductive rights including abortion, experimentation on fetuses and other human subjects. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I & II, and Con. Law I.

Business Practice Clinic (Fall & Winter: 12 credits) Fall & Winter: External placement in corporate law firm or corporate legal department (6 cr. Pass/D/Fail) and three 2 credit courses: a skills course, a substantive course, and an interdisciplinary/policy course (6 cr. graded). Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV Transactional Track, Corporations, and Professional Responsibility, and a 2.0 GPA. On of the following business drafting courses may be substituted for LSV Transactional Track: Business Planning Workshop, Corporate Workshop, Employee Benefits Workshop, Legal Drafting Workshop, Non-profit Workshop (when taught as a workshop, but not as a course), Estate Planning Workshop or Probate Workshop.

Business Planning Workshop (2 or 3 credits) - A study of business problems, including choice of business entities; formation of corporations; business agreements, such as shareholders' agreements for closely-held corporations; and use of qualified deferred compensation agreements. The course also may cover recapitalizations, mergers, and other reorganizations and divisions. Problems will be analyzed using principles of corporate or partnership law and federal tax law. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Corporations and Income Tax (the 3 or 4 credit course).

Children and Families Clinic (Fall & Winter: 12 credits; Summer: 6 credits) Fall & Winter: In-House or external placement (6 cr. Pass/D/Fail) and three 2 credit courses: a skills course, a substantive course, and a policy course (6 cr. graded). Summer: Eight week in-house or external placement (4 cr. Pass/D/Fail) and a two week course consisting of a combination of interdisciplinary/policy, skills, and substantive law (2 cr. graded). Grades will be based on papers, an exam, or skills exercises. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV Litigation Track, Evidence, Family Law, and Professional Responsibility, and a 2.0 GPA. Trial Advocacy may be substituted for LSV Litigation Track.

Children's Rights Seminar (2 or 3 credits) - An examination of children's rights and the particular problems children face in the legal system. Primary areas of study will be children in court (abuse and neglect, foster care, status offenses, and juvenile delinquency), children in institutions (mental health, corrections, and special education) and, to a lesser extent, children in the family (custody, adoption, medical treatment, contraception, and discipline). Prerequisites: Passing grades in Family Law and all first year courses except Property.

Civil Forfeiture Workshop (2 credits) - This course will begin with historical and theoretical aspects of forfeiture law and progress to contemporary forfeiture practice and procedure. The workshop will have a practitioner oriented focus. Students will draft pleadings and other legal documents. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses. Criminal Procedure is a pre- or co-requisite.

Civil & Political Liberties: Public Schools (2 credits) This course will focus primarily on constitutional issues involving elementary and secondary education. Among the issues that may be addressed in this course are the extent to which the Constitution, "applied in light of the special characteristics of the school environment", protects freedom of expression (including student speech, student newspapers and personal websites), limits searches for evidence of violations of laws or of school rules, or requires procedural safeguards before the imposition of such sanctions as suspension and expulsion, particularly in a post-Columbine (and post-terrorist) era. The role of censorship and access to alternative viewpoints may be addressed. The scope of religious freedoms may also be explored, that is, the extent to which public schools must accommodate religious views, and the constitutionality of voucher programs that include religiously-affiliated schools (including an analysis of the Ohio voucher case which will be heard and decided by the Supreme Court this Term).

This course may also explore the role of racial preferences in admission to academically elite or magnet schools in light of the recent university and law school cases involving affirmative action in admissions and the implications of the Supreme Court's agreeing to hear Adarand again this Term. The constitutionality of single-sex schools (e.g., the Harlem School for Girls) and single-sex classes in math and science may be examined, as may the exclusion from certain high school sports based on sex.

Finally, if time permits, the course may also take up constitutional issues arising under standards-based reforms and "high stakes testing", including the Bush Administration proposals under consideration in Congress. This course is an examination course. Prerequisites: Con Law I

Civil Procedure (4 credits) - A basic course on the theory and mechanics of enforcing substantive rights through civil (i.e., noncriminal) litigation. Major concepts emphasized include the jurisdiction of state and federal courts; pleadings and pretrial motions; discovery; post-trial motions; and the appellate process. Prerequisites: None.

Civil Rights Litigation Seminar (2 credits) - This seminar will explore the history and current scope of 42 USC §§ 1981-1985 as remedies for constitutional deprivations and as a means to enforce statutory rights. The course will consider both actions for injunctive relief and actions for damages and will examine the defenses available to individual defendants and governmental bodies. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Constitutional Law I and LSV I & II.

Civil Rights of Persons with Disabilities Seminar (2 or 3 credits) - This seminar will examine the legislation, regulations, and cases determining the rights of individuals with various disabilities and the constitutional rights of persons with mental illness or mental retardation. Among the topics studied are individuals with disabilities' rights to employment, education, access to buildings and transportation systems, and medical treatment. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Constitutional Law I and LSV I & II. Civil Procedure strongly recommended. Priority: (1) Students in Persons with Disabilities Project; (2) All other students.

Comparative Constitutional Law and Human Rights Issues (2 credits) - This module is offered as part of a joint program with the law school of Nova Southeastern University, Florida. It will enable students to understand the operation of the UK constitution and the impact of EU membership on the UK and other member states. Students will also undertake a critical analysis of UK Constitutional Law and compare the product with, in particular, the Constitutional Law of the United States. The protection of civil liberties/human rights will be a particular point of focus for comparative analysis. Prerequisite: Be in good academic standing.

Comparative Law (2 or 3 credits) - This course provides students with familiarity with legal systems that differ from that of the United States. Also offered as a seminar. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses.

Comparative Law Seminar: Corporate Governance (2 credits) - This seminar is designed for the understanding of the structure, objectives, and mechanism of corporate governance in a comparative setting; in light of considering the question of whether corporate governance is converging globally. In using the United States corporate governance structure as our primary model, we shall compare it with that of England, Germany and a developing country such as the Cameroons. We shall examine corporate governance in areas such as monitoring and legal compliance, executive compensation, takeover, derivative litigation and enforcement of director duties, shareholders activism, and competition for corporate chartering. Prerequisites: None. Corporations would be helpful.

Comparative Products Liability Seminar (2 credits) - The February sessions will involve a general introduction to products liability in common law and civil law jurisdictions. The March/April sessions will focus specifically on the Restatement 3rd approach to products liability and how it differs from the approach in Australia and the Pacific Rim. Taught two evenings per week for four weeks. Prerequisites: LSV I & II.

Comparative Torts Mini Course/Seminar (2 credits) – Important contemporary issues in tort law will be examined from an international comparative perspective. Class sessions taught by distinguished visiting torts experts from around the world both live in the NSU classroom and live from a similar class at Washburn University through video conferencing. Students from both schools will have a chance to interact and discuss the topics. Taught two evenings per week for four weeks. Prerequisites: Torts, LSV I & II.

Computers and the Law (2 credits) – An examination of the following topics: understanding the technology, discovery and evidence; legal research on the internet; new forms of technology/information protection; living with "big brother" - privacy and business issues; computers, e-mail, the internet, and related technologies. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses and Constitutional Law II.

Condominium Law (3 credits) - This course is designed to acquaint students with the legal and practical considerations in selecting the condominium format of development. The course includes an in-depth look at condominium operations, from board liability and responsibility to enforcement of covenants and restrictions. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Property and Contracts.

Conflict of Laws (3 credits) - The primary focus of this course is an analysis of when a court may or should adopt the law of another jurisdiction. Other topics studied include the state's obligation to recognize the judgments of sister states and the limits of personal jurisdiction. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses, Family Law, and Wills and Trusts.

Constitutional Decisionmaking Seminar (2 or 3 credits) - This seminar is designed to develop an understanding of the dynamics of the judicial decisionmaking processes of the United States Supreme Court. It focuses on a variety of substantive areas of constitutional law. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Constitutional Law I and LSV I & II.

Constitutional Law I (4 credits) - A study of the Constitution of the United States, its interpretation, and its application. Topics include developments relating to judicial review of legislative action, problems of federalism, limits on the power of government regulation, and the protection of civil and political rights. Prerequisites: None.

Constitutional Law II (2 credits) - An in-depth consideration of the federal constitutional protection of freedom of speech and freedom of religion, with an emphasis on freedom of speech in the political context. Prerequisites: Passing grade in Constitutional Law I. Criminal Law and Torts are recommended.

Construction Law (2 credits) - This course investigates the construction process and the legal relationships among the participants, e.g., developer, architect, engineer, contractor, subcontractor, lender, creditors, insurers, bond issuer and claimant, government inspectors, occupants, etc. It focuses on such topics as construction contracts, bidding on contracts, contracts... with architects and engineers, liens, and responsibility for payment and for defects. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Contracts and Property.

Consumer Protection (2 or 3 credits) - An examination of the regulation of unfair and deceptive trade practices under the common law, the Federal Trade Commission Act, and the Florida Unfair and Deceptive Trade Practices Act. The course involves an analysis and application of common law principles, federal statutes and case precedent, and Florida statutes and judicial precedent to particular consumer problems. Also offered as a seminar. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses. Co-requisite: Twenty-four hours of volunteer work at the Broward County Consumer Affairs Department.

Contracts (4 credits) - A comprehensive study of the creation, transfer, and termination of contract rights and duties. Prerequisites: None.

Copyright (3 credits) - A thorough study of the scope of federal copyright protection for original works of authorship (including literary, musical, and artistic works, as well as computer software), focusing primarily on these inquiries: What is protected by copyright? What are the statutory requirements for protection? How and when is copyright infringed? Prerequisites: Civil Procedure, Torts and Property

Jewish Law Seminar (2 credits) - A seminar exploring Jewish Law addressing the relationship of human beings to one another and within the context of society, including laws involving government and the judiciary, civil law, and criminal law. The court involves consideration of traditional texts, including the Tanakh (Torah, Writings, Prophets) and the Talmud (Mishnah and Gemara), and its application to present issues. The course addresses the hermeneutical rules of logic applied to interpret these rules and how these principles differs from traditional principles of construction of American statutes. It may covers such diverse topics as the contracts, torts, criminal law, family law, and health law. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I and II.

Judicial Internship Class (1 credit); Judicial Internship (2 credits) - An inquiry into the operation of our courts and overview of the judicial system, its goals and pressures, how juries function, judicial powers and methods, and the role of the judiciary in law reform. This course is coupled with a judicial clerkship, wherein students serve as research clerks to state trial and appellate court judges, federal magistrates, and federal court judges. The one credit class is and the two credit internship is Pass/D/Fail. Prerequisites: 2.2 (3.0 federal district court; 2.8 other federal; 2.6 for DCA; or higher set by judge; passing grades in all first year courses. The one credit judicial internship class is required with the internship. Students intending to take the Judicial Internship course should be aware that all placements are made by the professor and not by the student. Furthermore, students are obligated to attend the mandatory meeting during January of the semester before the summer program begins. Placements will be made by the professor as soon after that meeting as the individual placements can be arranged. The summer program is limited to 20 students.

Jurisprudence (2 or 3 credits) - An analysis of various schools of jurisprudential thought. Prerequisites: If offered as a seminar, passing grade in first year LSV is required.

Juvenile Law (3 credits) - This course studies the juvenile justice system focusing on issues of delinquency, dependency (abuse and neglect), and status offenses (noncriminal misbehavior). Prerequisites: Passing grades in Criminal Procedure and all first year courses except Property.

Labor and Employment Law (3 credits) - This course aims at integrating the law regulating union workplaces (labor law) and non-union workplaces (employment law). While federal law, the National Labor Relations Act, governs unions and their formation, the non-union workplace is regulated by a host of federal and state statutes and by the common law. The third key area covered by this course is the private sector, which can be union or non-union, but which brings to bear Constitutional principles such as due process, equal protection, and freedom of expression. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Constitutional Law I, Contracts, Property, and Torts.

Land Use Planning (2 or 3 credits) - A survey of the various police power techniques available to state and local governments to regulate the development of land. Basic legal concepts underlying land use control, including nuisance and the "takeings" question, will be considered. The course will thoroughly examine various aspects of zoning and subdivision control, as well as more recent innovations in the land use field, including planned unit development and growth management. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Civil Procedure, Property, Constitutional Law I, and Torts. If offered as a seminar, first year LSV is required.

Landlord Tenant Workshop (2 credits) - This course continues the study of landlord-tenant law begun in the basic course on property. In order to provide students with a greater understanding of both commercial and residential relationships, students will draft and negotiate a lease. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Contracts, Torts, Civil Procedure, Property, and LSV I & II.
Law & Economics (2 credits) - This course illustrates the uses and the limitations of economic analysis in representative areas of the law. The topics covered in the course may be drawn from property, family law, contract, tort, criminal law, the legal process (including legislation and civil procedure), general commercial law, and the theory of antitrust. No prior acquaintance with economics or math is assumed; the relevant economic concepts are developed through an examination of particular legal applications.

Law and Education (2 credits) - This course will analyze constitutional, statutory, regulatory, and common law influences on the governance, financing, and administration of elementary and secondary education, with an emphasis on public schools. Issues that may be addressed include the extent to which the state may socialize its students to certain religious, political, and moral values; the extent to which the Constitution, "applied in light of the special characteristics of the school environment", protects freedom of expression, limits searches for evidence of infractions, or requires procedural safeguards before the imposition of sanctions; and the legal and policy concerns arising from the differential treatment of students based on race, ethnicity, sex, disability, socioeconomic status, language, and geographic location. The use and misuse of social science research in resolving some of these issues will also be explored. Where appropriate, the course will analyze the effect that "constitutionalizing" various issues is likely to have on the behavior of complex, bureaucratic, public institutions. This course will also explore some of the legal and policy issues involved in various proposed reforms, e.g., tuition vouchers, charter schools, or standards and "high stakes" testing. Because of the limits of time, only some of the foregoing topics can be studied in depth. This course is an examination course, although one or two short papers may also be assigned during the semester. Prerequisites: Con Law I.

Law & Education Seminar (2 credits) - This seminar will examine the educational rights of individuals with disabilities. The course will focus on the Individuals With Disabilities Education Act. This statute provides children with disabilities with special education and related services within the public school system. The course will also examine §504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the Americans With Disabilities Act of 1990.

In addition to the impact of these acts on the public school system, the course will also examine the rights they provide to students with disabilities attending public and private colleges and universities, as well as students attending primary and secondary schools. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I & II. Civil Procedure and Torts are strongly recommended.

The Law of the European Internal Market (2 credits) - This module is offered as part of a joint program with the law school of Nova Southeastern University, Florida. It will provide students with an opportunity to examine the development and effectiveness of the regulation of the EC internal market. Prerequisite: Be in good academic standing.

Law and Literature Seminar (2 credits) - This course examines the interrelationship of literature and the law. It considers how attorneys may make use of literary techniques and devices and how literary themes impact on the life and practice of the lawyer. It compares approaches of the law and literature to various problems, noting when the human element can properly serve as a tool for the lawyer. Readings come predominantly from poetry, short stories, and drama. Students also learn the need for good writing technique in legal documents. Prerequisites: 2.5 average GPA first year LSV or Ph.D. in English or American Literature.

Law of Managed Health Care (3 Credits) - This course will examine the history of managed care and the legal structures of the organizations that deliver managed care. Specifically, it will evaluate the legal responsibilities and liabilities of the participants from three different, but related, perspectives: those of managed care organizations, health care providers (physicians and hospitals), and patients. Prerequisites: Passing grade in Contracts, Torts, Property, Civil Procedure, LSV I, and LSV II.
Law and Medicine Seminar (2 credits) - This course will examine the interrelationship between the professions of law and medicine in everyday, non-litigation-related matters. In particular, students will examine and debate the need for medical research, the implications of that research on society, the need to protect human subjects of that research, and the struggle to find funding for that research through various means. Prerequisites: passing grades in LSV I and II.

Law & Psychiatry Seminar (2 credits) - A research seminar concerning the relation between legal and mental health systems. Potential topics include proof at law, criminal law, hospitalization, tort liability, agreements and wills, family law, and professional liability of psychotherapists. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I and II.

Law and Society Seminar (2 credits) - This seminar allows students to explore the interface between law and contemporary society. Research topics may be drawn from the arts, physical sciences, social sciences, or the world of work; suitable inquiries include such areas as law and economics, law and film, law and gender, law and history, law and music, law and popular culture, law and race, law and sports, and law and television. Whatever the topic, however, the student will be expected to explain its relationship to the legal system, such as by studying how the two fields have impacted one another or pointing out non-obvious parallels between them. Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV I and II.

The Law of Hazardous Waste Remediation (3 credits) - An overview of the federal law of hazardous waste remediation under the Comprehensive Environmental Response Compensation and Liability Act (CERCLA). Prerequisites: passing grades in Property and Torts.

Law Office Management (2 credits) - An extensive survey of the business side of operating a law firm. Topics covered include business set-up of a law office, real estate, technology, Rules Regulating the Florida Bar, Trust Accounting, Billing and Collecting, Marketing and Advertising. Intended for those seeking to open their own firms, or work in a small firm setting.

Lawyering Skills and Values I & II (3 credits each) - Lawyering Skills and Values (LSV), which replaces Legal research And Writing (LR&W), introduces an innovative approach to legal education, one that integrates legal theory with practice, professionalism, and technology. Students are assigned to "law offices", where they learn a variety of practice skills within the more realistic context of client files. The first year program combines instruction in legal research, writing and analysis with other lawyering skills such as interviewing, counseling and negotiating, legal drafting and pre-trial practice. This course is primarily electronic. First-year students use laptop computers in class and at home to access the LSV Syllabus on the LSV web page, which in turn provides links to client file materials and supplementary reading on the Internet. They also use the Lexis-Nexis Legal research and Writing Course Kit, an electronic package available only on CD-ROM, and participate in threaded discussions on their professor's LSV Discussion Board. Prerequisites: passing grade in LSV I is a prerequisite to LSV II.

Lawyering Skills and Values III & IV (3 credits each) - This second year program requires students to elect between a transactional track and a litigation track. In each term, students encounter forms of alternative dispute resolution, use the latest law office technology, and resolve ethical issues that lawyers typically encounter in the practice of law. Students electing the transactional track will focus on business drafting in the fall semester and business practice in the winter semester. Students electing the litigation track will focus on pre-trial and trial advocacy in the first semester and on trial advocacy, appellate advocacy, and appellate mediation in the winter semester. Prerequisites: LSV I & II. Passing grade in LSV III is a prerequisite to LSV VI.

Legal Drafting Workshop (2 credits) - Students prepare documents in the context of ongoing transactions. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses, Corporations, and Wills & Trusts. Not open to Transactional Track LSV III & IV.

Legislation (2 credits) – The study of statutes and their sources. The course focuses on statutory interpretation which necessarily includes examining the legislative process. Prerequisites: None.

Legislation Seminar (2 credits) - This seminar will focus on how courts interpret statutes, and how the methods and tools of interpretation are related to the process by which statutes come into existence. Each student will write a research paper, present that paper to the group, and participate in a legislative simulation. Prerequisite: LSV I & II.

Local Government (2 or 3 credits) - An exploration of issues that arise as a result of the exercise of state and local governmental powers in a federal system. Questions of local governmental autonomy, municipal incorporation and annexation, and intergovernmental conflict and coordination will be treated. The roles of key participants in the local government process, including legislators, judges, and executive branch officials, will also be examined. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Civil Procedure, Constitutional Law I, and Torts.

Mediation Theory and Practice (1 credit) course, graded; (1 credit) placement, P/D/F – Students will learn the theory of mediation, and will develop and practice mediation skills while observing and mediating actual cases. Students will study ethical and legal issues arising from the mediation process and resulting roles and obligations. Both credits are required to be taken together. Prerequisites: Successful completion of 28 credits and a 2.0 GPA.

Medical Malpractice (2 or 3 credits) - This course provides students with an overview of medical malpractice litigation from the plaintiff and defendant perspective. In particular, this course will examine the Florida Medical Malpractice statute and other related tort law concepts. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Evidence and Torts (and first year LSV when offered as a seminar).

Natural Resources Law (2 credits) - This is a workshop devoted to natural resources, which are those subject to depletion. Discussion focuses on current topics of interest in Florida for half of each class; the other half on the principles of federal or international law on a similar problem. Traditional topics of mining, timber and fisheries are expanded to new areas like the growth management approach to protecting natural resources, and the genetic alteration of crops. Prerequisite: Passing grade in property law first-year.

Negotiable Instruments (3 credits) - A study of Articles 3 and 4 of the Uniform Commercial Code, including essentials of negotiability, transfer, superior rights of a holder in due course, defenses, liability on endorsements and warranties, bank collections, and the relationship between bank and customer. The course also explore modern payment media: credit cards, debit cards, and commercial wire transfers. Prerequisites: None.

Negotiating (2 credits) – An in-depth analysis off theories and tactics of negotiations. The course fosters students’ negotiating skills through classroom discussion sessions and simulations. Prerequisites: None.

Pass/D/Fail) and three 2 credit courses: a skills course, a substantive course, and an interdisciplinary/policy course (6 cr. graded). Prerequisites: Passing grades in LSV Litigation Track, Evidence, Professional Responsibility, and a 2.0 GPA. Pre-Trial Practice and Trial Advocacy may be substituted for LSV Litigation Track.

Post-Conviction Litigation Workshop (2 credits) - This class is designed to provide students with hands on experience in real post-conviction litigation. The Workshop is run in conjunction with The Innocence Project, which is directed by Barry Scheck and Peter Neufeld in New York. Students will learn the science principles necessary in order to litigate post-conviction DNA cases and the federal and state law in this relatively new field. During this time they also will review transcripts of currently pending DNA cases, make contact with the defendants, the forensics experts, and all other relevant parties, and participate in the litigation of those cases. While the focus of most in-class discussion will be on the law in these post-conviction proceedings and on the status of the pending cases, students also will learn case management, file maintenance, fact-finding techniques and appellate practice skills. The students also will be in contact with practitioners who currently are representing the Workshop’s clients. The Workshop will be limited to ten students and will meet once a week for two hours.

Pre-Trial Practice (3 credits) - Adversarial pairs of students will draft pleadings and motions, submit memoranda of law, and orally defend their positions in motion calendar arguments. Written discovery and oral depositions form another major component of Pre-Trial Practice. The course is designed to simulate the actual pre-trial process by which more than 90 percent of all cases are settled without trial. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses and Evidence. NOTE: This class is not open to students enrolled in Litigation track LSV

Probate Workshop (2 credits) - An advanced integration of the law of property, trusts, and estates exploring the administration of estates and the resolution of claims to estates. Prerequisites: Passing grade in Corporations (can be a co-requisite for students with undergraduate business
Selected Issues in Caribbean Law Workshop (2 credits) - This workshop incorporates into the curriculum the Caribbean Law Initiative ("CLI"), in which students from NSU, Florida Coastal University, Texas Southern University (Thurgood Marshall Law School) and University of the West Indies (Norman Manley Law School) conduct research and prepare memoranda for Caribbean governments on legal issues facing those governments. Those issues have included privatization, international law and incorporating international legal standards in health, civil rights, etc. into domestic law. In the past, students have worked closely with the Jamaican Attorney General's office and have presented their research and written memoranda at a meeting with the Attorney General's office in Kingston, Jamaica. We expect this close cooperation with Caribbean government officials to continue. This workshop provides a valuable opportunity for students to develop international and transnational legal research and writing skills necessary for legal analysis of current issues within the Caribbean legal system. Students will learn the practical application of comparative legal analysis while becoming conversant with regional and transnational legal materials. These capabilities will enable students to broaden their legal skills beyond U.S. legal matters to address international and transnational legal topics. The course may require a trip to a Caribbean country as field work. In the past, this cost has been absorbed by the school, although there is no guarantee that the school will fund the trip in the future. Prerequisites: LSV I & II; Constitutional Law I; Permission of the Instructor.

Sentencing Workshop (2 credits) - Trends indicate that the vast majority of criminal cases are resolved via some form of plea agreement rather than through trial. This workshop will explore practical aspects of the law relating plea negotiations to the sentencing guidelines in effect in state and federal criminal courts. Emphasis will be on acquiring the necessary skills and familiarity with sentencing issues for successfully prosecuting or defining a criminal case prior to trial. Prerequisites: Criminal Law; Criminal Procedure; Evidence.

Sentencing Workshop: Death Penalty (2 credits) – An examination of the unique issues involved in determining penalty in capital cases and in the direct appeal and collateral review of death sentences. Students will work with fact patterns and draft motions and sentencing memoranda as advocates, and will write a judicial opinion in small group "courts." Prerequisites: Passing grades in Constitutional Law I and Criminal Law.

Sports and Entertainment Law (2 or 3 credits) - This course explores the legal issues in professional and amateur sports, as well as in the entertainment industries of film, music, television, and publishing. The first half of the course, which focuses on sports law, addresses legal principles involving tort, criminal, contract, constitutional, labor and antitrust law. Particular attention will be paid to cases involving free agency, the reserve system and player contracts, violence in sports, and sex discrimination in amateur athletics. The second half of the course examines issues such as credit and compensation for performers, moral rights of creative talents to control the integrity of their work product, and contemporary legal issues involving various segments of the entertainment business. This course may also be offered as Entertainment Law or Sports Law. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses. Not open to students who have taken or are taking Sports Law or Entertainment Law.

Sports Law I (2 credits) - This course provides an introduction to the field of sports law by examining the legal rights and responsibilities of agents, team owners, and players.

Sports Law II (2 credits) - This course describes the legal rights and responsibilities of sports fans, coaches, doctors, referees, reporteres, and gamblers. Sports Law I is not a prerequisite for this course.

Street Law (1 or 2 credits) - Law students working under faculty supervision serve as teachers of a course entitled "Street Law" in local high schools and middle schools. This is intended to provide the members of the community with an understanding of their legal rights and responsibilities. The law student will attend a weekly seminar at the Law Center and teach three hours per week. Prerequisites: 2.0 GPA at preregistration and when term begins.

Supervised Research (1 or 2 credits) - Research and production of a scholarly paper on a selected topic under the supervision of a faculty member conversant with the field. Full-time faculty. Prerequisites: Passing grades in first year LSV; 2.0 GPA at registration and when term begins; permission of full-time faculty member; upperclass status. (40 or more credits required to take Supervised Research in summer school).

Torts (4 credits) - A study of the traditional and emerging concepts of rights and liabilities arising from conduct that results in harm to others. Prerequisites: None.

Trademarks and Unfair Competition (3 credits) - A thorough study of the law governing the protection of trademarks and service marks, including the following topics: protectable and unprotectable marks (and other protectable product features that serve as trademarks); requirements for common law protection and federal registration; advantages of federal registration; establishing a claim for infringement; remedies for infringement; the related concept of trademark dilution; and international aspects of trademark protection. Prerequisites: Civil procedure, Constitutional Law. Prerequisite or corequisite: Con Law II.

Travel Law (2 credits) - This interdisciplinary course provides a comprehensive introduction to the most current and significant international and domestic legal issues facing the travel industry. Among the subjects covered are the distinct legal liabilities of airlines, cruise ship operators, travel agents, inn keepers, and tour operators. The course will include a significant focus on the sometimes unique litigation strategies employed by lawyers representing industry players and consumers in high-stakes cases. Prerequisites: Passing grades in all first year courses.

Trial Advocacy (3 credits) - The tactics and strategy involved in various phases of civil and criminal trials including opening statements, direct and cross-examination of witnesses, expert witnesses, use of documentary and demonstrative evidence, and closing arguments. Extensive use is made of video equipment to tape the daily exercises. Students participate as members of two-person trial teams and participate in two full trials. Preferences: Summer/Fall—3rd year students; Winter—2nd year students. This course is also offered in an intensive inter-session format; Intensive Trial Advocacy. Preferences: May—2nd year students; January—3rd year students. Prerequisites: Passing grade in Evidence (and 2.0 GPA at registration and when course begins for Intensive).

NOTE: This class is not open to students enrolled in Litigation track LSV.

Trial Advocacy Techniques (2 credits) - This course seeks to build upon the introductory skills students have been introduced in LSV Litigation. This is a learning - by - doing class in which students will concentrate upon the principles of direct & cross examination, introduction of exhibits, expert witnesses, opening statements, closing argument, theory of the case and theme selection. Voir dire will not be covered. Prerequisites: Evidence, 2L LSV Litigation track (preference to 2L in winter, 3L in fall)

Trusts (2 credits) - Examination of the rules governing the creation and elements of express trusts, both private and charitable, rights of beneficiaries, termination of trusts, and the duties and liabilities of the trustee; and implied trusts, both resulting and constructive. Prerequisites: None.

UK Employment Law (1 credit) - This module is offered as part of a joint program with the law school of Nova Southeastern University, Florida. It will enable students to understand the legal relationship between employers and employees in the UK. Students will be able to critically evaluate the rights of employees not to be unlawfully dismissed or discriminated against. Students will also be able to evaluate the role played by the law in the workplace. Prerequisite: Be in good academic standing.

UK Family Law Issues (2 credits) - This course will provide students with an opportunity to examine specific topics relating to the legal regulation of the family including the definition of family, the position of children violence and family breakdown. Prerequisite: Be in good academic standing.

Unincorporated Business Entities (2 credits) – This course will cover partnerships (general and Limited), limited liability partnerships, and limited liability companies. It is open for credit to students who have not taken a combined agency/Partnership course. This will not be a problem for students who took Agency at NSU at anytime after Fall 1994 or who never took it. Students who took a combined Agency/Partnership course elsewhere may audit the Unincorporated Business Entities course. Prerequisites: Passing grades in Contracts and Torts.

Venezuelan Law and Policy (2 credits) - This course provides an overview of the Venezuelan legal system and the civil law system generally as practiced in Latin America (to the extent generalizations can be made). There will be visiting speakers who are experts on their respective areas of law and the class itself will be led by Gustavo Mata, a professor and a practicing lawyer. Prerequisite: Be in good academic standing.

Wetlands Law and Regulation (2 credits) – An overview of wetlands law and regulation at federal, state and local levels. The course will begin an introductory examination of the nature and ecological functions of wetlands areas. It will consider aspects of federal statutes that regulate wetlands dredging and development, including the Rivers and Harbors Act, Clean Water Act, and the Endangered Species Act, as well as the roles and jurisdiction of the U.S. Army Corps. Of Engineers, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency and other federal agencies and departments. Private property rights, regulatory takings and mitigation banking will be treated, as will the state environmental resource permit process, and certain local wetlands programs.

Wills (2 credits) – Examination of the rules governing intestate and testate distribution of property; execution, alteration, and revocation of wills; the rights of immediate family members and the contest of wills. Prerequisites: None.

Wills and Drafting Lab: Working in teams, students will draft a variety of client letters and will clauses based on facts presented from the files of hypothetical clients. Topics covered in drafting exercises will include intestacy and the client’s current will; rules intended to protect a decedent’s family members; and preventing intestacy. Prerequisites: only open to 2L evening division students who are concurrently enrolled in Wills.

Wills and Trusts (4 credits) - Examination of the rules governing intestate and testate distribution of property; execution, alteration, and revocation of wills; the rights of immediate family members and the contest of wills; examination of the rules governing the creation and elements of express trusts, both private and charitable, rights of beneficiaries, termination of trusts, and the duties and liabilities of the trustee; and implied trusts, both resulting and constructive. Prerequisites: None.

Women and the Law Seminar (2 credits) – This course provides a broad perspective of gender issues in a variety of areas of the law, including contracts, torts, criminal law, and property. It examines various jurisprudential theories regarding gender issues, including the debate regarding formal equality versus substantial equality. Areas of the law such as domestic violence and rape, which are not covered in depth in other courses, will be emphasized. Other issues may include the doctrine of comparable worth, sexual harassment in the work place, sex role stereotypes, the economic consequences of divorce and child custody, biological reproduction, prostitution, and pornography. Legal problems are transcending national borders. Business operates globally. Multinational organizations assert increasing authority over the domestic law of member States. Human rights abuses are often addressed through regional or global legal structures.

Increasingly, the well-trained lawyer is a person who understands international legal structures and legal systems and who operates effectively in different cultural settings.

Nova Southeastern University Shepard Broad School of Law offers a wide variety of international and comparative learning opportunities including courses, clinical opportunities, research opportunities and summer law programs abroad. This page is your gateway to our international and comparative law programs.
