Where Do You Stand Politically?

According to the Times-Mirror Center for the People and the Press, there are eleven voter groups in the United States that differ in their values and orientations, their party affiliation and their degree of political involvement:

Core Republicans
Enterprisers are 12% of the adult population. Affluent, well educated and predominantly male, this classic Republican group is characterized by its pro-business and anti-Communist and restrictive on personal freedoms.

Core Democrats
60's Democrats are 9% of the adult population and are

Deans' Luncheon Offers Forum For Every Student To Discuss Concerns About Nova College

By Stephanie Castonguay

The "Deans' Luncheon", held bi-monthly with Dean DeTurk and Dean Paskus, is off to a rolling start. The idea of Nova College's Deans having lunch with ten students and one faculty member is a big success.

Everyone involved sits down to lunch and discusses matters concerning the college. Ideas are tossed around, listened to, and acted on if the idea is a sound and benefit everyone.

One such idea came from Jennifer Merritt. Jen noticed the construction of the Rosenthal Building required students to walk around the building, during the day and nights. Walking from class one night she felt there should be lights on the new path for safety measures.

Dean DeTurk and Dean Paskus completely agreed. Before the luncheon was over, Brad Williams, Director of Student Life, was talking with John Sansutti, Director of Business Services and Facilities Management, to see if some lights could be put up.

Some other ideas that were mentioned regarded the curriculum that Nova College offers. The "night work class" is supported by most of the student body. One person thought some classes should be put back in the sixteen week format because of the amount of information that had to be taken in.

Patricia Robinson brought up the subject of the alcohol policy on campus. Patricia stated that, "Students of all ages would rather attend Student Life activities on campus. But if a 22 year old student feels like having a beer, he or she has to go off campus to have one, and may be miss out on an activity going on that day.

Nova Law Center Awarded $95,000 To Prevent Illegal Juvenile Detention and Delinquency

By Aka Ali

Nova University's Shepard Broad Law Center has gained a $95,982 grant from the Governor's Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention State Advisory Committee and the Department of Health and Rehabilitative Services (HRS) to fund a one year project called "Jail Removal Initiatives: Legal Interventions and Mediation."

This project will become a joint initiative of the Charles and Lucille King Disability Law Institute and the Civil Law Clinics of Nova University.

The project will establish a juvenile clinic and help financially support the Disability Institute's Mediation Program.

The project will provide free mediation services for children who are at high risk of entering the juvenile system and for the individuals with whom the children have disputes.

"Our mediation program has received strong support and positive response from HRS, the State Attorney, the people for whom we have mediated," said Fran Trounic, Administrator of the King Disability Law Institute and the Attorney, Supervising the grant.

The program will also divert children from the juvenile justice system by allowing children arrested on misdemeanor charges to mediate with their parents or guardian and the alleged victim as an alternative to court intervention.

The Clinic will employ certified legal interns with the State Attorney's Office, Public Defender's Office, and the Department of HRS.

The program is run with the cooperation of the State Attorney and the Department of HRS, with specially trained and supervised law students providing the mediation services.

The clinic's goal will be to reduce the number of illegal juvenile detentions in the Broward County Regional Juvenile Detention Center and Broward County Jail.

Apathy is the Sign of Our Demise

By Cleveland Ferguson III

We are the most pampered generation in the history of humankind. We have blenders in place of the churn. We can buy boxes of frozen chemicals at 24-hour supermarkets, instead of pounding bags of ice, stacking it between layers of salt and wait hours and hours for cold soup. Perhaps one of the most pampering items is television (with cable). It allows the poor of the plutocracy to feed their subliminal messages in our society with little detection. I might add that we have the most individual freedoms that any American society has ever had. One of them is the right to vote. It would probably be useless to get on a you-should-be-voting soap box because one could argue, who do we have that is qualified to vote for? Nevertheless, our vote is a proxy for our ability. Who do we have that is qualified to vote for?

Not all our representatives try to maintain the status quo, however. Exactly one comes to mind. One senator realized that voting or the lack thereof for national leaders probably couldn’t be tackled by a handful of people. Instead, he focused his energy on the state of Wisconsin. Senator Paul Wellstone (D) assembled a think tank, spoke at college campuses, high schools and civic centers. With the help of predominantly college students, he compiled a list of corrupt representatives from the local to state levels, registered people to vote, door-to-door and literally cleaned out the corrupted incumbents. (By the way, he’ll come and tell you how they did it for the cost of a plane ticket and a meal.)

In Egyptian, Greek and Roman societies, little room existed for apathy when they were in their respective golden ages. When each society began to decline, national apathy was present. Yet, like they did, we are letting the reigning plutocracy sap us of our energy to fight back. We talk about what is going wrong—oh we’re really pumped up to do that. But few are willing to mobilize and command our representatives to take responsibility for their actions and be true leaders. However, we spend too much time denigrating the reputations and criticizing those of us who are fighting to maintain the rights to do that. This—Nova University—we must stop, because the battle is being lost particularly owing to an ultra-conservative regime fomenting in power, but mainly due to national apathy. Think about it. Does Roe v. Wade have to be overturned?

When the people were upset with their national leaders, did they not let it be known, as was in the cases of Johnson, Nixon and Carter? You do have a say in how the world goes around other than complaining about it behind closed doors. Your say is your vote, your editorial in your local and/or college newspaper (hint-hint). Your say is in forming an organization to represent your constituency and to implement solutions that benefit you. So, will you continue to blame the present regime lead you into the new world order, where America will no longer have individual freedom? Will you continue to blame every economic fallout on Europe and continue to engage in Japan-bashing? Or will you give yourself a shot in the arm and stand up for positive changes in our waning society? The choice is up to you, and you don’t have much time to decide.

They Should Look Elsewhere

By Joe Cicalo

[Letter to the Editor]

Dear Editor,

I think it would be better for the Nova University Presidential Search Committee to conduct an internal search for a candidate, thereby retaining the current college administration. Why or why not?

"I don't think it would be a good idea.

1. A "university" gets its name from the Latin word "universo," meaning "everywhere." Why or why not?

"Yes, I feel that an outside source of administrative talent should be brought in from outside the college. For, I see such a position as an 'outside-the-box' perspective within an organization.

There were 136 applicants forwarded to the Search Committee, according to Abraham Fischer, President, Nova University. University members were encouraged to sign up online to fill that need, and they could be brought in from a different person from a different administration. Prior to Nova, I attended the University of Florida. When the application was final, President Marshall Senator retired, the university hired John Lombardi, a provost at John's Hopkins University. He brought in new ideas and almost single-handedly changed the school's reputation.

Dr. Steven E. Alford, Liberal Arts

"Because sometimes in order to change the future of the university, you must start with new directions and new ideas from a different president. The government allocates a limited amount of funds to this educational institution. It is crucial that an institution receive an injection of new blood to bring in a new perspective."
It'll never happen to me!

The Nova Knight February 28, 1992

It'll never happen to me! But it can and you need to react fast!

That's why you should always have the ECHO with you. It is a revolutionary high tech personal alarm. Upon activation, it emits a 110 (+/- 5) decibel alarm, which has a distinct sound pattern. Pull the rip cord device or depress the "on" switch whenever threatened or in distress, day or night. To deactivate the alarm the unit must be removed from the pouch, the battery compartment opened, and the battery disconnected. This, of course, takes time and two hands, thus affording a victim the opportunity to escape.

The ECHO can be attached to a purse, knapsack or belt. When worn visibly it can act as a warning to potential assailants. Being extremely flexible, it can be mounted in your auto, boat, cashiers checkstand or affixed to a door frame to act as the most economical and effective burglar alarm available today.

The ECHO has been presented to both Crimestoppers as well as a number of police departments, and the response has been extremely favorable. It has been highly recommended for its durability and effectiveness as an alarm, not as a weapon which could be used against the victim.

THE ULTIMATE SELF PROTECTION DEVICE FOR NON-VIOLENT PEOPLE

ECHO features:
- Fluorescent carrying pouch with velcro straps
- Durable "LEXAN" plastic case by GE
- Easily activated by button or rip cord
- Patented 110 decibel alarm-2 block notice
- Weighs only 7 ounces
- Unusual de-activation process
- 1 year manufacturer warranty

The ECHO Personal Alarm System was designed in emergencie!

One only needs to consider responsibility to ensure our own personal safety and the safety of those we care for.

The ECHO Personal Alarm System was designed for that very reason. It is a portable "passive" defensive device.

Wards off attackers!

Attracts attention

in emergencies!

WHO SHOULD OWN THE ECHO?

Anyone who:
- Has a profession which puts them at risk of being victimized by an assailant.
- Has a job which involves isolation such as security personnel.
- Travels or parks in remote areas such as a parking garage.
- Jog,s, bikes, walks, etc. at night.
- Has health problems and may require assistance.
- Is a fleet driver who works in dangerous areas.
- Wishes to create a more secure home environment and/or wishes to monitor children.
- Is an employer concerned with his employees' safety.
- Is a student and must be out at night.

A gift that stands out in the minds of the people who receive them

By Akk Ali

The Munich Chamber Orchestra performed in the Amaturo Theater at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts on February 14, 1992.

The Orchestra, founded by Christoph Stepp in 1950 and led by Artistic Director Hans Stadelmaier, includes an eclectic mix of classically trained and world-renowned performers. Some other subjects that concerned the students were the lack of recreational facilities available, the Intramural competition, and the number of men's athletic teams as compared to the women's athletic teams.

Drina Barber commented on the good decisions of the dorms this year and how they have changed so dramatically from last year.

Turkish Dance Company Brings its Folklore to the Broward Center for the Performing Arts

News Release

The Halay, Bar, Horon, Zeybek, Karasalama and Dance with Spoons are the dances. The Zurna, Kaval, Davul, Tel, Darbuka and Kemenje are the instruments.

Through the dances and the instruments, the Istanbul Turkish Folklore Dance Co. will introduce the folk of Turkey to the Broward Center for the Performing Arts on January 30 in the Amaturo Theatre.

The Istanbul Turkish Folklore Co. performances were highlighted by colorful costumes, mesmerizing Turkish dance elements, and traditional Turkish musical instruments.

Among the dances that thrilled the audience were: the Halay, which depicted an act of heroism or end-of-harvest celebration. The Bar had a serious and austere character due to the mountainous, harsh physical features and cold climate of the region in which it originated.

The Zeybek dance was based on the show of bravery. It is also danced on national holidays. The women's dance is performed at weddings and on special occasions.

The Zeybek dance is performed by either men alone, or women alone. In this case, they conducted both variations. The men's dance was an act of personality and courage while the women's dance stressed the grace and refinement of women.

The Karasalama dance is from the Marmara region in the northwest region of Turkey. The performance was a part of the overall Turkish Festival Week, January 26-February 1.

It is organized and sponsored by: Professor Talsin and Mrs. Suheyla Gencsoy, Mr. and Mrs. Haluk Okcuoglu, and the Sinofina Virtuosi & Chorus, Maestro James Brooks-Buzaze, Artistic Director, as well as the Florida Turkish American Women's Association in Fort Lauderdale, with assistance from the Student Board of Broward County and the Broward Center for the Performing Arts.

More information is available at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts.

Hillel is the Jewish Community Center on the campus. It is a community of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty, and college-age community people who come together with varying viewpoints and approaches to Judaism to share in the celebration, learning, leisure, prayer and fun. Above all, it is a gathering place for friends, and a meeting place for would-be friends. In short, Hillel is what you make it. B'nai B'rith Hillel is organized by students for students. Every month an organization meeting is held, where students plan the next month's activities. This meeting is open to all students and young people in the community. Palm Beach area students meet monthly to plan additional activities for their area.

The Hillel staff is available to discuss options for Jewish campus activities and to help encourage a variety of Jewish expressions. The staff is also available for schmoozing, teaching, discussing, and counseling.

The Nova Forum Changes Its Name To Signify Its Change In Direction

Singleton Vasquez

The Nova Forum has changed its name to signify its change of direction. The Forum will be known as the Forensic Society.

This newly formed club crept into action almost overnight. They gathered silently, gaining strength, preparing to hit this campus with a bang.

The club is more than a club; it represents a union between speech and debate as well as a team to compete in both endeavors. The Forensics Society exists because many students on campus want it to exist, and that is what I have been trying to tell students all along. If you want clubs on campus that suit your needs, form them! The Nova Forum is a good example of just that.

They plan to become a competitive team next Fall, and all eight members, including the two new members, are very excited about it. The team is only a few weeks old, and isn't very well known, but this will change in weeks to come.

The Forum plans to hold a series of debate presentations on WNKR, Nova University's Radio Station, focusing on issues that closely relate to the students and to the campus. The first presentation that they plan to hold is on AIDS, covering such areas as hospital treatment, immigrants, and insurance companies' policies. These presentations will be taped.

Dr. Stoddart, the new advisor stated, "Maybe these tapes could be distributed to target areas to increase awareness."

When attending a meeting, I noticed a great deal of caring about the issues they choose to discuss. They all feel deeply about these issues, and it shows that people out there are willing to use resources to accomplish their means. Sympathy was felt when discussing the Haitians, exchanging articles and unfortunate stories, that got everybody emotionally involved.

The meetings are powerful and very enlightening, and I encourage all to attend their meetings, held every Tuesday at 5:30 in the Liberal Arts trailer. They are always looking for new members, and will welcome them warmly. If you wish to join, or to know a little bit more about the Forum, call Dr. Stoddart at 542-1524, or just show up at their meetings.

Gospel music has a surprisingly strong hold on the contemporary young generation. Of course, this assumption is based on this music's spastic influence on society's youth. The recent rejuvenation of gospel music has much to do with technology. The leaders of the world of gospel saw an opportunity to reach out to the young generation by giving them the force that drives many adolescents and young adults to go see Hammer in concert: excitement!

Gospel music has achieved this feat by using the same instruments moving crowds to rock for BOYZ II MEN. The artists try to inspire listeners to accept God.

Synthesizers, advanced mixing systems, and sound tracks are just some of the new integrated parts that drive this new wave of music.

The established groups and the changes they have made to compete with this new wave of composition provide the best example of modern gospel music. One such group is a well-known local band, The Smiling Jubilairs.

Beginning their singing careers in the early fifties, the Smiling Jubilairs will celebrate their fortieth year in the gospel singing business. They have crafted great hits such as, "Shine on Me Lord," "Walk Out In Jesus' Name," and "God Is Getting Us Ready For That Great Day."

But their newest exploit is a release titled "Healing Power." It contains the threads of what originally made them great. Those traits are the rhythmic beats of a song full of soul. As can be pointed out, their songs deal with the interrelationship between man and divinity and the trials of man.

The steps taken by this group to remain innovative include incorporating a young man into their fold (to pass the torch of knowledge of the group on to the younger generation) and incorporating synthesizers. These two changes make "Healing Power" a guaranteed winner in the world of gospel. So time rolls on and God keeps on smiling. (Group members: Gene Cross, Tyrone Prince, Dec. Harold Ross, Dec. Vernell Montgomery, John D. McDowell, and Eugene Cross; singers).

Golfing Knights Ready For An Outstanding Season

Nova Athletic News Service

The Golfing Knights are coming off an outstanding fall season, in which they recorded their first ever tournament victory at Jacaranda Country Club.

With their first tournament victory under their belt the Golfing Knights are entering the upcoming spring season with high expectations. In the off-season, Nova signed two new players who have potential to carry the Knights to the next level of play.

The first player is Chad Crane, a transfer student from Purdue University, and the second is Dan Keogh, an incoming freshman from Toronto.

"These two players have the potential to help our team reach the nationals, if they can mature rapidly in a short amount of time," said Head Coach Dennis Dannacher.

The team will once again rely on the skills of David Schuster, who posted a fall average of 74-72. David also tied for first in the Nova Invitational.

"David is easily one of the best 25-F college golfers in the entire state, and I would not be surprised if Dave pulls down a couple of victories this spring," said Dannacher.

"If the Knights want to win they know they have a lot of hard work in front of them. The returning starters must improve their level of play, and the new players must fill some high expectations.

Another factor that could help the Knights is that the University of North Florida is the defending NAIA National Champions. This high level of play will help improve the tough Knights and help them gain some valuable tournament experience. Another advantage of having the Ospreys in our conference is that they automatically receive a bid to the National Tournament.

As Head Coach Dennis Dannacher put it, "Everything is set up for the Knights to receive their first bid to the nationals, it depends on how badly the players want to win."

Men's Basketball Closing in on .500 Mark (8-10)

Nova Athletic News Service

The basketball team has already won more games than they did one season ago, when the team struggled to a 7-21 record. With nine games to go, the Knights could do something that has never been done, have a winning season.

In nine seasons of competition, Nova has never had a winning basketball record. The closest the team has ever come to a winning record goes all the way back to the '83-'84 season when they finished at 11-12.

"We are going to take these games one at a time," said head Coach Jim Michaels. "It's important that we concentrate on each opponent without looking ahead."

Nova has a record of 3-2 in the Florida Sun Conference and 4-3 in the District 25-F. "I like our chances every time we take to the court," said Michaels. "We continue to improve and have a strong desire to win."
