White Student Union Sparks Controversy in Minnesota

By Rene Steele

(NSNS) In an effort to fight an organization they accuse of espousing white supremacy beliefs, students at the University of Minnesota rallied on November 14th to protest the establishment of a white student union.

They rallied, organized by students from the Coalition Against White Supremacy, protest White Student Union founder Tom O. and the ten members of his organization.

"I'm not a white supremacist," says David, a senior majoring in ancient history. "Affirmative action and quotas are endangering the white race."

David says it is not a question of one race being inferior to another, but rather a "no race being inferior to another," says Hughes.

The University of Minnesota Vice President of Student Affairs Marvalene Hughes indicates that the White Student Union is not a sanctioned campus organization since its members have not signed an equal opportunity statement required by the university.

"People are making a lot of noise over something that does not exist," says Hughes.

New Housing Complex Expected For '92-'93 Term

By Christopher C. Kahl Jr.

There is something afoot for next year's residents. Besides the completion of the Nova Law building, there will be commencement of construction on the new Dormitory Complex.

This new complex will accommodate the largest influx of students for the academic year 1992-1993.

During the week of November 22, 1991, the construction fences are scheduled to go up around the new complex. Construction will begin "no later than December 1, 1991," says David Santulli, Nova's Director of Business Services and Building Management.

"A letter of intent to the lowest bidder was mailed on November 8, 1991," he says. The new complex is going to be part of the first step for Nova's expansion.

The new building will be years ahead of other large school residence halls. Not only will the Residential Life office and staff migrate to the new building, but it will also have other surprises.

On the first floor a student would find a room to contain 152 suites with the average two students per room.

Mr. Santulli assures that the building will have fire suppression systems installed, which will consist of fire alarms and fire suppression systems similar to the ones now functioning around campus. The 76,000 sq. ft. residence hall will have only one elevator, primarily for freight and handicapped use.

The rooms themselves are simple yet comfortably planned. One room will consist of two walls in closets, a bathroom with

Sexual Harassment and Sexism

Campus Men Take Action

By Jim Haag

(NSNS) While the nation listened to tales of Long Dong Silver and pubic hair on "Coca-Cola cans during Clarence Thomas Supreme Court confirmation, students across the country also began re-examining their own attitudes towards sexual harassment.

Many female students have been active in fighting sexual harassment for a long time.

But when recently, a growing number of male students have become active in the feminist movement by forming male anti-sexism groups on campus to fight what they view as "no longer solely a woman's issue."

"I think the men's groups are a very positive sign," says Rosemary Dempsey, he Action Vice President of the National Organization of Women (NOW).

Nova Pitcher Injured During Game

By Dan Finn

Vince Kelly, a senior at Nova University, was rushed to Bennett Hospital in Plantation, Florida, late in the afternoon on Monday October 28th, after being struck in the head with a baseball while pitching in an intrasquad baseball game.

A cat-scan was done Monday evening at Bennett Hospital, with doctors giving a prognosis of a slight concussion and a large bump on the head.

Tuesday morning Kelly's condition worsened and doctors again gave Vince another cat-scan. The doctors found a slight fracture and a bloodclot on the right side of his head, with some bleeding on his brain.

Kelly went into surgery at approximately 11:50 a.m. on Tuesday morning. Surgery lasted about 2-1/2 hours.

Helen Graham’s 1975 University Illness Policies*

Illness

No excuse... We will no longer accept your doctor’s statement as proof. If you are able to go to a doctor, you are able to come to work.

Funeral

(Other than your own. This is no excuse. There is nothing you can do for them, and we are sure that someone else with a lesser position can attend the arrangements. However, if the funeral is held in the late afternoon, we will be glad to let you off one hour early, provided your work is caught up for the day.

Leave of Absence

(For an operation). We are no longer allowing this practice. We wish to discourage any thought that you may need an operation, as we believe as long as you are an employee here, you will need all of whatever you have and you should not consider having anything removed. We hired you as you are, and to have anything removed would certainly make you less than we bargained for.

Pregnancy

In the event of an extreme pregnancy, you will be allowed to go to the first aid room when the pains are five minutes apart. If it is a false alarm you will be docked one hour’s pay.

Death

(Your own). This will be accepted as an excuse, but we shall require two weeks notice as we feel it is your duty to teach someone else your job.

And Furthermore

Entirely too much time is spent in the classroom. In the future we will follow the practice of alphabetizing in order of performance. For instance those whose names begin with A” will go from 9:00-9:15. “B” will go from 9:15-9:30 and so on. If you are unable to go at your time, it will be necessary to wait until the day your turn comes around again.

* We are happy to report that Ms. Graham’s human resource policies have become more lenient over the years. We wish her a fulfilling retirement.

Own Up To Your Claims: 2

By Cleveland Ferguson III

I have received many calls, stopped in the halls, etc. to criticize — generally — what they thought was wrong for my decision to allow the Letters to the Editor page to be printed in the November 12, 1994 issue of The Nova Knight. I have — generally enough — received very few letters in the subject. Many of you stated that the Knight’s credibility should be questioned, and it is another case of bullsh*t. If the editorial staff allow the paper to be read to take part in individuals’ groups or institutions’ viewpoints.

I must say that the largest objection came from faculty members at several centers within the University. Their concern was whether they could not effectively respond to criticisms of their practices if they did not know the source. In my last editorial I stated that the problem with the letter originated from the lack of an objective, written article on the Bookbinder. Also, while the anonymous letters were appreciated, they allowed students to make claims about alleged inconsistencies without tangible support and journalism not allowed in this. As a result, in consultation with my advisor, the Letters to the Editor page (see adjacent page) was enacted. The Knight will stand by this decision. An anonymous letter that would be acceptable would be one written on a university letterhead or someone giving an account as an AUI victim. However, letters involving core knowledge policies i.e. alleged bookstore practices, administration “bashing” or regulation criticisms must be signed and the names will be printed. Perhaps we can effectively respond to the anonymous letters in the last issue. Perhaps those letters will be the last of Nova College Student Government Association meetings with petitions calling for an investigation — which held every Monday at 6 P.M. in the Roseweld Student Center — perhaps not. At least we will have a platform of student concern in which all of the — even if it was not an exercise of the keyboard. Let’s try to keep it up and own up — it was — we make that everyone has a chance to respond effectively.

Dear Editor,

thank Dean Phil DeTurk and Dr. Robert Preziosi for their contribution to a successful scholarship awards reception. We were very pleased with the turnout of scholarship recipients and faculty. Alpha Chi is honored to have the opportunity to recognize recipients of scholarship for their hard work and individuality. For too often, scholarship achievement goes without recognition, unlike other more conspicuous accomplishments such as excellence in athletics. Alpha Chi Society is an extension of such deserved recognition. We hope all recipients [of this year’s reception] will strive to become members of our society.

This is the second year Alpha Chi has hosted the Scholarship Reception. In future years, we will look to see more participation from members of Alpha Chi as they become aware of the importance of the reception to the philosophy of Alpha Chi. I would like to extend my special thanks to Alpha Chi members: Nancy Sangianni and Raiza Rodrigues and staff co-sponsor Caryn Asleson and Student Life for their contribution for the success of this year’s reception.

Tips For Future Justices

By J. Mango

Well, they’re finally over. The Senate confirmation hearings came and went, and in their wake they left a hollow, enlighened society on the possible revivability of virtual harassment. So, in light of recent developments, I offer these suggestions so that you, should you ever receive a Supreme Court nomination, can protect yourself against the slings and arrows of Senator Joe Biden.

1. If you notice a hair on a Coke can, don’t mention it to your co-workers. It can only go back to haunt you.

2. Never, no matter how witty the plot, discuss the most recent porn flick you’ve watched—especially in mixed company.

3. Never, no matter how accurate, compare yourself to anyone in the porn industry. You never know when these words will come up again.

4. When Senator Biden asks you if you would consent to a polygraph (that’s a lie detector for Florida HS graduates), say “Clarence didn’t take one, and neither will I.” A precedent like this works.

5. When working with anyone that has a degree above an Associate’s, do not use words like “Hoosiers,” “Jugs,” or “Bazookas.” You never know when these words will come up again.

6. If you are really pressed for an answer, stand up and scream, “How come Kennedy hasn’t said anything?”

7. Never let them see you sweat.

Well, I hope you find these tips useful and follow them to the letter. I wish you great success in your quest for a seat on the Supreme Court and, keep in mind, if you do not act in all the way, at least you can be assured of a job grilling other candidates on a Senate sub-committee.

November Establishes Joint Master’s Program

Nova News release

Nova University has recently established the only joint program in accounting and computer information systems in Florida. “This new program will give professionals comprehensive knowledge and skills both areas,” said Laurie P. Dingus, Sc.D., Director of Master’s Programs for the Center for Computer, Commerce, and Information. The program was designed for working professionals and include courses in advanced accounting and information systems, networks, systems design process, evaluation of accounting packages, taxation of individuals, corporations, and partnerships. To obtain a master of accounting and computer information systems, students must complete 39 credit hours of study, which usually takes about two years.

“We found that most of the accounting computer personnel—who those creating accounting programs—have little or no accounting, and almost all accountants have no in-depth computer education,” said Edward Baskin of the School of Business Administration. “Similar studies have found accountants are often the non-accounting student who was the recognized the need for this type of training. Business consultants who have experience in accounting and computer systems are in great demand,” he added.

The School of Business and Entrepreneurship at Nova University is one of the first programs in the state to offer master’s programs for working professionals emphasizing administrative and managerial ef-

What's Happening on Other College Campuses?

Wisconsin Students Get Hate Speech Rule Overturned

Students at the University of Wisconsin won a federal lawsuit on October 11, 1991 to overturn a hate speech rule that was instituted in 1989 after complaints of incidents of sexism and racism on campus. US District Court Judge Robert Warren in Milwaukee said the rule was unconstitutionally vague.

Fraternity Supports Ban on Grain Alcohol

Maurice Littlefield, spokesperson for the national fraternity Sigma Nu, announced support for a proposed ban of 190 proof liquor in Virginia on October 25, 1991. The grain alcohol has twice the alcohol content of other forms of hard liquor and cannot be detected in punch.

Overcrowded Classrooms Lead to More Cheating at UC Davis

The increase of students and the lack of classroom space had made it easier to cheat at the University of California at Davis, according to the Student Affairs Committee. The committee said there has been a 40% rise in reported cases of academic misconduct over the last five years.

Gay students Accuse Tufts of Inaction

Gay students at Tufts University held a speak-out November 4, 1991 to protest the administration’s failure to establish a full-time liaison to the gay, lesbian, and bisexual community. The liaison was recommended by an official task force.

The speak-out also called for more action against anti-gay harassment on campus.

Charges Filed Against Man for Selling Criminology Term Papers

Charges were filed on October 27, 1991 against A. Engler-Anderson for allegedly writing term papers in criminology for students at the University of South Florida. If Anderson is found guilty, the state prosecutor recommends that he donate $500 to the criminology department. One of the two students who bought his paper from Anderson was expelled. The other was dismissed from his major.

Sexual Harassment

“I think only men can change other men’s behavior. What they’re doing is a healthy reaction to the incredible increase of sexual crime and violence that have occurred in the last 10 years.”

While many men’s groups are taking direct action on their campuses by holding protests or demonstrations against sexism, others are seeking to educate their fellow classmates. Still other men’s groups are simply trying to deal with the sexism they see in themselves.
Little Man Tate:
Foster's child prodigy

by Jason Domasky

"Little Man Tate" is a surprisingly good movie from debuting director and long-time actress Jodie Foster. This movie is the unlikely story of a unique little boy named Fred whose mother, played by Jodie Foster, refuses to allow him to attend public school; she takes him to raise him.

This light-hearted film centers around Fred Tate, played by Adam Hann-Byrd, who is a fatherless child raised solely by his mother. Foster's portrayal is the direct opposite of Fred: uneducated and bullied. Yet, she is strong and loving, and truly cares for her son.

di> Zone: an extra sensory experience

by Jason Domasky

Zone's "Born of Fire" album weaves an integrated aural tapestry of tribal, choral, classical, and modern programmed music. British composers and songwriters Chris Bradnick and Andrew Cadmore describe Zone as the creative working relationship between which they express their theories about human nature.

"Born of Fire" echolocates memories and surpasses the listener with Gregorian chanting, looped tribal drum sequences, piano passages, choir singing, bells and gongs, echoing percussion treatments, and a stunning re-creation of an atomic explosion. Zone exploits the compact disc by paying special attention to clarity and scope in its recording. A careful listening reveals that the sounds seem to arc outward, beyond the familiar dynamic range of recorded music.

"Born of Fire" explains the differences between the world's cultures as the various attempts by humans to experience love, life, and light. The accompanying booklet includes haunting pictures and excerpts from like-minded literature, lyrics to the sole vocal track, "The Butterfly Effect," and reprints of the same in Italian and Japanese. Potentia Records, from the United Kingdom, and Musica Maxima Magnetica, from Italy, jointly released "Born of Fire." The compact disc for the adventurous listener.

Public Enemy distinguishes the genre with a trademark industrial sound.

by Greg Stafford

Public Enemy's "Apocalypse 91," the Enemy Strikes Black" and the Geto Boys "We Can't Be Stopped" are two powerful new releases in the rap industry. Hard core and harshness are shared characteristics between these two. A great deal of rap music is simple and pointless, but Public Enemy and the Geto Boys prove intelligence can sell over ego-gratifying and sexist.

Public Enemy's style goes beyond rap into the realms of industrial music. The music is hard and the tracks are excellently produced with multiple layers of sound. Their new release proves they still know how to stir up controversy. Their songs exemplify the oppression of the black race, the promotion of malt liquor within the inner city, and radio industry's fear of playing their music.

The compact disc includes a hard core version of their old hit, "Bring the Noise," performed jointly with metal artist Anthrax. Siouxsie tracks are "Lost at Birth," "Rhubarb," "Can't Trust It," and "NEW2" and the new version of "Bring the Noise."

The Geto Boys are not as well known as Public Enemy, but deserve attention. The music is not as expertly produced or layered, but the simple beats provide a soothing alternative. The single from the compact disc is "Mind Playing Tricks on Me," a current radio hit, but the best song is an anti-military rap brilliantly titled "—k a W ar."

If you enjoy rap music or have an open mind, then pass over such groups as Naughty by Nature and pick up the new Public Enemy or Geto Boys disc.
The "Amok Dispatch" book catalog, a mail-order service of the Amok Book Store in Los Angeles, makes available extremes of printed information to the public.

Amok obnoxiously brandishes the Constitutional right of the freedom of the press with the "Fourth Dispatch" catalog.

The selection of books ranges from esteemed philosophical works to racist, sexist, perverse rants about torture, death, and predatory behavior.

Brief descriptions of some of the books drive the imagination wild. The reader is told that Charles Platt's "The Gas" was banned in England and put Platt in jail. An explicit excerpt from the book confirms its controversial nature.

A book called "Vampires Are," by Stephen Kaplan, is described as research and proof on the existence of vampires. An illustration is shown of a United States map of vampire distribution in 1982.

The "Fourth Dispatch" categorizes books in topics such as mayhem, sleaze, sensory deprivation, and neuropolitics. An equally bizarre selection of cassettes and video tapes is also offered.

The fear that these unrestrained texts could end up in the wrong hands might unnerve some readers.

Bob's News & Book Store on Andrews Avenue in Fort Lauderdale carries a wide variety of Amok's offerings.

The Fisher King: a film with a lesson

by Greg Stallard

"The Fisher King," directed by Terry Gilliam, goes further than most films; it is a powerful, philosophical work.

In this movie Jeff Bridges plays a talk show host on top of the world, but circumstance sends him straight to the bottom. Bridges lives on alcohol and battles his memories, which are holding him back from once again climbing to the top.

One day he accidentally meets a crazed bum, played by Robin Williams, who shares some shocking similarities. Bridges feels obligated to help him out. They both learn to put the past behind them and go on with their lives.

Gilliam did a brilliant job with the camera, helping us to visualize Bridges' and Williams' struggle with their own past.

After viewing this film, it is evident that Gilliam is showing us that life has its struggles. These struggles can hold us back, but if we put the memories behind us, we can move on, yet still hold the memories as valuable lessons for future problems. Life has so many.

Gilliam also shows us that friends are very important, and anyone could be a true friend.

Love is an important aspect of this film as well. "The Fisher King" proves that love brings true peace into one's life. Everyone should invest in viewing this four-star film.

RSA Fights for More Convenient Postal Service

By Ricardo Pedro Deveaux

After weeks of negotiating with the Davie postal service and the Office of Residential Life, Nova University now has a mail drop off box.

The box is located in front of the Rosenthal Student Center and is now available for use. The postal service will pick up mail from the box twice daily.

We would like to thank Ms. Tammy Jones, Director of Residential Life, The Davie Postal Office and the students who supported this project.

This is a project of the Officers and members of Resident Student Association (RSA). Please support our efforts.

RSA has undertaken other projects during November.

A food drive was held Nov. 18th to Nov. 22nd, to assist underprivileged families during the Thanksgiving Season. The courtyard of Building D was cleaned.

RSA is also trying to put together a shuttle service for students without transportation and to arrange for a coin machine on campus.

Ricardo Deveaux, RSA president, said, "As an organization, we are trying to address concerns that students are having."

He further stated "RSA can only serve the student body if students are willing to assist in the organization efforts."

If you have any projects that you would like to see accomplished, please contact your RSA Representative on your dorm floor or Ricardo Deveaux. We are willing to serve you.

Nova Power Force Club of the Month

By Adrienne M. Bucchi

For those of you in attendance at Nova's first basketball game, Friday November 15th, you may have wondered if you were at the right school. The gymnasium was alive with active support, and you, SCHOOL SPIRIT! The Nova Knight Force, a newly formed Nova College Pep Squad, was the "force" behind this new attitude. Led by President Christine Tapper, members include Toni Farmer, Nicole Whitemore, Betty Sylvestre, Aka Ali, Tangis Alvarez, Christine Grimes, Sylvia Jackson, Barbara Montalmond, Marian Rodriguez, Michele Eier, Tyesha Blackman, Monique Keith, and Dana James. In only a few short weeks, the group learned a variety of cheers and dance routines, invented uniforms, organized Nova's first "Pop Week," and held a pep rally before the game. The group formed in an attempt to bring some much needed school spirit to Nova. Their achievements in such a short time are phenomenal," said Lori Savka, Advisor for the Force. "There were over 200 people in attendance at our first home game who were very supportive of our team. That's never happened before. I think the Nova Knight Force has become a catalyst for change on the Nova campus. It has fostered a school spirit which Nova has had unstable to develop in past years.

The Force plans to attend all Knight home games and hopefully some local away games. They also hope to outfit a school mascot by the end of the season.

The group encourages new membership. Students who want to join the squad but feel uncomfortable doing routines need not worry. Members can do the cheers from the bleachers without having to do the standing-up routines. Interested members should contact Lori Savka in the Student Life Office, room 2108C, 652-1400.

The Force plans to do a T-Shirt sale at the next fixture and asks everyone to support their

The chemical/industrial revolution has forever scarred the world population. From the earliest generations wanting to give us the automobile to the generation of today, we have created consequences that we must live with. Oil pollution, acid rain, ocean pollution, and ozone depletion are only a few of the problems we face today; however, the latter is of the utmost importance.

The ozone layer is our protection from the sun’s fatal ultraviolet rays. When the “big bang” occurred, small particles of many gases and dust formed at the highest part of our breathable atmosphere. Ozone Depletion occurred, small particles of many gases and dust formed at the highest part of our breathable atmosphere and gathered over the entire planet. This invisible layer and our most important means of survival, is slowly deteriorating every second of the day.

An effect of the layer’s deterioration is the melting glaciers. The accumulation of these gases traps the heat emitted into the atmosphere because of the lack of protection from the ozone layer. The overabundance of carbon dioxide does not allow much oxygen in and thus suffocates the environment. This obviously has a lasting effect on the planet’s inhabitants, including plant life.

Plants give off oxygen for us to breathe and in return, we breathe out carbon dioxide for the plants. An excess of carbon gas will cause the plants to die because their systems cannot handle the excess gas. Their death results in a lack of oxygen, and a decrease in the food supply. This in turn has a drastic effect on us.

When scientists discovered the ozone hole above Antarctica they found that it was a result of the accumulation of forty to fifty years worth of chemical pollutants. If the hole is only the culmination of the past fifty years, then how many more years of scar tissue have we created since? By the time we discover the damage from these years, we will have another thirty to forty years worth of implications to look forward to!

The environmental awareness that has grown in the past few years has made a change in the way we, as individuals, live. The message about chlorofluorocarbons has stressed that aerosols must be used less frequently or better still, not at all.

The damage already done cannot be reversed and is, as the seconds pass, making its mark.

Help Me!

By Carrie Russian

A helpless bird drowning in an oil-slicked bay. A magnificent Humpback whale hopelessly entangled in a net carelessly tossed into the ocean by a fisherman. A smokestack releasing harmful pollutants into the atmosphere.

Our world faces these problems, along with countless others, each day. The question is, how can we as individuals get ourselves out of these predicaments?

Organizations are designed to alleviate the deteriorating condition of our planet. But these organizations desperately need help, your help.

Joining these groups is simple. Dedication and strong desire are all that is necessary. A letter of concern can get you on your way.

These organizations range from saving your hometown park to saving our oceans. Getting involved will give you an overwhelming sense of accomplishment. Start small and work your way up.

What condition of the world distresses you the most?

Answer this question—then spend a few minutes writing to the organization of your choice. The earth will love you for it!!

THE GIFT OF FRIENDSHIP

Friendship is a priceless gift. That cannot be bought or sold. But its value is far greater than the value of any material object. For gold is cold and lifeless. It can neither see nor hear. In the time of trouble it is powerless to cheer. It has no ears to listen. No heart to understand. It cannot bring you comfort or reach out a helping hand. So when you ask God for a gift be thankful if he sends Not diamond, pearls or riches — But the love of real True Friends.

WEALTHY AND ALONE

Life is here and life is gone Without a love to call my own

TOGETHER

As I lay beneath the cold heartless sheets Images of you cloud my thoughts

Your loving breath dancing by my ear
The heat of your body warming my soul

Together we loved—Together we cried

Bodies entwined
I pick you up
Through the stars we soar
To the heavens we elope

Together we loved—Together we cried

With you at my side
Passion, romance at my side forever happiness flame—Oh, my aching heart

Together we laughed—Together we cried

A step ahead you have met eternal life
A step behind I await your welcome
Together we will die

Together we loved—Together we cried
Together we die —Jamie Amacher

I do not pursue
Those who go away from me;
I eat winter berries alone
In the room into which the Sun streams mellow.

Life is here and life is gone
Without a love to call my own

-Power and money controlled my time
Don’t need anyone I’ll be fine

-Never had anyone to embrace
No one at all just an empty space

-Never had anyone to talk to or to care
Just sit here with my books and blank stare

-A good looking man in my day
A fact I’m afraid has gone away
For all my work a million dollars I’ve got
But someone to share it with I have not
My advice to you I’d have to say
Love beats a dollar any day

Doctors were optimistic after the surgery and Vince was listed in stable condition in the intensive care unit. Vince was released from the hospital on the following Wednesday, November 6th.

Vince was the top pitcher for the Knights in '91, going 13-4 and being named to the All-District and All-Conference Teams at the end of the season. Vince opened the '91 season with a no-hitter against Miami's Florida Memorial College and went on to beat such teams as University of Detroit, Glenbrook State, and Northeast Connecticut State.

Since this experience Vince has dropped his classes but is still staying here on the main campus. His doctors told him to have no physical activity, including no walking to stay in shape. He has a very positive attitude about the team and their ability to win another national championship.

“I feel like I have done everything there is to do as a soccer player,” said Coach Sonny Hansley. “I think I have come back at 100%, "Coach Sonny Hansley continued, "He is a great competitor, and it may take some time, but I am sure he will be back at his full potential.”

Coach Hal Henderson Leaving After Illustrious Career

After an illustrious career that spanned for 27 years at five different colleges, Nova College Head Coach Hal Henderson is leaving the soccer field.

However, he will remain at Nova and will concentrate his efforts on Sports Training.

Henderson finishes his career with records of 195-200-31. His four season record here at Nova is 45-25-3. Hal’s coaching career started back in 1965 when he was named Head Coach at the University of Colorado. Over the next 27 years he coached at Rockford College (IL), The University of Wisconsin, St. Leo College (FL), and at Nova.

During the 1988 NAIA National Soccer Championships, Hal was inducted into the NAIA Soccer Hall of Fame for his "Meritorious Service" to the association.

“Losing in the first round of the play-offs was not exactly what I wanted to end my coaching career," said Henderson, "I hope everyone else was looking to play Lynn University in the finals."

"I feel like I have done everything there is to do regarding coaching soccer, and there are some other things I will be working to accomplish," Henderson stated.

Vince Explained.

On Friday November 8th at Flagler College, Nova University’s soccer team battled through regulation and two 15 minute overtime periods, only to fall to rival Flagler College at the 6:55 mark of sudden death in the semi-championship round of NAIA District 25-F play.

This marked the third straight year that Nova failed to make it through the opening round of post-season play. The losses in '91 and '92 both came against Georgia opponents Berry College. Both of these losses had extended into past regulation play.

This loss ended the Knights season at 11-5-3 and cost the team the opportunity to play the #1 seed, Lynn University (formerly College of Boca Raton). In the game against Flagler, both teams had plenty of chances to score throughout the game. Flagler out shot Nova 14-11. The winning goal was scored by sophomore Alan Okoli, on a breakaway where he drove the ball by Nova goalie Rohan Jackson.

Our players were extremely disappointed with the results," said Co-Head Coach Thomas Krongen. "I don’t think that we left anything on the field, the game was a great effort by both teams," he added.

Nova was only shutout three times during the season. Two of these shutouts were by Flagler. The other shutout loss was by Jacksonville University.

Amidst many injuries and difficulties during the season, Nova finished with a fine record and some impressive wins against some tough teams. Nova finished the season being ranked #22 in the NAIA final rankings. Flagler finished #7.
