The Nova College Ad-
administration is enthusiastic about the entering class of 1991 which attracts 3500 students, approximately 185 of those students will be freshpersons.

Many members of the Nova College Administration had plenty of advice to give, but the enthusiasm of the Director of Student Affairs, Dan Sullivan, would be hard to top when he said, "There are so many exciting things happening at Nova from the building of the Law School, a new dorm and cafeteria to weekly activities hosted by Student Life."

"One thing everyone should make sure that they do is get involved."

Now A Word From Our President

Welcome to Nova College.

We welcome you, the new and returning students.

At Nova, the transition from high school to college can be overwhelming. However, with proper planning and dedication, you can succeed in this new environment.

The Nova Knight has been an integral part of campus life since 1984. It has been a platform for students to express their thoughts, opinions, and experiences. I encourage all students to contribute to the Knight.

The Office of Student Involvement offers numerous opportunities for students to get involved in various clubs and organizations. These groups help students develop leadership skills, enhance their resumes, and make valuable connections.

The Resident Student Association (RSA) is excited to promote and support the new clubs and organizations. The Office of Student Affairs is committed to meeting the needs of every student.

We are looking forward to a year filled with endless possibilities for growth and learning. Regardless of your major or field of study, there are opportunities to explore new interests and gain valuable skills.

Welcome to Nova College! Let's make this year a memorable one!
Residential Life Has Experienced Tremendous Growth

BY ADRIENNE BOUCH

There's going to be tremendous growth this year in Residential Life. Approval has just been passed on the ground breaking of a 304 bed, traditional style, housing building. It should be finished sometime this fall.

Tammy Jones, newly appointed Assistant Director of Residential Life, has been hired to focus on staff development and new programming. Jeff will be working closely with the Residential Advisors to develop programs that will increase student involvement.

Tammy Jones, Director of Residential Life, will be using the Residential Advisors as peer leaders. "We are working to create a sense of community and tradition to campus life. Through the Residential Advisors I hope to establish a home-like feeling," Jeff stated.

Jeff Howard will increase student involvement. He will work closely with Ms. Jones and the RA to create more programs and activities.

Mr. Tarnowski is very excited about working at Nova, especially with the students. "Nova is just starting. Everything that happens from now on will build Nova," Jeff explains. "The students involved will form and construct Nova's future, and I am proud to be a part of that," he concluded.

Residential Life Hires Assistant Director

Einstein!!!!

The Albert and Birdie Einstein Library has several services that it offers to the students, besides book borrowing.

The library offers a computer search on newly acquired CD-ROM disks. A student may be trained to use these disks or they may request a paid search.

The library also offers IIRI-library loan services—borrowing a book from another school when it is not on hand at Nova.

Professional librarians are always on hand to assist you with the reference and instruction services. As a member of the Southeast Florida Library Information Network (SEFLIN) the librarians can improve the timely access and delivery of information services necessary for your research projects.

In this workshop students will also be given their appointments for registration and testing.

Caryn Asleson said students identify their time and identify their long and short term goals. The second will introduce students to the SOAR reading-strategy, a proven method for textbook mastery. It will help students identify study habits both good and bad in addition to strategies for building individual learning styles.

Four separate workshops are scheduled for scholarship recipients, athletes, financial aid recipients, and multi-cultural and international students.

Students will be instructed on how to use the E-mail, a computerized to communicate with teachers and to receive memos. The campus security will present safety strategies on how to survive on campus.

Faculty Presenters Workshop: Sure To Please

By Adrienne Buschi

During the orientation workshops, students will be given the "secrets to success" to survive inside the classroom.

One of the workshops that is especially designed for this is the Faculty Panel Presentation which will be held Thursday, August 22 at 10:00 a.m. All freshmen are invited to attend.

Six guest speakers, including: Dr. Suzanne Ferris, Liberal Arts; Dr. Ed McNaroa, Communication; Dr. Steven Alfard, Liberal Arts; Ms. Brenda Lamm, Fine Arts.

"The rules for college are not written, there are things students should just know," stated Judith Perkel, the moderator.

"We want to clue students into Nova," concluded Ms. Perkel. "Nothing happens automatically, they have to make it happen."

"This is the Faculty Panel Presentation which will be held Thursday, August 22 at 10:00 a.m. All freshmen are invited to attend."

By Adrienne Bucchi

Ms. Claudia Santin-Bucchi, a Program Representative for the Nova School of Business and Entrepreneurship, was determined to overcome obstacles to reach her goals. Claudia received her Associate of Arts from Center. "I always had the desire for education," stated Ms. Satin. "My divorce just prompted me to go sooner because of my need for job opportunities." In 1985, she received her Bachelor of Arts from Trenton State College and continued on to earn her Master's degree in 1987.

Claudia worked both at Rider and as a Marketing Assistant to help pay for her college costs and to support herself and her two children. At that point, she then decided to move to South Florida to pursue a manner than to leave and try to recruit students from central, Florida. She has been working on to earn her from Nova University.

Claudia Santin-Bucchi serves on numerous in-house committees that focus on student development, including the Service Quality Management Team at the School of Business. She is also a member and officer of the Greater Fort Lauderdale-Broward County American Society for Training and Development and also a member of the American Marketing Association. As of 1990, Claudia has been working her way through a Doctorate Degree in Education from Nova University.

"We try to schedule the completions of projects at the breaks in the school year, that way we do not greatly disturb the students and staff," stated Mr. Santulli. "There is a lot of behind the scenes work, getting permits and designing plans. It feels good to see your work come to life," said Mr. Santulli.

Claudia now lives in Fort Lauderdale with her 17-year-old daughter, Adrienne, a freshman at Nova College, and 14-year-old son, Paul, a freshman at Nova Public High School.

"There is a long way to go with this project, but I am sure we will get there," stated Mr. Santulli.

Tuition money is used for some projects, both large and small, on the campus.

However, funding for the building contracts is paid for by revenue bond issues, that each building individually has.

Ten Years In Athletics

By Scott Vincent Vrabel

The 1991-92 school year will mark the 10-year anniversary of the Nova University Athletic Association (NLCAA). The following year, 1985, Nova joined the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA), and has been a member since.

By Adrienne Bucchu

The Career Resource Center will have even more workshops this year. The Center, located in room 205 of the Rosenthal Building, is open to all students, graduate and undergraduate, for counseling.

The Center has workshops throughout the year, including resume writing and mock interviews for part-time job listings as well as tips to help students search and prepare for careers.

To help a student do this is a computer called SIGI. It has computerized career programs, both traditional and non-traditional, that examine interests and values.

Michelle Milchman, the Coordinator of the Center, stressed there must be a balance between the two for there to be a successful find.

"My goal is to prepare students to be realistic about finding a career that they will both enjoy working in and will make the income that they desire," she said. The Center will also have a career series this year to help students select a vocation.

During the series a variety of professionals will visit the school and, in a lunchroom manner, discuss the pros and the details of their fields. Last year because of attended by thirty people whom entitled to a test administra-

the Strong Campbell Interest Inventory. Each individual received a one hour follow-up appointment to review their test results, discuss career interests, examine possible occupational opportunities and re-education.

The second session entitled "Redefining your Career Goals and Rewriting your Resume," was attended by twenty-nine people.

It was a tremendous success. Issues concerning self-exploration, networking, developing job search skills and others were discussed.

Overall the experience was very rewarding, both to the ex-employees and to Ms. Milchman.

The Career Resource Center would like all students, especially undecided undents, to visit the Center.

"A student can never be too sure or too prepared for his career," Ms. Milchman added.

The Center has various programs that will start once school begins. To schedule appointments please call Michelle Milchman.

By Sonny Hansley

The same anniversary is shared by Director of Athletics; Sonny Hansley.

After spending 13 years as a high school teacher and coach in Massachusetts, Hansley made a move to South Florida. He was hired to teach math and coach basketball and football at The University School, a private school that is part of Nova's educational system.

A year later, he was "promoted" to the position of Director of Athletics, a new position created to build, from the ground-up, Nova University Athletics.

Those early days were challenging for Hansley, to say the least. The athletic program officially started in the Fall of 1982, with but one sport, men's basketball.

Hansley was the Head Coach. Hansley was also the department's secretary and promotions guy, performing numerous tasks and spending endless hours at work.

That lasted from 1982-84.

The following year was a time for growth. Despite the fact that

Nova had a large operating deficit in 1983, the University decided to add men's soccer, women's volleyball and co-ed cross-country, in the Fall of 1984.

For one year Nova became part of the National Little College Athletic Association (NLCAA). The following year, 1985, Nova joined the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, (NAIA), and has been a member since.

by the Fall of 1987, the undergraduate enrollment had grown from 222 to nearly 1,000 students. Again it was time for the athletic program to expand.

Baseball, Women's Tennis, and Men's Golf were introduced.

The addition of baseball also gave Hansley the opportunity to make a career change. Hansley's love for baseball and the knowledge in the Northeast enabled him to take over as Head Coach of the baseball team.

Jim Michaels, Hansley's basketball assistant, became the Head Coach of the basketball team.

Today Nova University has an undergraduate population of over 1,200 students. Women's fast-pitch softball will be introduced in the Spring of 1993.

Nova joined the Florida Intercolligate Athletic Conference, the FIAC, with its formation in the Fall of 1990. Hansley currently serves as president.

Nova won conference titles in men's soccer and baseball.

Women's Volleyball captured five District Championships in the NAIA.

Men's Soccer claimed one in the Association.

"Finally, the true test of our commitment and success does not come from what we have accomplished but from what we are willing to undertake, knowing that so much remains to be done. We must raise philanthropic dollars in order to provide an adequate environment for faculty and students to continue to learn, to study, and to publish.

We must raise endowment money to support visiting professors and to enhance the academic quality of our full-time faculty. Most important, we must raise scholarship monies so that qualified and highly motivated students who want to attend Nova University are able to do so. Nova University will continue to make a difference.

\'Luck of the Draw\' follows Grammy-winning album

"Considering the last couple of years I've had, I thought it was pretty apropos," Bonnie smiles, explaining the title for Luck of the Draw, her eagerly-awaited follow-up to the triple-Grammy award-winning Nick Of Time.

It's Bonnie's 11th album since her 1971 recording debut, yet the first to feature four of her own compositions. As on Bonnie's previous albums, the selection of songs is a crucial part of the creative process.

"It's a real effort to come up with the kind of tunes I like," she explains.

"I listen to tons of material and I call up every friend I know who writes, so these songs are hard fought.

"Sometimes the only thing that holds them together is my taste," she continued.

The tasty cuts on Luck of the Draw include "No Business" written by John Hiatt (who also penned "Thing Called Love" from Nick Of Time), Luck of the Draw and Not The Only Time by Irish singer-song writer Paul Brady, and "Slow Ride" by Bonnie Hayes, Larry John McNally and Andre Passis. Hayes wrote "Love Letter" and "Have a Heart" on Nick Of Time.

Among the countless highlights is a duet with Delbert McClinton on the Womack & Womack song "Good Man Good Woman.

"It's been a lifelong dream of mine to sing anything with Delbert on record," says Raitt.

Luck of the Draw's endless list of star guest performers also includes Bruce Hornby, Richard Thompson, Barrett's Trent of Tom Petty & The Heartbreakers, Ricky Fataar, Ivan Neville, Ian McLagan, Kris Kristofferson, Billy Vera, Jeff Porcaro, Ford, the Tower of Power Horns, and members of Was (Not Was).

The Broward County Medical Association (BCMA) and Auxiliary are identifying honor roll restaurants in Broward County.

The BCMA and Auxiliary are working in cooperation with the Health and Tobacco (HOT) Coalition of Broward County (American Lung Association, American Heart Association and American Cancer Society), in response to the growing concern about passive cigarette smoke.

Present Florida law requires any restaurants sitting fifty or more people to post signs informing customers if a non-smoking section is not available.

The restaurants included on the Restaurant Honor Roll do provide a designated non-smoking section.

The Auxiliary urges people to patronize establishments.

Tim Finn joins Little Brother's Group - Crowded House

In the last hours of the last day in a rented house in LA, Tim Finn shuffles to the front door, shovels and unhavens to receive a call. Soon he'll leave for San Francisco, where he'll perform one of his first concerts as a new member of Crowded House.

From there he and his new bandmates—founding members Neil Finn, drummer Paul Hester and bassist Nick Seymour—fly home to the bottom of the world, or nearly: Australia.

But there's still time for a cup of coffee.

Tim leads the way to the dining room table. It is a crowded enough house that even a bed and—even now lies it—in the space the dining room becomes the kitchen.

"He's a very nice fellow," says Tim.

"He wanted to pretend to be social while secretly dozing off [while] he gets the early morning kitchen gossp," he continues.

Tim has fairly recently become the fourth member of the band—founded in 1985 by his younger brother Neil—composing for, playing and singing on the long-in-coming third Crowded House album, Woodface, an album that, like its predecessors, displays a subtly or arrangement and range of approach that makes each song a distinct statement.

The result of this new formulation can be heard throughout the album, most clearly so on the satirical new single and video, "Chocolate Cake." (Neil hears "a number of songs that are more groove-oriented" and Tim believes that lyrically, "it's less introspective", and will perhaps be even more combo-ish than the Tower of Power Horns, an added keyboard player, but we decided it would be more fun and exciting with Tim on keyboards," he concluded.

The word "addiction" may normally have unsavory connotations, but with the song "Additive Love" from the new album Different Lifestyles, the stellar gospel team of BeBe & CeCe Winans reclaim the term.

"Addiction" has been planted in people's minds as a negative thing with Delbert on record," says BeBe.

"We're at our best when we are together," adds CeCe.

"It just seems it was meant to be, and when it's meant to be, you just don't fight it," Wise advice.

With Different Lifestyles, this chart-topping, award-winning duos follow up on the sold gold success of their 1988 smash Heaven.

"There's a lifestyle of good and a lifestyle of bad," BeBe says of the new project's title.

"We want to show that even if you've been brought up in a bad lifestyle, you don't have to remain there. There's something good on the other side." That's why, as BeBe states it, their mission is to "send out a message of hope.

"Be sure to tune in.

Did you know that:

A Nova graduate was designated a White House Fellow by the President of the United States.

That seven superintendents of the forty largest school districts in the country hold a Nova University Doctorate in Education, as do thirty-seven college presidents and chancellors.

That the Deputy Prime Minister of the Bahamas was a graduate from Nova.

Richard Thompson's Latest Release - 'Rumor and Sigh'

As the stress and confusion of another semester role in, it's nice to have a breath of fresh air: Richard Thompson's Rumor and Sigh. Thompson was born and raised in London where at the age of 17 he became a founding member of the band Fairport Convention and helped invent the folk-rock genre.

He then went on to record with Linda Thompson. The duo's I Want To See The Bright Lights and Shoot Out The Lights were named among the top 100 albums of all time by Rolling Stone.

Thompson's newest venture, Rumor and Sigh, shows his extraordinary passion and great imagination. Although his music is precisely detailed, it is never hard to follow. With Thompson, you will get no gimmicks, only the raw talent which has escalated him to being one of the most talked about artists in the music industry today.

"The only way I know how to make a record is to make it very clean... working on the principle that popular music isn't just the song; it's the whole package," proclaimed Thompson.

In this incredible package, you will find deep, rich vocals coming from a wonderfully nimble guitarist. In "1952 Vincent Black Lightning," Thompson does a commanding solo performance on the acoustic guitar and tells the story of an outlaw and a breathtaking beautiful motorcycle. Get a load of this:

A man ponders through his neighbors' letter box and throws in a rock.

Soon the house is engulfed in flames. As the neighbors jump form the upstairs window, he films the whole thing on video.

He plays it back to them at the hospital. Things have been pretty dull without you, he says.

If you think that's wild, you should check out Thompson's latest video, I Feel So Good. This animated wonder was produced by Klasky Csupo, the same people that work the animation magic on the hit show The Simpsons. This incredible clip takes you on a colorful trip that will leave your mind spinning.

"This is a song about a man who gets out of prison and what a time he had," Thompson warns at the beginning of the video.
