Brookings-Nova Seminar Dictates Need for Effective Leadership in Government

Nova University graduates from the Center for the Study of Government and Politics gathered in Washington, D.C. May 26-29 to meet with public officials in a “Seminar on Public Policy” that Nova sponsored in cooperation with the Brookings Institution. Graduates flew in from across the country and represented such varied fields as city management, state government, hospital administration, public utilities and military service.

They came because they wanted a better grasp of national policy and direction to lead their respective agency or institution into the decade ahead with promise. They left with a better understanding of how government works and with the sure knowledge that things ahead are far, far from rosy.

If there was one major theme that underscored every spoken word, it was that now, more than ever before, is the time for effective leadership. For as Sidney Jones, former AAT Secretary of Commerce for Economic Affairs said, “People don’t want to hear bad things now.” Jones asserted that we, as a country, need economic growth to have social and political growth and that we need growth in order to have national security. He aligned the current political situation in America with a popular song that goes, “They better mean it this time.” He concluded his dynamic address with those same words, leaving little doubt in any one’s mind that if we do not turn a corner, we will begin to deteriorate and rather rapidly.

Irving Rosenbaum, Town Administrator from Davie, Fla., could closely identify with the theory of economic growth being so closely tied to social ramifications. Of 44 CETA employees in his town, mostly Haitian, he had just laid off 14 of them. Said Rosenbaum, “Economic policy will dictate where aid will go,” and he cited an almost revolutionary tone in Washington, D.C. and all sections of the country for their share of the dollar.

Parrin Mitchell, (D) Md., who feels that the current budget cut is needed, but not without some mooring to hang onto in the interim, said, “When everything else fails and there are no jobs, it is the responsibility of government. “For example, as he pointed out, what is the point in training people in CETA for jobs, if there are no jobs” Mitchell, in response to the general conception that this will be a long, hot summer said, “Next summer will be the long, hot summer”, for that is when the full effect of the budget cuts will be felt.

Paralleling the theme of difficult times ahead for Americans was the repeated theme that “people will look for alternatives” when things are going badly and that “people will try anything.” Congressman Dan Mica of Florida warned that while Reagan’s cuts are severe, if they do not work, the next person in office will be more severe.

Graduates listened intently, looking for answers to their particular situation and for the people they lead. Said Helen Fredrick, a member of the Illinois State Board of Education and former news commentator for CBS radio, “Understanding the public dynamics is most appropriate because everything depends on public approbation.”

Pamela Heuer, AAT, Hospital Director of Tampa General Hospital in Florida, knows well what lack of appreciation can mean in terms of human life. She pointed out that even neonatal care of infants born prematurely rests upon the promise of funding from counties when other monies are not available. Also of general concern throughout the four days of meetings was a perception of the ultimate need for redefinition by government. Parrin Mitchell termed it a time of “redefinition,” just as the periods of time after the Revolutionary War, the Civil War and the Great Depression. Fordyce Luikart, consultant with the Advanced Study Program at Brookings, added, “Is this a watershed time?” and answered, “Yes, there is a major shift in focus — to local activity.” He pointed out that we, as Americans, have tried to build a system based upon the ideal man, but warned we will never have it because man doesn’t act that way. “It takes a coalition, an alliance to make a major policy change,” he stated, “with the end result being compromise.”

Mailman Family Center Dedication July 25

Broward County will have its first complete family service center when the doors officially open at 3 p.m., Saturday, July 25 to the new Mailman Family Center on the Nova University campus.

Behind those doors will be housed innovative facilities for infants 6 weeks of age to 4-year old toddlers, along with therapy rooms for children and parents alike and the latest equipment for learning disabilities and parent skills programs.

Taking visitors on a tour of the playground, Dr. Marilyn Segal, Director of the Center, points out that it is unlike any other playground in South Florida because it is designed for handicapped children as well as for those who are not handicapped. In the playground, there are highways, bridges, a service station with gas pump, and even a garage! Even an in-fant bin, complete with thatched roof to keep out the Florida sun, makes it possible for infants to enjoy the activity of their older toddler friends. Only seeing is believing this unique playground design. So, your August issue will bring photographs of the dedication, for those of you across the country.

Five two-way viewing windows are incorporated into the three story building with numerous small therapy rooms, each cosily furnished. Several rooms feature, along with the adult size furniture, miniature tables and chairs for the little folks.

Upstairs, in the toddlers' playroom, one is almost overwhelmed with the attention to detail that has been so obvious in the preparation of this room. There are many records of cradle songs for resting and sleeping, as well as counting games, rhythms for the little ones, nursery rhymes, and the much loved "hokey pokey!"

Any mother would recognize the many "favorites" - Kermit the Frog puppet, the Fischer Price "fun jet", the Tupperware ball, and of course the play telephone. But there are many other unusual touches that make one stop and think. In the play kitchen, a basket of play fruit. And tucked below the kitchen sink, a picnic basket! Play dishes, furniture just like grown-ups, hats for all kinds of play and workmen and, in the middle of all this, a pad for the infants to lie on and be a part of it all again.

Musical toys abound, with bells, xylophones, tambourines, xylophone and others. Visit the family Center the first chance you have.

The last speaker of the Nova University Executive Council Forum 1981 was Victor Lloyd Tomsett, former American hostage in Iran. Here, Tomsett, left, is seen with Mrs. Mary R. McCahill, Chairman of the Nova University Board of Trustees and President of Nova University, Dr. Abraham S. Fischer.

Computers are for Everybody!

In an effort to dispel the illusion that computers are only for engineers and scientifically oriented people, the Corporate Division has developed a series of courses for the person who would like to know more about computers, but who does not have a technical background. CS 111 — Introduction to Computer Science, which will be offered in the August schedule, is a course designed to teach people how to use computers and programs which have already been written. CS 112 — Introduction to Data Processing offers non-major an opportunity to learn date processing techniques and their applications in business. This course will be offered in October. CS 201 Programing Methods I is designed to provide the non-technical student with an understanding of computer programming. The Corporate Division also provides bachelor degrees in Electrical Engineering, Computer Science and Computer Systems for those who desire to be specialists in this field.

Toddlers Videotape

New Reading Program

There was great excitement in Learning Technology, Fort Lauderdale, when three small children from the University School arrived in the studio. With them came Dr. Joan Gebertino, Director of the Lower House and Peter Schroeck from England. The occasion was the videotaping, under the direction of Dr. Ethel Radon, of the demonstration of Mr. Schroeck's new Acorn Magic Readers. These are a series of nine sets of readers, each set of which is designed to develop specific reading skills in small children through a carefully planned procedure.

The youngest of the three guests demonstrated the Recognition of a Word series, with remarkable skill and great charm. The next oldest child demonstrated the Reading of a Word series with excellent skill and charm. Finally, the oldest of the three children demonstrated the Reading of a Single-Sentence series with great skill.

Working under the expert guidance and help of Dr. Joan Gebertino the children - ranging in age from 2-½ to 4 years of age - read with great enjoyment and skill. The delightful videotape of this demonstration is available in Learning Technology for those who would like to view it.

Charles Schultz, Senior Fellow, Economic Studies Program at the Brookings Institution speaks on Economic Policy.

One of Nova's graduates, Dr. Ellisworth Haskins, a Chicago surgeon who entered the DPA program "because I just needed it" in serving on the hospital board, probably summed up the public administration program best when he said, "The program gives you learning tools to think." With compromise and coalition the avenues to problem solving, it would seem Nova University graduates are well-prepared to face the future, and will gain what needs new insights provided by such programs as the Brookings seminar.

A famous American once said, "We have met the enemy and it is us." Surely, those words have never needed to be taken as seriously as they should today.

"Exhilarating ... an excellent opportunity for verbalizing your thoughts and clarifying your thinking." Assistant to the Mayor of Chicago Reginald Brown, Jr. had this to say, "This kind of a seminar put on by Nova with Brookings underscores the value that I have always had of my association with Nova. It is an extremely valuable experience to meet with known scholars in the field of public administration as well as to discuss the theoretical. I thoroughly enjoyed myself.

"It really has a value you can't total." Atletha Andersen, Librarian, Clearwater Public Library, Clearwater, FL.

Atletha Andersen, librarian with the Clearwater Public Library, Clearwater, FL summed up her feelings in this manner, "The seminar has enabled me to see the kind of changes in store. I hope to relate this back to policy makers and enable them to make better decisions. It really has been a value you can't total. It has been wonderful meeting with enlightened people.

Mothers and Daughters ... Partnership in Weight Loss

Little girls between the ages of 8 and 12 years of age who are 20% overweight or more, qualify for a free program in weight education and reduction at Nova University.

Dr. Alan Katell, Dept. of Psychology, who is conducting the study, is interested in part because mothers play a significant role in their children's losing weight and keeping it off. He points out that the 4-10 age group has been chosen for several reasons. Of utmost importance is the fact that "peer influences are very important in the pre-puberty period, 11-12, following.

The 8-week program will include several components. Some of these are exercise and stimulus control limiting the places that you eat and snack, a major part of the problem as Dr. Katell sees it.

This is the first in a series of studies aimed at long-term prevention of health problems. For further information and registration, call Dr. Alan Katell at 475-7569.

Dr. Richard Gerson, Health Education, spoke on June 16 to The Association of Occupational Health Nurses on the topic, "Making Occupational Stress Work for You." The group consists of nurses working with firms such as IBM, Motorola and Southern Bell. Dr. Gerson has lectured on stress management and time management at many local hospitals, including Plantation General and Perdue Medical Center in Miami, and he has been contacted recently by publishers to compile textbooks on the subjects of stress, health psychology, and behavioral medicine.

Dr. Julian P. McCready, Jr., was appointed Dir. of the Nova University Oceanographers Center at the Board of Trustees Meeting held on April 27, 1981.

Robert Heidger and Ginny Sewell, Delaware, Ed.D., were selected from their school system to attend a ten-day intensive training program held at Adelphi University National Training Institute.
Graduation...

On May 24 over 150 very enthusiastic graduates accepted their diplomas from the Nova University Law Center from an equally enthusiastic audience. Seated in the magnificent Parker Playhouse, with producer Zev Buffman seated onstage waiting to receive an honorary degree, the onlookers listened to Dean Roger Cramton give the commencement address.

Cramton, the former Dean of Cornell Law School and currently a visiting professor at Duke University, challenged the graduates to "Keep your eye on ultimate ends" and "Create a story of your life, cherish individuals." He pointed out that in creating new possibilities for yourself and others, you will create life itself.

Just one week later, 49 graduating seniors from the University School fondly said their goodbyes to a crowd of more than 500 family and friends at the Diplomat Hotel in Hollywood at a Sunday brunch. The graduates were met after receiving their diplomas by their parents, who also had the opportunity to express their sentiments. There were tears, smiles of happiness and many remarks about the memories and the experience of attending the University.

Gold Circle Women Promote Campus Beautification

Gold Circle of Nova University is a women's support group organized for the purpose of generating community involvement to advance the purpose of Nova University. This year, their goal has been campus beautification. Money has been raised to paint and sandblast the soon to be dedicated Mailman Family Center. The group has also initiated a memorial fund through which donations can be made to the university on the occasion of anniversaries, birthdays, or births as well as for memorials. For further information, call Rose Ann Schaeffer, Dir. of Special Events, Office of Development at 475-7425.

The Florida Derby Ball, which benefits Nova University, is traditionally one of the highlights of the social season, and this year's event was no exception.

Three hundred and fifty guests came to dine, dance and enjoy the splendid festivities of this, the 27th Annual Florida Derby Ball, held March 4 at the new Marriott Hotel and Marina in Fort Lauderdale.

Orchids, the official flower of Gulfstream, were everywhere—as favors for the women, centerpieces on each table, leis worn by the hostesses, and, as customary, the center of attention in the huge Orchid Horseshoe, symbol of the "Run For The Orchids" which the winner of the Florida Derby receives. Many of the guests, caught up in the spirit of the day, were attired in orchid-colored dresses. Their escorts received lucky horseshoe favors.

The overall chairmen, Mrs. James W. (Sherry) Rice and Mrs. R. Basil (Claudine) Rutter, saw to it that the "racing" theme was carried through. "Sniff," the lead pony from Gulfstream Park, with outrider Chris Melhorn astride, greeted the arriving guests. Dinner was announced by a bugler, and place cards designated the table places.

the “gate” (or table) number. Everyone, from perennial chairman Mrs. Robert A. (Millicent) Steele on, agreed that the chairmen had done a winning job.

One of the special features of the Ball was an elaborate hot-dish cocktail hour. It was held in a room overlooking the tropical garden, with the guests seated at tables under thatched roofs.

Dinner and dancing to Marshall Grant’s orchestra, were followed by greetings from Dr. Abraham Fischer, president of Nova University. Dr. Fischer presented gifts to Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Donn (Mr. Donn is president of Gulfstream Park) and to Mrs. Joseph Fowler, the former Mary Anna Donn, whose late husband, Jimmy Donn Jr., was president of Gulfstream.

The Florida Derby Ball attracts guests from Palm Beach, Broward, and Dade Counties, and many dignitaries. Among this year’s guests were the Donald LeVines (Liz Anne LeVine is the sister of Princess Grace of Monaco), Jonnie Miller (of golfing fame) and Paul Marriott of the Marriott Hotel chain.

Activities

Region I

Graduates in Jacksonville held a dinner meeting at the home of Drs. Herman and Alta Howard (Ed.D. 80) on May 8. Toni Steinberg attended and discussed centered around the direction and structure of the new chapter.

The President and officers, who had been elected at a previous meeting, are: President, Cecil L. Allison, Ed.D. ’75; Officers: The Drs. Howard, Lucille M., Ed.D. ’79; Julia B. Fiorestino, Ed.D. ’79; and Ann Timland, Ed.D. ’75.

Region II

The National Capital Area Chapter hosted a cocktail party at the George-town Hotel on June 26, the evening prior to the "Public Policy" seminar, and graduates in the area were invited to meet Dr. Fischer, Dr. Clark, members of the faculty, and national preceptors. Toni Steinberg from the Alumni Office also attended.

The evening was an unqualified success and graduates who earned DPA's, Ed.D.'s, J.D.'s and MS's were in attendance...

The Mid-Atlantic Area Chapter held a first Anniversary Meeting on May 10. The meeting program was planned and four members of the Philadelphia High School Jazz Ensemble, under the direction of the School Music Director, provided a background of their jazz interpretations during the dinner hour.

The guest speaker for the evening was Dr. Bernard G. Keifer who gave an excellent and timely address on professionalism in the school system. Toni Steinberg also attended and brought greetings from the central staff and a Nova update on alumni and university activities.

The Chapter officers are Pres., James E. Harksdale, Trena., Richard Brannigan, Treas., Marvin A. Goldenberg, Coordination, Mathew Knowlen; Cerification, Sudie S. Mitchell, Program, John H. Scott. All of the above have earned a Doctor of Education degree.

Region III

A Breakfast Meeting to which Dr. Fischer was invited was held in Chicago on June 6.

Region IV

Dr. Morris holds the position of Chief of Faculty Management Division in the Administrating Services Department of the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D.C.

Charles Van-Enrique Hart, D.P.A., 1980, was elected to the board in Honolulu, as the background of his appointment is that he was a "Data Gathering – An Achilles Heel," that has been published in the Executive Director's (Department of Labor, Analyzex, March, 1981.

Region V

Jim Murphy, D.P.A., 1980, was recently featured in an article that appeared in the Tope, Ohio, News and the Greenville Advocate (Ohio) which described the graphical methods he employs in teaching Consumer Behavior to students at Edison State College Community in Ohio. Dr. Murphy bases his methodology on the concepts of Roger Blackwell of Ohio State University who invented the concept of consumer behavior, and published a book on it.

Region VI

Fannie E. Brown, Ed.D., 1967, has had considerable experience as a Consultant in the Applicant Selection Process of the Nursing Program at City College of San Francisco, and as a Consultant in the national ERIC database, giving ERIC document number ED146496. The editorial article and this document appeared in the May, 1979, Research in Education. For her most recent article entitled, "Juvenile Prostitution: A Nursing Perspective," has been published in the December, 1980, issue of the Journal of Psychiatric Nursing and Mental Health.

Honors And Awards

Region I

Melvin A. Johnson, Ed.D., 1979, was recently honored by Region 19 Vocational Schools in Orange County when he received the "Outstanding Vocational Educator Award" for 1981, at a banquet held in Altamonte Springs, Florida. Dr. Johnson has also been nominated by Region 19 for the Florida FVA Outstanding Educator, which will be presented at the FVA Conference in August, 1981.

Betty Holmes Thompson, M.S., 1979, was named "Teacher of the Year," in Pinellas County by a committee of teachers and administrators in the Pinellas County School System. This makes Ms. Thompson eligible to become "Teacher of the Year" candidate in the state competition later this year. Ms. Thompson is a member of the faculty at Madeira Beach Elementary School, and has been in the teaching profession for eighteen years.

Region II

Leonard Smith, Ed.D., 1975, presented to the Past-President of Delta Kappa in Long Island, reported that Dr. Alexander Schure, President of NYIT and Chancellor of Nova University, recently was involved in a program of giving of electronic information to the Long Island Chapter of Delta Kappa, when, as an invited guest, he gave a talk on "New Technology in Higher Education" when the Chapter met on the NYIT campus. This was followed by a tour of some of the laboratories on the NYIT campus. In appreciation, Phi Delta Kappa awarded their Certificate of Recognition to Dr. Schure, which was given "in acknowledgement of distinguished service to education, and in appreciation of his leadership in relating the aims, purposes and objectives of Phi Delta Kappa to public education."

Region IV

Major Armstead, Jr., Ed.D., 1976, has been honored by the Phi Delta Kappa chapter at Northeastern Illinois University as "Educator of the Year" for 1981, along with eight other outstanding educators in that area. In an article in the Chicago Tribune, it was announced that Dr. Armstead had also been honored by the Citizens School Committee by presenting him with the 1981 Outstanding Principals Award. Dr. Armstead is principal of Foreman High School in Chicago.

Region V

William Yamada, Ed.D., 1980, automotive mechanics instructor at H sonoma Community College and certified by the nationally recognized National Institute of Automotive Service Excellence, has been named a member of the Customer Arbitration Board, opening under Federal Trade Commission guidelines, by the Chrysler Corporation which has established the board in Honolulu.

This board will be one of 55 to be established nationally that will provide owners of Chrysler products the opportunity to appeal warranty disputes, free of charge.

Dear Graduate:

We are pleased to report that the Alumni Association is taking giant steps forward in terms of chapter structure and program direction. More and more of our graduates are recognizing the value of associ­ ating with alumni from other programs, and chapters are becoming Nova oriented rather than program oriented. We believe that this change will create a much stronger, more dy­ namic organization and we are de­ lighted to see it evolve.

The Alumni Tax Seminar in Chicago was a great success. The Alumni “Public Policy Seminar” in Washington, D.C. was also a hit, having met all the criteria for continuing, quality education.

On the social scene, there will be two events to look forward to. First, there will be the Commencement Din­ ner Dance at Pin 66 in Fort Lauderdale on Saturday, July 25, 1981 when, in addition to celebrating with the 1981 graduates, we shall honor the anniversary classes of 1971 (10th year) and 1976 (4th year) graduates. Second, there will be the Nova University Alumni/Community Din­ ner Dance on July 27. I look forward to seeing you at these and other events in the near future.

Sincerely,

Don’t forget the NOVA Alumni Tax Seminar in Chicago on July 25th. This is your chance to get a jump on the new tax laws and meet your fellow Nova alumni.
