ABOUT PEACE AND CONFLICT STUDIES (PCS)

Peace and Conflict Studies (PCS—ISSN1082-7307) is committed to interdisciplinary explorations on conflict resolution, peace building, humanitarian assistance, and other alternative mechanisms that seek to prevent and control violence. PCS is also interested in articles focusing on social change and nonviolence: sustainable development, ecological balance, community revitalization, reflective practice, action research, social justice, human rights, gender equality, intercultural relations, grassroots movements and organizational transformations. Manuscripts may address various human experiences, social issues, and policy agendas that are connected to the research literature, practice, and experiential learning in the fields. As a semiannual academic journal, PCS is published in an online format (http://shss.nova.edu/pcs/). Views expressed in articles and other contributions that appear in PCS may not necessarily reflect endorsement by the Editorial Board or Staff. PCS provides opportunities and forums for dialogs over various ideas, assessments, recommendations, and critiques.

Issue Authors

Galia Golan is Darwin Professor emerita, Hebrew University of Jerusalem, where she was head of the Political Science Department and founder of the Lafer Center for Women’s Studies. Presently professor and founder of the Diplomacy and Conflict Studies Program at the Interdisciplinary Center, Herzliya, she is the author of nine books, including Israel and Palestine: Peace Plans and Proposals from Oslo to Disengagement, Markus Wiener Publishers, Princeton, 2007. She is a long-time peace and feminist activist. Email: ggolan@idc.ac.il.

Claire Breen is an Associate Professor at Te Piringa-Faculty of Law at the University of Waikato, New Zealand. Dr Breen's interest in the legal obligations stemming from peace support missions is a reflection of her interest in the confluence between human rights law and the laws of armed conflict and international humanitarian law. This research has been generously supported by the New Zealand Law Foundation in the course of a project entitled "The National and International Legal Obligations and Consequences for New Zealand Arising from its Peace Support Operations". Dr. Breen would like to thank the New Zealand Law Foundation for their generous financial support in the conduct of research for this article. She has previously published extensively in the area of children's rights. Email: cbreen@waikato.ac.nz.

Cheryl Duckworth is an Assistant Professor of Conflict Resolution at Nova Southeastern University. Her teaching and research focus on peace education, development and conflict and social movements. Her study of the indigenous land rights movement, Land and Dignity in Paraguay, was recently published (Continuum Press, March 2011). She blogs at http://teachforpeace.blogspot.com. Email: cheryl.duckworth@nova.edu. Dr. Duckworth notes, “I would like to dedicate this article to two of the finest peace educators I know, Ms. Kate Fitzpatrick and Ms. Patricia Ross, as well as all of my ‘d-home” students who held their heads high anyway.”

Kofi Nsia-Pepra is an Assistant Professor of Political Science (International Relations/Comparative Politics) at Ohio Northern University. Kofi was a former Air Force Officer of the Ghana Air Force (1990-1999). He served with the United Nations’ Assisted Mission in Rwanda (UNAMIR). He also served with the Economic Community of West African States Monitoring Group (ECOMOG) as the Ghana Air Force detachment commander during the Sierra Leonean War. His research interests are conflict analysis and resolution, international security, human rights, international organizations and governance. His article, “Official and Illicit Arms Transfer Data in Southeast Asia” was published in the Journal of Peacebuilding and Development in 2009. Email: k-nsia-pepra@onu.edu.

Shavkat Kasymov is a lawyer and an international policy analyst. He holds a M.A. degree in International Peace Studies from the University of Notre Dame, Indiana, USA. His research interests are related to international conflict resolution, conflict transformation, peace building, sustainable economic development, and social justice. Email: shavkatik@gmail.com.
