DR. MITCHELL BRINGS SPECIALIZED TRAINING THROUGH “NOVA” CLUSTER CONCEPT

Donald Mitchell, who received his Ed.D. and Ed.M. degrees in Educational Administration in 1947 and 1953 at the Harvard Graduate School of Education, has come to Nova University to head up Nova's Ed.D. program.

Called the “Nova University National Ed.D. Program for Educational Leaders,” this new degree offering is stirring more and more interest over the country with approximately 250 students enrolled in seven cluster areas.

This new and unique three-year off-campus program for qualified professional school administrators is known as the “Nova Cluster” concept. It allows those seeking this advanced training to continue to work at home in their own way utilizing special study guides. It covers a three-year period.

Campus to Student

In effect, Nova brings the campus, the curriculum and the professor to the student. Once a month the professor flies to the candidates' area and meets with a cluster of the doctoral candidates for approximately eight hours of instruction, in small groups.

The rest of the time each student works alone under the supervision of a qualified local coordinator.

The only time these students will have to be physically present on the campus will be for symposia, once each year for the first two years, and for final examinations, (written and oral) and to present dissertations.

There are now seven available Nova clusters in Fort Lauderdale; Nassau County, New York; Hartford, Connecticut; Solano County, California; Jacksonville, Florida; Atlanta, Georgia and Dallas, Texas. More are contemplated as the demand increases.

Dr. Mitchell did his undergraduate study at the University of New Hampshire and Massachusetts State College. He is married, has two children, and has just acquired a home in Plantation.

The past 30 years have been busy ones for Dr. Mitchell. He was a principal and teacher in Massachusetts, then as an Infantry officer in World War II he spent three years in the European Theater. He was a specialist in school district organization; and for four years in the 1950’s, was Assistant and then Associate Director, Center for Field Studies, Harvard Graduate School of Education.

Since 1965 he has been Executive Secretary at the New England School Development Council; lecturer in Education at the Harvard Graduate School of Education; Director of Washington Internships in Education; and Director, Leadership in Public Education Study, Academy of Educational Development, Washington, D.C. and adjunct professor, Union Graduate School.

Enthuses Over Program

He is enthusiastic about the new work he will direct at Nova and feels it will bring the opportunity for higher educational training to many who could not otherwise continue their schooling.

ADOMAT HONORED

GOLDKEYMAN Al Adomat, Vice President of The Florida Power and Light Company, has been named by the Directors of the United Fund to the general chairmanship of the '72 -- '73 United Fund Campaign.

Adomat was also elected “Rotarian of the Year” for 1972.
BUSY SPRING!

(1) Dr. Alexander Schure, Chancellor, Nova University and President, New York Institute of Technology; (2) Dr. Abraham S. Fischler, President of Nova University, and (3) Dr. James Farquhar, chairman of the Board of Trustees, prepare for Nova’s most important commencement proceedings.

(4), (5) and (6) Group of citizens, including GOLD KEY members, tour campus and have lunch.

Nova University is such a rapidly growing institution that it must be seen often to keep up with its progress. Here a group visits the Cancer Research Center headed by Dr. Joel Warren.

A visit to the Davie campus followed by lunch was a delightful affair of last month. School officials and trustees are anxious that Broward citizens and leaders be aware of what it is today, and what its potential is.

For any member of GOLD KEY or any other interested citizens who would like a similar tour to that pictured above, simply call Colonel Berry’s office, 587-6660, Ext. 217, and the tour will be arranged.
DR. HANDLER SPEAKS (Continued)

A tentative Order of the Exercises has been completed by Colonel Berry, of GOLD KEY, who is coordinating Commencement plans.

The Commencement address will be delivered by Dr. Philip Handler, President, the National Academy of Sciences. President Abraham S. Fischler will present the Masters' and Doctors' degrees.

An Honorary Degree of Doctor of Letters will be presented to Dr. Handler by Dr. Alexander Schure, Chancellor, Nova University, and President, New York Institute of Technology.
