Noted Lawyers

To Lecture

At Law School

Beginning January 17 and running on Mondays through March 17, a course titled "Trial Tactics and Strategies" will be given at the Law School by Stanley E. Preiser, one of the nation's leading trial lawyers.

This course will give students a unique opportunity to interact with prestigious members of the practicing bar in developing their litigation skills. Mr. Preiser will coordinate and participate in all the sessions.

Each session will feature a guest lecturer who specializes in the area being discussed that week. (Continued on Page 3.)

Nova/Coral Springs Buys

Land For Future Site

Dr. Abraham S. Fischler, president of Nova University, has announced the purchase of a 3.6

acre parcel of land as a future permanent site for Nova University at Coral Springs.

The purchase of the land from Coral Ridge

Properties was made possible through a generous gift from CBF covering half the cost.

The property, located on the north side of N.W. 29 Street in the 9900 block, is on the heart of the Coral Springs community service-complex, adjacent to the 50-acre Mallins re-cational center and the future new Coral

Springs library, a future medical complex, a crime center complex; and the future cultural center.

"The future-oriented planning of Coral

Ridge Properties for a complete civic center and community service complex will enable

Nova/Coral Springs to plan an exciting university learning center, responsive to the needs of the people of Coral Springs, North Broward, and South Palm Beach Counties," said Dr.

Patrick Dotson, director of Nova/Coral Springs.

Nova University at Coral Springs, presently located at 3301 North University Drive, has been serving the educational needs of northeast Broward and South Palm Beach Counties for five years. The Center now offers undergraduate programs and a "Alternative Classcroom" program which allows students to supplement classroom experiences with community research and participation. The Center also has the Nova University Center (a contincious mental health center), a high school computer program sponsored by the School Board of Broward County, and a variety of cultural events including concerts, art shows and film festivals. "One of the major benefits of the new site is that it will enable us to expand our educational offerings to include masters and doctorate degree programs," Dr.

Dotson said.

The Board of Governors of Nova/Coral

Springs, chaired by Joe Daniels, General Manager of the Burroughs Corporation facility in Coral Springs, is planning a month-long celeration of the purchase of the site. The festiva, scheduled for mid-February to mid-

March (on occasion with the film festival), will include concerts, art shows, a book and author festival, an art exhibit and auction, and a Fifth Anniversary Open House. Proceeds from the festival will go toward the development fund of Nova/Coral Springs to build a facility on the site.

Conferences

To Focus On

Foreign Tourism, Investment

In the light of the growing importance of foreign trade and investment in South Florida, the university is planning a series of Exclusive Conferences on this subject beginning in January and running through March of April, on an assembly basis.

The Conferences are titled: "Broward

International: Foreign Tourism, Trade,

Investment - Its Impact, Its Promise For

The Future.

The purpose of the series varies on foreign trade and investment, and is to help the local community find its own effective role in this new aspect of South Florida's economic development.

Coral Springs 'Alternative' Courses Starting

During the Winter Term beginning in January, Nova University at Coral Springs will offer several new courses as the featured component of its Alternative Courses program. The course will be offered every other Saturday morning for a six-week period, beginning January 19, 1980, and ending March 21, 1980. The program will be offered to students who wish to improve their job marketability or career change in today's job market. The program will cover a variety of topical concerns designed to meet the needs for workable strategies for change; how to prepare for the job market; how to develop effective job-matching techniques; and how to prepare a resume to be used toward the Law Center's formal applications for non-affiliated persons.

The course is designed by Philip R. Lee, M.D., President of Morgan State and a member of the Governing Board of Nova University. The course will be taught by Kevin James Farquhar, a trustee of Nova University, and Atherton Bean, a member of the Governing Board.

Day-Division Is Off To A Great Start

Nova College — Day Division opened its doors for the first time this past September with the thirty-five students in the first cohort of the early admission program. Students were selected on the basis of their high school grades, SAT scores, and personal interviews, and were required to have a grade point average of at least 3.0. The program is designed to provide a focused and intensive study environment for students who wish to complete their associate degree coursework within a shorter time frame than the traditional three-year program.

The curriculum for the first-year study includes English, mathematics, social sciences, computer science, and business courses. The program is structured to allow students to complete their coursework in two semesters, with the option to continue into the third semester for graduation. Students are required to maintain a minimum grade point average of 2.5 to remain in the program.

Distinguished Lecturer Visits Nova

Dr. Mario Fantini, a renowned professor of philosophy and education, visited Nova College to deliver a lecture on the topic of alternative education. Dr. Fantini's presentation, titled "Alternative Education: A Vision for the Future," was well-received by attendees and sparked a lively discussion on the importance of innovative educational approaches.

Administration Center Moving In New Directions

The administration center is moving into new quarters this fall, which will provide additional space for faculty and staff. The new facility will accommodate the growing student population and offer improved amenities and services. The move is expected to enhance the overall learning environment and support the College's mission of providing a high-quality education to all students.

Law

Guest lectures include F. Lee Bailey, famous for his work as a criminal defense lawyer; Harold Price Fahgre, known for his work in technology; and Harry Philp, President of ATLA, who will speak on the challenges of maintaining a high-quality learning experience ABS.

Focus 2000

Focus 2000 continues to represent the first-time members of the National Board of Advisors who have been invited to directly involve themselves in issues of concern to Broward County. Dr. Clarke, dedicated.

Several COA board members are members of the National Academy of Public Administration. Dr. George Earls, President of the Academy, will chair the discussion on "Moving and Focus 2000."

The Advisors Board will also have a full discussion of Nova's annual report, which is available for review. The report details the College's accomplishments and financial information for the fiscal year.

The report will be available for review at the College's website, www.novac.edu. For further information, call 954-796-4000.
Future Events

The National Alumni Association Office is planning a Students/Alumni/ Faculty/Staff dance on Friday, February 6, 1981. The affair is for the enjoyment of everyone. Invitations will be mailed and posters will be displayed throughout the University. Please keep this date in mind and join us with Dan Leslie and his entertainers, in addition to playing a variety of music, in the main halls of the Lucas West.
