FALL 2016
A message from Edwina A. Ward, Graduate SGA President

Greetings CAHSS Family,

It is indeed a privilege and an honor to serve as your 2016-2017 SGA President. This semester has inspired me to focus on three pillars. To engage the both online and residential students, to seek diverse leadership opportunities for all students, and to build strong teams of dedicated, committed, and compassionate leaders. Our work has just begun, and with your commitment to excellence, we will continue to be the change we wish to see in the world.

This year we kicked-off SGA activities by hosting the first-ever elected board members CAHSS Swearing-In Ceremony. During welcome week, students enjoyed great food and networking. We were successful in using technology to connect with online students during the welcome week. At Orientation, I spoke to all incoming students to encourage and invite them to become active SGA student leaders. We were proud to host during Residential Institute the Diplomatic Reception, and Jazz Night event featuring special guest saxophonist Remy Martinez, followed by a wealth of knowledge shared during the 5th Annual Interdepartmental Symposium. Four NSU students presented topics of interest during lunch, and we closed out the week with a heart-to-heart World Leaders Dialogue. After this great event, we launched CAHSS Dialogues and Coffee Speaker Series to invites graduate students to listen, learn, and think about how they will make a difference in their communities.

The highlights of this semester were filled with high expectations of academic success, warm hugs, happy faces, and peacebuilding topics. Next semester we plan to continue to use new forms of technology to host amazing SGA sponsored events for you. Have a happy holiday! See you next year.

Proud Servant Leader,

Peren Sabuncu, Graduate SGA,
Vice-President 2016- 2017

Hello everyone!
It has been a pleasure serving you as a member of the Graduate SGA Executive Board. I look forward to building many long-lasting relationships in my time here. I am always intrigued by people's individual stories! I believe that we are all tied together in a beautiful fabric of cultures that can only be expressed through intricate patterns of communication.

It's safe to say that I have been exposed to many different cultures and that is where I get my passion for the international world. I was born in Izmir, Turkey but only lived there for 10 months before moving to Kuwait (until age 9) and then on to Abu Dhabi, United Arab Emirates (until 18), with a year in Christchurch, New Zealand added to the mix. I've been in Miami ever since I stepped foot onto University of Miami's beautiful campus as a freshman. Even though I graduated with a Bachelor of Architecture, I pursued a master's degree in International Administration and Public Relations. I have worked in both fields, but currently, I work as a project manager and architectural designer for an architecture firm. It may seem like my current position is unrelated to my current pursuit of a Ph.D in Conflict Analysis and Resolution at Nova Southeastern University, but I believe that conflict arises any and everywhere. Foreign policies and governments around the world are also shaped by people from a variety of backgrounds. Most importantly, conflict should be viewed at the most basic human level before it can be understood at any other level. Let us practice, teach, and appreciate self-awareness, because it is the only way true humanity can be understood. In the words of Deepak Chopra, “You must find the place inside yourself where nothing is impossible.”

Jimai Njodzeka, CAHSS Graduate SGA
Treasurer, 2016-2017

It has been an honor and quite an experience to serve as your Graduate SGA treasurer. I have learnt all my life that there is beauty in service and growth in team work. CAHSS graduate SGA encourages students of her college to engage in activities which bring them closer to their peers, faculty and the entire NSU community and beyond. It is in the little contributions we make that great differences and results are attained in the end.

Never doubt that a small group of thoughtful, committed citizens can change the world; indeed, it’s the only thing that ever has.
— Margaret Mead
“Sharlita Millington-Dunbar, mostly referred by many as "Shar," I am from the Virgin Islands (British) located in the north eastern end of Caribbean. My work experience involves financial services, risk governance, regulatory compliance and investment policy legislation. What led me to this course (and by extension, to the PHD program) was its core foundation and principles, its uniqueness and value added components to the many conflicted and tense situations faced in Western Civilizations. My aim is to help bring peace to many of these issues, starting with those I am currently faced with personally and those issues within the borders of my home country. I also intend to make my mark here in the USA and globally.”

“Maria Spillari, I am from Guatemala, Central America. I have just finished my Bachelor’s degree in Psychology at Trinity International University and I am now in the Master’s Program in Conflict Analysis and Resolution. The reason I decided to pursue this program is to become a professional in the field and to fulfill my goal to become a published author. As I shared with the class, my family and I faced the horror of a kidnapping in 1996. My (then) husband and my youngest child, who was 6 years old at the time, were held captive for one month under horrendous circumstances. It was then when I realized the importance of conflict resolution, which, in some situations can be a life or death factor, as in the case of my family twenty years ago. Years later, I decided to write an account of this experience with the purpose of encouraging those who were facing difficult circumstances, with special focus on my Christian faith. I must clarify that this narrative was written before I had pursued any college education. I did receive good feedback from people facing challenging situations, but I am aware that pursuing higher education will make the necessary improvement in my future literary work. I am excited to start this journey at Nova SE University and to have the opportunity to learn with people who come from different walks of life. Wishing the best to you all!”

"Keva Farquharson, experienced commercial Banker. My degrees include a double major Bachelor’s Degree in Banking and Financial services and a Master’s degree in International business, the latter of which was obtained at Nova. My experience includes a decade in the industry working not only in Florida but both in New York and Massachusetts. The catalyst for pursuing a Doctoral Degree in Conflict Resolution is that when I look at my company, the C suite does not consist of persons who look like me. They’re are rarely women let alone African American who are like golden unicorns in the industry. The idea, it all leads with an idea, is that I can use this learned experience to be the catalyst for change. Change is happening just not as fast as it should be, which is my ultimate goal."

“Leonel Wise, I was born in Bogota, Colombia. Nonetheless, I grew up in Hollywood, Florida. I am a Gulf War Veteran and lived in many exciting places around the world. I am currently a college professor and have been teaching for over seven years. I enjoy teaching, more so when you know and see the impact you have on your students.”
POST-PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS DIALOGUE

“I was proud to be asked to co-moderate this experiential session, but gained so much more by opting to become a participant in my group. By doing so, I was able to implement many tools I have learned throughout my graduate program, especially those from Human Factors and Facilitation. What was most memorable, however, was to observe one non-DCRS student evolve from a fear (almost panic) about the described facilitated dialog process to being the most open and animated participant in the room! To see someone experience the process and the outcomes/insights in the way our department leads (Robin, Cheryl, Mary Hope, and Neil) envisioned was very gratifying. This student also said she aimed to tell her own department about the success of the process. That has to be the ultimate return: passing it forward.”
Kathy Watkins-Richardson,
PhD Student, Production Editor,
Peace and Conflict Studies Journal

“I am thankful I had the opportunity to attend the "Listen, Speak & Learn" Post-Election talk. This event made me feel like part of a family. The professors, students and staff members made people feel comfortable. They were able to listen and give their complete attention. I gained perception from hearing various people share their input. Something so simple as just sharing and listening was powerful! I feel thankful to be a part of a campus community that offers events like this. I hope similar events are offered- I would happily return if the event was held again!’

News from College Student Affairs, CSA
By Genesis Lopez

College Student Affairs, students had a strong representation at NASPA Florida Drive-in. Our case study team took 3rd place at NASPA-FL. Also, the CSA students volunteered as chaperones at NSU homecoming dance. CSA also have held 6 socials for members to get to know each other. Such as “Friendsgiving” and a “Secret Snowflake”. The majority of the CSA students are also Graduate assistants therefore, the student’s involvement is high within campus. The students have engaged in different intermural sports. CSA students directed and volunteered “Finsfootball” where NSU partnered up with the Miami Dolphins and were able to take students to the home games.
In October, Stable Place Inc., an equine-assisted therapy program affiliated with NSU’s family therapy department, began offering equine-facilitated psychotherapy (EFP) sessions to youth in the foster care system. This program includes a research component that is being conducted in partnership with Florida International University. While contributing to the growing field of EFP research, the program is also making a positive impact on the lives of children in South Florida. Way to go Stable Place!

The department also welcomes the development of the doctoral family therapy club (DFTC). The DFTC aims to offer various activities to doctoral students in the department, including dissertation workshops and town hall meetings, among other events. Most recently, the DFTC hosted a Thanksgiving event (“Friends-giving”) that brought together many students to share a meal and holiday cheer. The DFTC is led by faculty advisor Christine Beliard and its board members include Jessica Taylor, Porshia Cunningham, Nicole Linardi, Ben-Gassendi St Juste, and Portiaatrice Morse. We look forward to more events hosted by the DFTC. Thank you for all of your hard work this semester!

In closing the semester, the department has continued with their annual sponsorship of a toy drive for children at a local school. This year, the department has extended a special focus to recent immigrant children from Haiti. With the recent increase in concerns for minority populations, the toys will hopefully promote inclusivity and compassion. Thank you for your thoughtfulness and initiative!
Dissertation Defenses

- Dr. Frederick W. Turner II defended his dissertation on September 29, 2016. Dr. Turner’s dissertation was entitled “How Far is Too Far? Opinions From the 114th Congress U.S. House of Representatives, Chiefs of Police, and Local Police Officers on the Militarization of Policing.”
- Dr. Titania Mack Parker defended her dissertation October 31, 2016. Dr. Parker’s dissertation was entitled “Understanding the Association of Witnessing Violence as a Child, Trauma, Subsequent Antisocial Behavior and Resilience in African American College Students.”

SGA Programs/Projects I Participated In:

- Sept. 23, 2016: 35th Annual Residential Institute (RI): SGA Social (via teleconference)

Future Goals

- Encourage greater CJ Ph.D. online student participation in SGA and other NSU-sponsored programs and events. Since most CJ Ph.D. students are non-residential, turnout would be tied to the availability of online/teleconferencing options for participation.
- Coordinate with other SGA board members whose academic programs are primarily online to make available for online graduate students NSU souvenirs/mementos, possibly to be included as part of admitted students’ acceptance/welcome packets, and also made available to current students. This idea was proposed by a student in the CJ Ph.D. program. The rationale for this proposal is that online students not residing near campus (some reside out of state and even out of the country) have limited opportunities to purchase or receive complimentary NSU paraphernalia, but nevertheless wish to have something to show their “Shark Pride” and solidarity with the NSU community, despite their status as distance education students.

Other News

- Homecoming week was from Friday, November 4 through to Friday November 11, 2016. Alumni from the various departments came back for a moment of reflection, networking and just plain catching up. The college hosted a wine and cheese reception in the Cotilla Gallery, whilst, Paralegal & Criminal Justice Fall Social hosted a reception the following Monday.

FACULTY Spotlight

Congratulations!
This year Dr. Bertha Amisi recently submitted an essay entry for the International Encyclopedia of Intercultural Communication and it has been accepted for publication.

Congratulations!
During the Fall of 2016 Dr. Bastidas was awarded a small grant by Fundacion Funecorobles from Colombia. The purpose of the grant is to evaluate new economic opportunities that could be feasible to implement in the Cauca Valle Department. The target population are small farmers and youth groups, who could be affected by the political situation in the new post-conflict environment. The project also contemplates strengthening the conflict resolution skills, as well as the leadership skills of the targeted groups.

The Department of History and Political Science would like to extend sincere congratulations to our very own Professor Charles Zelden. Professor Zelden has been awarded the William Nelson Cromwell Foundation Senior Research Grant to work on his new book - a biography tentatively titled The Judge Intuitive: Joseph C. Hutcheson, Jr., Southern Federal Judge. The grant will support Professor Zelden’s research in archives located along the East Coast, in the mid-West as well as in Texas and the South. Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr. had a long career as a federal judge that lasted from 1918 to 1968. He spent twelve years on the District Court and then sat on the Firth Circuit Court of Appeals. In 1946, Hutcheson was co-chair of the Anglo-American Committee on Refugees in Palestine. As well, he was on the short list of candidates considered for appointment to the Supreme Court. As Professor Zelden writes in the South Texas Law Review, Hutchenson “fought for justice and individual liberty” and he helped “define federal law in the South and the nation.” (39 S. Tex. L. Rev. 905, 918 (1998))

Writers Tip of the Day

“Writers learn a lot about themselves from the way they write, which is positive. Remaining open in the face of confusion helps writers conceptualize and write better.”

- Tommie Boyd, Ph.D.
Accreditation for CAHSS Ph.D. Program in Family Therapy Renewed by COAMFTE

“The Ph.D. Program in the Department of Family Therapy (DFT) has been accredited again by the Commission on Accreditation of Marriage and Family Therapy Education (COAMFTE) for 2016 – 2022

This accreditation (http://www.coamfte.org/iMIS15/coamfte/) is “both a process and a condition. The process, or the act of accrediting, entails assessing a program’s operations through compliance with specified professional standards developed by a national consensus of professionals in the field. The condition, or the state of being accredited, provides a credential to the public which attests that a program has accepted and is fulfilling its commitment to educational quality.”

It is impressive to see the program reaccredited without stipulations, an indicator for its firm student-centric commitment and sustained success over the years. Please join me in congratulating our colleagues (http://cahss.nova.edu/faculty/index.html?filter=ft), students, alumni, and community partners for this remarkable recognition.”

Stolzenberg-Doan Annual Lecture

This year’s lecture will feature Samson Kambalu, Ph.D. Kambalu is a London-based, Malawian conceptual artist, ethnomusicologist and writer, whose work includes site-specific installations, video, performance art and novels. Kambalu humorously challenges canonical ideas about the history of ideas, art and religion while exploring issues of identity and freedom of expression. His work is informed by his Malawi culture, his fascination with German philosopher Friedrich Nietzsche and the Protestant tradition of inquiry, criticism and dissent. Kambalu screens his films in specially designed installations that complement the spirit of the films.

“Have the courage to follow your heart and intuition. They somehow know what you truly want to become.” – Steve Jobs
The Office of Career Development supports Nova Southeastern University’s undergraduate students, graduate students, and alumni in the implementation of successful career planning.

All NSU students have the opportunity to take advantage of the following services:

CAREER ADVISEMENT
This service provides an opportunity for students to work one-on-one with a career adviser who can assist with:
- Job correspondence including: resume, cover letter, and CV
- Interviewing skills
- Graduate school planning and Personal Statement development
- Nationwide and local career search

INTERNSHIP ADVISEMENT
Looking for job experience before you graduate? Let us assist you with your internship search and find the best experience to boost your career.

MOCK INTERVIEW PROGRAM
Is that big job interview coming up soon? Let us put you at ease with our Mock Interview Program. Submit a cover letter, resume, and job description of your choice in preparation for a videotape mock interview with a career adviser. We will provide you with the feedback and skills necessary to land that job.

DROP-IN ADVISEMENT
So, you don’t have an appointment. No need to worry. “Drop-In” is a great opportunity to meet one-on-one with a career adviser and serves as your first step in the counseling process. This advisement session can address many of your immediate needs and determine your need for additional advisement. “Drop-In” lasts approximately 15 minutes and is on a first come first serve basis. (Located in the Horvitz and DeSantis Buildings).

On-Campus Recruitment
These events provide an opportunity for students to network with employer: Employer Information Sessions, Employer-Hosted Workshops, On-Campus Interviews, Career Fairs, and Networking Events.

ONLINE INTERACTIVE CAREER AND DROP-IN ADVISEMENT
If you live more than 30 miles away, you can call in for a Drop-In Advisement session or schedule an interactive career advisement phone appointment. A Career Adviser can interactively access your document and work with you as if you were actually in the office.

CAREER RESOURCES
The Office of Career Development has the resources to boost your career all found on www.nova.edu/career.
- Career Workshops/Training Sessions:
- Career Library
  - Visit our collection of resources regarding career planning, job search strategies, guides for writing resumes, improving interviewing skills, and employer directories.
- Handshake (https://nova.joinhandshake.com/)
  - Apply for jobs posted exclusively to NSU students and alumni.

Online Interactive Services are available for NSU students and alumni living outside of a 30-mile radius from the NSU main campus.
NEW JOB AND INTERNSHIP Check out the new job and internship platform called Handshake, which will allow you to apply for positions, RSVP for career events & workshops on campus and access valuable career resources. Greetings from our Graduate SGA Advisor

Greetings CAHSS Community,

As the Advisor of the Graduate CAHSS SGA I would like to congratulate the great group of students that are part of the executive board and program representatives of our SGA for the wonderful work they have done during the fall of 2016. It is not an easy job to juggle studies, work, personal responsibilities, and in addition volunteer to enhance the academic experiences of our student body. The commitment shown is worthy of recognition. As we move forward with our planned activities for the rest of the academic year I would like to invite all the CAHSS community to join us in our efforts to make sure all our work reflects the core values of NSU, always in search for a more cohesive college.

“From the Dean’s Desk”

Greetings, colleagues, students, alumni, and community partners!

In light of post-election dynamics on and off campus, I am taking this opportunity first to reaffirm NSU’s core values and CAHSS's dedication to inclusive learning community development. With pride, NSU as an independent majority-minority academic institution, is also part of the Association of American Colleges and Universities (AAC&U) that published “Reaffirming a Deep and Abiding Commitment” on November 15th:

“The Association of American Colleges and Universities’ mission of making liberal education and inclusive excellence the foundation for institutional purpose and educational practice is grounded in the conviction that a deepening engagement with diverse perspectives is fundamental to a flourishing democracy. AAC&U stands alongside its nearly 1,400 members in reaffirming a deep and abiding commitment to the values of diversity, inclusion, and equity as critical to the wellbeing of our democratic culture and as the cornerstones of excellence in liberal education” (http://www.aacu.org/about/statements/presidential/reaffirming).

I would like to invite you to reflect on various socioeconomic complexities and human challenges facing our country and our globe, from multidisciplinary, multi-professional, and multicultural perspectives. Let’s comparing notes with each other, participating in the Campus Diversity Dialogs and CAHSS Intellectual Conversations, and adopting more promising practice models.

My heartfelt acknowledgment also goes to several of our academic programs for their remarkable milestones:

- The 5th Anniversary -- M.S. in Developmental Disabilities, M.A. in Gerontology, B.S. in Human Services Administration, and B.A. in Political Science;

- The 10th Anniversary -- B.A. in International Studies, M.A. in Composition, Rhetoric, and Digital Media (CRDM), M.S. in College Student Affairs (CSA), and Campus Diversity Dialogs;

- The 35th Residential Institute (RI) in the Department of Conflict Resolution Studies and the Department of Multidisciplinary Studies; and COA’s Reaccreditation for Ph.D. in Family Therapy to 2022.

Congratulations!

Happy and Healthy Holiday Season 2017!
