Nova Conference To Focus
On Broward’s Future

As part of its continuing commitment to serve the community, Nova University’s Center for the Study of Administration is sponsoring, as a public service, an all-day conference to help Broward County resolve some of the pressing issues and problems which county officials are facing in the future. Several members of the Center’s National Advisory Board, many of whom are members of the prestigious National Academy of Public Administration, have volunteered to serve as advisors and consultants to the county administra-

The conference, titled “Broward Focus 2000,” will take place Friday, February 10 from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Nova’s Wilton Manors Conference Center, Lauderdale, Florida. Local and state leaders and decision-makers from public and private sectors will attend.

Nova/Coral Springs’ Week Set

The Board of Trustees of Nova University and the Board of Governors of Nova University at Coral Springs have proclaimed the week of February 10 through 16 as "Nova/Coral Springs’ Week." Featured will be Nova University’s present undergraduate program in Human Sciences and Business, the Nova University Clinic, the Broward County 475 BOCG high school completion program at Nova/Coral Springs, and the many cultural offerings of the university’s center.

Law Center Hosts Appeals Court

The Fourth District Court of Appeal will again hold hearings in the Courtroom on the fifth floor of the Leo Goodwin Sr. Law Building, Nova Law Center, 3100 S. University Avenue, Fort Lauderdale, on February 10, 11 & 12th, and March 9, 10 & 11th, 1981.

The Law Center welcomes this judiciary’s use of its new facility, since it provides a unique educational experience for law students who may observe live appellate arguments after studying legal briefs prepared by the attorneys who appear before the Court. The Third D.C.A. judges who sat in the Courtroom in November indicated their appreciation for this opportunity to meet with future attorneys, and complemented the Law Center on its excellent facilities.

NOVA NOW MORE THAN EVER A UNIVERSITY FOR...

Tenth Anniversary Planned

During the summer of 1982, Nova University will celebrate ten years of providing high quality, graduate education through its national field-based programs. During this decade, many persons have rec-covered a graduate education which they could not have obtained through the traditional educational system.

This has been a decade of leadership. The university’s programs now operate in nineteen states, and the graduate’s assumption of greater responsibilities in their professional roles. The programs have served as models for other institutions seeking to expand their service to working professionals.

The Center for Higher Education for example, one of ten centers in the University, originated as a program for community college faculty. It has since expanded its programs to include all higher education, business, technical, and Occupational Education programs, and recently, Leadership in Adult Educations. The Center has also thrived in order to accommodate the increasing number of evening participants working only in traditional educational institutions, but also in libraries, business, industry, hospitals, and social agencies.

Nova To Co-Sponsor International Programs

Nova University will co-sponsor six continuing education programs with the Center for International Study and Professional development. The programs are:

1. A thre- day seminar on Transpota-

tion with separate sessions on air and ground transportation, April 22-25, a banking and business seminar in Fort Lauderdale, April 30-May 3, a seminar on Investment in Great Britain and the United States, in Oxford, England, August, 1981, and two programs, one in business administration and one in international marketing and trade, in the Pueblos Republic, in early Fall, 1981.

For further information, call Roland Graft at 473-7421.

Is Affordable Housing Possible?

The first Nova University Executive Council Conference of 1981 will focus on Affordable Housing. What’s Happening?

Is the Market Solving the Problem? The Conference will take place Tuesday, February 17, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. in the Mainland Hollywood Auditorium. Speakers will include major builders and developers reporting on current conditions and emerging trends, and financial experts reporting on economic indicators for Broward County for 1981 and economic forecasts.

For further information, call Rose Ann Schaefer at 473-7423.

Seminar Set

A seminar on "Sedimentation and Categorization by Algae" was held by Dr. Philip J. Hallick of the Dept. of Geology, Columbia University, will be held at the Oceanographic Center, Friday, February 6, at 3:30 p.m.

Downs, Conroy To Speak At Nova

Hugh Downs

TV personality Hugh Downs and novelist Pat Conroy will be guest speakers at a Book and Author Festival sponsored in part by Nova University at Coral Springs, Saturday, March 16, at the Coral Springs Mall and the Holiday Inn.

An all-day book fair with many local authors as well as Downs and Conroy making autographing appearances will take place in the Mall. That evening, Downs and Conroy will speak at a book and author program at the Holiday Inn at 8:15, followed by a reception and autographing party.

Downs will discuss his book, "The Best Years Book: How To Plan For Fulfillment, Security and Happiness in the Retirement Years" co-authored by Richard Boll and published by Delacorte. Downs, one of the nation's most respected talk-show personalities, has become a spokesperson for senior citizens and re-erected people through his daily Emmy winning talk show, "Over Easy."

Conroy will discuss his newest book, "The Lords of Discipline" published by Houghton-Mifflin. Conroy is also the author of "The Great Santini" (made into the film starring Robert Duvall).

LETTERS

Dr. Patrick DeStasio, Director of Nova University at Coral Springs, is chairman of the "Year of the Arts" Festival of the Coral Springs Cultural Society of which Nova-Coral Springs is a member. He recently received the following letter from George Firestone, Secretary of State:

Dear Pat:

Word of the activities of the Coral Springs Cultural Society has reached me, and I just wanted to get in touch with you to say " Bravo!"

Clearly, government efforts can only augment and enhance private sector initiatives — so it's especially good to know that the Arts are alive, well and flourishing in Coral Springs.

Please convey to the members of your group my every good wish for a successful and exciting "Year of the Arts" and if we may provide any assistance, I hope you'll allow us that opportunity.

Again, congratulations.

With warm regards,

Sincerely,

George Firestone, Secretary of State

Springs Week

Nova/Coral Springs' "Alternative Classroom" program will also be highlighted.

Information will also be available on two new programs at Nova/Coral Springs. The Corporate Division of Nova College under the direction of Dr. Ana Marie Burke has recently started classes in electronic engineering technology and mathematics.

At a grand finale to 'Nova University at Coral Springs Week,' a reception honoring Nova Chancellor Albert Schure and Mrs. Schure and Nova President Abraham Fechler and Mrs. Fechler will be held in the auditorium of Nova/Coral Springs on Friday, February 27, from 4 to 6 p.m.

The Nova/Coral Springs celebration will continue with a month-long Winter Festival (February 21 March 21).

Among the events will be two concerts presented by the Coral Springs Society for Performing Arts. The first is a duo-piano concert featuring David Koenig and Beverly Norton, at the new Omni Auditorium of Broward Community College, North. On February 21. Proceeds of this concert will benefit Nova University at Coral Springs.

The second concert on March 7, features Velda Yestra, pianist, and Bogdan Crucean, violinist, at the Nova/Coral Springs Auditorium.

Another event in the Winter Festival will be the Coral Springs Book and Author Festival at the Holiday Inn on Saturday, March 16.

The Winter Festival will conclude with a Fith Anniversary Open House, a gala reception and the second Annual of Fine Art (March 19-21). AFIFF Anniversary Reception will take place in the Coral Springs Holiday Inn Saturday, March 20, followed by a fine art auction. This event is being presented as a benefit for Nova University at Coral Springs.

During the Winter Festival, Nova/Coral Springs will also present its second Annual Hall of Fame Award to a local resident who has made an outstanding contribution to the arts and culture. The first Hall of Fame Award, presented in 1980, honored Edith Nathan, nationally prominent sculptress.

Novo Library Receives Rare Books

The Nova Library has received a gift of the 12-volume set of The Codex Atlanticus of Leonardo Da Vinci.

The books were donated to Nova by Arnold Fuchs, a member of the Board of Governors of the University School.

The set is part of a limited, numbered edition of only 10 handbound in leather with gold stamping on the spines. The volumes measure 18" by 24" each, containing 360 pages, in true-color facsimile, including 2,136 plates.

The Codex Atlanticus contains Da Vinci's most important work on machines, technical apparatus and devices, and civil, military and hydraulic projects. It richly documents his contributions to the sciences of astronomy, geometry and chemistry, with designs for automotive vehicles, studies of ships able to navigate beneath the sea, conceptual drawings of wings to permit men to fly, and architectural plans for buildings and entire towns. It also has the artist's preliminary work on the "Portrait of Beatrice d'Este," and sketches for the "Adoration of the Magi" and the "Leda.

A Meaningful Ending

A new elective HS-542 Contemporary Issues in Human Services will begin in February as part of the curriculum in the Master of Science in Human Services.

The final exam will be a Contemporary Issues — Human Services: Death, Dying, and Meaning in Life. The class will meet from 6:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m., February 10, 11, 12, and 13, in the Madden Building, room 409. The instructor will be Dean William Smith. It will fulfill one (1) semester credit.

Michael Murphy, M.D., Medical Director of South Florida Training Center, will be the speaker. Along with an impressive list of professional qualifications, Dr. Murphy is also Associate Professor of Psychiatry at Albany Medical College and was formerly Senior Instructor in Clinical Psychiatry at Tulane University.

For further information, call Helen Prince at 475-7335.

Novo Sponsors Essay Contest

Nova University is sponsoring an essay contest on the subject "Broward, 2000: A.D.: An Ideal Community," in conjunction with the Orange Blossom Festival. The winner, to be announced at the Davie Birthday Celebration March 8, will receive a $250 prize.

The contest is open to everyone who lives in Broward. Essays may not exceed 1,000 words, must be typed and double-spaced, and must address themselves to the theme. In addition, entrants must include a short biography of themselves, and make certain their essays are received no later than February 20.

For entry blanks, call Betty Leverence at 475-7438.

Dr. Anna Mae Walsh Burke has signed a contract with Premise Hall Publishers for a new book, "What Do You Want To Be Now That You're All Grown Up?" which will be released in both hard cover and paperback early next year. The book covers the emotional as well as the practical side of seeking a career, rather than just a job. It will advise people on everything from preparing a good resume to dealing with the way a new career or a change in careers will affect the person's life and those of his/her family members.

Retired Professionals Program Growing

The Institute for Retired Professionals is experiencing an exciting and satisfying growth with new faces, new ideas, and added involvement in its expanding program. At the Argentine Academy Award-Winning Masterpiece on FEBRUARY 5, 6, and 8, the numbers alone tell the story; membership has grown from 83 last October to 140 in mid-January, and by every indication, IRP has nowhere to go but up. Course offerings include History, Music, Art, Philosophy, Literature, Current Policy and Debates—all stemming directly from the desires of the members who wish to expand and participate actively in the programming. There are real talk programs as well as professionally taught classes. And, on weekends, and during the summer, there are trips to local places of interest like Tampa, and distant horizon like Africa, and possibly China, Spain or Portugal this summer. "Never a dull moment," says Ms. Bell.

For membership information, call Ms. Bell at 475-7536.

Nova to Build New Learning Center

By GERALDINE BAUM

Nova University announced plans this week to move its Coral Springs center to 3.6 acres the university recently bought at half-price from Coral Ridge Properties Inc.
This 36-acre parcel cost $600,000 for a $400,000 parcel on the north side
Coral Springs library. The library and the university now have an arrangement in which books and other materials the university needs are stored in the library.
"The idea of using community resources instead of duplicating at the college level symbolizes we're trying to do at Nova," he said. "We're more geared for adults. The average age of our students is 33.
Sherlock said Nova hopes to make its new Coral Springs center the university's major facility in North Bay County." The Coral Springs center also draws students from Bay County.

Teaching Reading

Few New Yorkers have as much read ability as Nova University's Dr. Abraham Fischer. Each year,
he teaches hundreds of students
how to read.

Fischer is a reading expert who has written numerous books on the subject.

He believes that children should be exposed to reading early in life.

"We have to start young," he says.
"The first step is to introduce children to reading early in life.
"It's important to make reading fun and interesting," he says.
"We have to make it enjoyable.
"There are many ways to make reading enjoyable," he says.
"One way is through stories.
"Another way is through games.
"Children learn best when they are engaged in fun activities.

"Parents can help by reading with their children," he says.
"It's important to have a positive attitude towards reading.

"There are many resources available to help children
learn to read," he says.
"Libraries, bookstores, and
