11-22-2004

The Knight Volume 15: Issue 10

Nova Southeastern University

Follow this and additional works at: https://nsuworks.nova.edu/nsudigital_newspaper

NSUWorks Citation
https://nsuworks.nova.edu/nsudigital_newspaper/294

This Newspaper is brought to you for free and open access by the NSU Digital Collections at NSUWorks. It has been accepted for inclusion in The Current by an authorized administrator of NSUWorks. For more information, please contact nsuworks@nova.edu.
Eight-time Pulitzer Prize Nominee Edwin Black Joins Guests for “Cocktails and Conversation”

Inspirational speaker and world-renowned investigative author shares his views about the ongoing war in Iraq

By Earl Tinsley

Visual Design

On Wednesday, November 10, NSU community members, American Jewish Congress (AJCongress) members, and their guests were invited to the Alvin Sherman Library for “Cocktails and Conversation” with New York Times and international best-selling author Edwin Black. The event was hosted by Paul Breitner, who is President of the Southeast Region of AJCongress, and moderated by Dr. Gary Gershman, a professor at the Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences. Thirty minutes into the evening, Breitner introduced Edwin Black and Dr. Gershman to the audience.

Black opened up the evening by discussing his long-term role and commitment to AJCongress, an international organization that was started in March of 1930, before Hitler came into power. The conversation then moved on to Black’s latest book, Banking on Baghdad, a look at 7,000 years of history in Iraq. Black went into detail about Arab nationalism, as well as the decisions made by the League of Nations on July 24, 1920 and how they in turn affected the Arabs.

According to Black, the war in Iraq “is all about the oil, and until we find a way to stop breaking our backs over it, we’re never going to get out of it.” He then added that all this chaos could be avoided if the legislature would get on board with using hydrogen as an alternative energy source. Hydrogen would be more cost efficient and could run cars, airports, lights, and electricity according to Black. However, he asserted that it has not been pursued because it is cheap, and the legislature has not found a way to make us pay for it. Oil: The final chapter, Black’s next book set to be released in 2006, will get to the bottom of the oil situation, explaining how we got addicted and exploring whether it was necessary.

Black wrapped up the evening by explaining the link between IBM and the Holocaust. He explained that through the use of punch cards (an early data storage medium) IBM consciously devised a plan to execute the six phases of the Holocaust, from identification and confiscation to deportation and extermination. While Black researched for this investigative story, IBM refused to cooperate, and offered no comment. To this day, IBM’s official stance on their involvement in the Holocaust is “we know nothing!”

Check out the Homecoming Section Pages 7-9

On the air with DJ Soozin
Page 13

Women’s Volleyball efforts prove futile against Barry U.
Page 17

Introducing Chip
Page 19

Featured Sections
Knightlife . . . 7
A&E . . . . . . . 11
Sports . . . . 17
Dear NSU Community,

I walk in and out of the ASA building a lot. A whole lot. And so do a lot of other people. So it stands to reason that when something is different, someone would notice. This was the case sometime last week when I noticed a new sticker on the front door, saying that there was an Automated External Defibrillator (AED) inside. Now, I couldn’t exactly remember seeing one in the ASA building, although I have seen the ones in Parker and Horvitz, so I went searching.

First floor: no AED. Second floor: same thing. Third floor: none there either. Needless to say (although I’m saying it anyway), I found this a tad strange. They’re supposed to be in every building. The sticker on the door assures that there is, indeed, one in the ASA building, and everyone knows that stickers never lie. So after much procrastination (to which I sadly admit), I finally called up Campus Safety to ask about it.

The very helpful people at Campus Safety, after a bit of checking, explained that the AED was going to be installed but simply hadn’t been yet. I’m not ragging on them, but I think they probably should have waited until it had actually been installed before putting something on the door saying that it had been in case someone actually goes into cardiac arrest and needs it.

Some of you may not be entirely sure what this AED thing I’m talking about is. I certainly didn’t know what a defibrillator was until I noticed the one in the Parker Building last year. A friend kindly explained “it’s the thing that they rub together and go ‘CLEAR!’ zzzzt!” Having seen plenty of that on television (don’t you just love medical dramas?), I knew exactly what she meant. Unfortunately, I still don’t know how to use the thing, even though the AED doesn’t require the “CLEAR!” part cuz it’s automated.

I guess the moral of the story (other than when one puts a sign up saying that something is somewhere, it probably should already be there) is that everyone should know what an AED is, where they’re at in the place you frequent, and, ideally, how to use one. I’m going to be looking into it myself.

The Red Cross offers training on the AED in conjunction with their CPR courses, so those who keep their CPR certification up to date should check into this. You can get more information on the AED and training courses at the Red Cross’ website at http://www.redcross.org/services/hss/courses/aed.html.

Sincerely,

Alisha Vanhoose

Corrections

In the November 15 Issue, the picture on page 16 captioned as portraying Phi Sigma Theta should actually have been captioned as a picture of Phi Sigma Sigma. Also, the member referenced as Kristine Samos should actually have read Kristine Santos. Also, on page 16, the headline “2nd Annual Block Party” should have read “4th Annual Block Party.”

NSU Events Calendar
11/22/04-11/28/04

• 11/22 – Monday Night Football
  9:00 p.m. at the Flight Deck

• 11/23 – Menopause the Musical
  8:00 p.m. - 9:00 p.m. at the Miniaci Center

• 11/24 – Day before Thanksgiving
  No Classes (Farquhar College of Arts & Sciences)

• 11/25 – Happy Thanksgiving

• 11/26 & 11/27 – Menopause the Musical
  8:00 p.m. - 9:30 p.m. at the Miniaci Center

Special 11/29: The Knight will not be published due to the Thanksgiving Holiday. Look for our next issue on December 6, Steve Wozniak, co-founder of Apple Computer, addressed a number of local tech groups and the general public at the Miniaci Performing Arts Center on November 14. The man behind the design of the first Apple I computer talked about his background, his inspirations, and his journey to the forefront of technology.

A large group of enthusiastic Apple fans gathered around 5 p.m. in the Carl DeSantis Building, eagerly awaiting Wozniak’s speech. Vendors set up tables with information on their computer groups, displays showing old Apple ads, and raffles for various Apple prizes. At 6 p.m., the crowd was ushered across the street to the Miniaci Center, where Wozniak was introduced by Assistant Dean/Director of Graduate Programs Dr. Eric Ackerman.

Wozniak began by talking about his childhood, where from an early age he took an interest in electronics. Throughout grade school, he built his own electronics, such as a ham radio, through which he found “it was that reaching out” to the world that was “so powerful.” In sixth grade, he built his first computer that could play tic-tac-toe.

As a teen, Wozniack became interested in the design of computers. He believed that, “if you design it right,” fewer chips will be needed, and the overall performance will be more efficient. With his already impressive background, Wozniak left his California home to attend the University of Colorado. Amidst his accomplishments there, he was also put on probation for “computer abuse,” when he ran his class five times over budget by running too many punch card-based programs.

After college, Wozniak began working at Hewlett-Packard, and in his spare time he “wanted to design [his] own computer,” which would become the Apple I. With his friend Steve Jobs, Wozniak developed a computer which he thought would be great for games. In the end, businesses became the top buyers.

Wozniak’s contributions to the technology industry are insurmountable, as he played a major role in establishing the computer as it is known today. He continues to inspire students by donating computers and teaching computer classes, where “everything we did had to be fun.”

At the conclusion of his speech, Wozniak helped raffle off an iPod Mini to a lucky audience member. The personable speaker was also available to greet his many fans and sign autographs.

Local student Sam Ward, who enjoyed the speech, has “always been a big Mac fan,” and thought that Wozniak “seems like a really cool guy.” Another student, James Manis, “definitely liked the pranks” Wozniak played, such as scrambling his classroom televisions in college.
Resettive Summer Policies at NSU Ruin Summer Plans

In most foreign countries, people can graduate and start to practice medicine at the age of 21. In the United States, however, after four years of undergraduate work, four years of medical school, and four years of residency, the average person is around 30 years of age before they can begin practicing. I don’t want to be 30 before I can begin to practice medicine independently. Therefore, I have meticulously planned out my future. In order for me to become a doctor by the age of 25, which would be ideal, my plan requires that I attend school every summer henceforth.

When considering summer school, NSU was not one of my choices. Why? It’s just too expensive. A summer at NSU will cost me $5,000, compared to $500 at Broward Community College. Any frugal individual would prefer to pay $500 as opposed to $5,000. I had already decided to attend BCC this summer – that is, until my counselor informed me of NSU’s restrictive summer policy. In the Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences, when the student body voted us into office. It is our job to represent you. Please note, we voted and passed the motion to open up the Budget Hearing for you. We will be taking all students’ votes into consideration during the next budget hearing. After all, you, the student body, voted us into office. It is our responsibility! We are currently deciding on the budget guidelines for all chartered undergraduate organizations. Let us know what you think has a high priority for funding, and what has a low priority. We will be taking all students’ views into consideration during the next budget hearing. After all, you, the student body, voted us into office. It is our job to represent you. Please note, we voted and passed the motion to open up the Budget Hearing for you. Students now will be allowed to come to the Budget Hearing and speak on behalf of their organization. Please let me know if you have any questions concerning this column or the NSU Student Government Association. You can reach me at pphillip@nova.edu. Have a great week!

Student Government Association

By Jason Peebles
NonTraditional Senator

Resolution: A Dead End, presented by Freshman Senator Furmanski

This resolution states the lack of a sidewalk is an inconvenience to resident students that live in the Farquhar Dorms. Resolution Approved.

Bill: The True Meaning of Christmas, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

The IV Christian Fellowship was not chartered during the budget process. IVCF asked for money for their philanthropic event. This Bill was tabled until a member of the organization can come to a SGA meeting and present this Bill.

Bill: More Events for Pre-Pharm, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

This Bill did not ask for additional funds, just to more effectively utilize the funding already allocated to a more beneficial way at the Pre-Pharm meetings. Bill Approved.

Bill: Can We Have A Plaque?, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

Again, not asking for additional funds, the Pre-Pharm Society requested permission to use the current funding to purchase a plaque for one of their prestigious speakers. Bill Approved.

Thank you, Dean Williams, for attending our meeting! Dean Williams’ insight and wisdom is always greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Nicole Garber of the Rowing Team, for attending our meeting! Nicole Garber invited the Student Government Association to their team fundraiser at 39 Company in Hollywood. They were raising money to buy “shells” (boats). The fundraiser, held this past Tuesday, was only $10 per person for an all-you-could-eat Italian meal. There was not an empty seat in the entire restaurant! Congratulations to the NSU Rowing Team!

Make sure to be present at today’s November 22 IOC meeting! Students will be giving presentations in hopes of becoming elected as the next IOC Senator. There are now two positions open, making a total of three IOC Senators. Thank you again for voting during Homecoming Week for our legislation. Your voice has been heard.

Our meetings for the remainder of this semester will remain on Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Starting in January, the meetings will be on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. The meetings are still located in the Goodwin Senior Residence Hall in classroom A, near the main lobby on the first floor. Now is a great time to come and voice your view of the Budget Process. We are currently deciding on the budget guidelines for all chartered undergraduate organizations. Let us know what you think has a high priority for funding, and what has a low priority. We will be taking all students’ views into consideration during the next budget hearing. After all, you, the student body, voted us into office. It is our job to represent you. Please note, we voted and passed the motion to open up the Budget Hearing for you. Students now will be allowed to come to the Budget Hearing and speak on behalf of their organization. Please let me know if you have any questions concerning this column or the NSU Student Government Association. You can reach me at pphillip@nova.edu. Have a great week!

Student Government Association

By Jason Peebles
NonTraditional Senator

Resolution: A Dead End, presented by Freshman Senator Furmanski

This resolution states the lack of a sidewalk is an inconvenience to resident students that live in the Farquhar Dorms. Resolution Approved.

Bill: The True Meaning of Christmas, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

The IV Christian Fellowship was not chartered during the budget process. IVCF asked for money for their philanthropic event. This Bill was tabled until a member of the organization can come to a SGA meeting and present this Bill.

Bill: More Events for Pre-Pharm, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

This Bill did not ask for additional funds, just to more effectively utilize the funding already allocated to a more beneficial way at the Pre-Pharm meetings. Bill Approved.

Bill: Can We Have A Plaque?, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

Again, not asking for additional funds, the Pre-Pharm Society requested permission to use the current funding to purchase a plaque for one of their prestigious speakers. Bill Approved.

Thank you, Dean Williams, for attending our meeting! Dean Williams’ insight and wisdom is always greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Nicole Garber of the Rowing Team, for attending our meeting! Nicole Garber invited the Student Government Association to their team fundraiser at 39 Company in Hollywood. They were raising money to buy “shells” (boats). The fundraiser, held this past Tuesday, was only $10 per person for an all-you-could-eat Italian meal. There was not an empty seat in the entire restaurant! Congratulations to the NSU Rowing Team!

Make sure to be present at today’s November 22 IOC meeting! Students will be giving presentations in hopes of becoming elected as the next IOC Senator. There are now two positions open, making a total of three IOC Senators. Thank you again for voting during Homecoming Week for our legislation. Your voice has been heard.

Our meetings for the remainder of this semester will remain on Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Starting in January, the meetings will be on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. The meetings are still located in the Goodwin Senior Residence Hall in classroom A, near the main lobby on the first floor. Now is a great time to come and voice your view of the Budget Process. We are currently deciding on the budget guidelines for all chartered undergraduate organizations. Let us know what you think has a high priority for funding, and what has a low priority. We will be taking all students’ views into consideration during the next budget hearing. After all, you, the student body, voted us into office. It is our job to represent you. Please note, we voted and passed the motion to open up the Budget Hearing for you. Students now will be allowed to come to the Budget Hearing and speak on behalf of their organization. Please let me know if you have any questions concerning this column or the NSU Student Government Association. You can reach me at pphillip@nova.edu. Have a great week!

Student Government Association

By Jason Peebles
NonTraditional Senator

Resolution: A Dead End, presented by Freshman Senator Furmanski

This resolution states the lack of a sidewalk is an inconvenience to resident students that live in the Farquhar Dorms. Resolution Approved.

Bill: The True Meaning of Christmas, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

The IV Christian Fellowship was not chartered during the budget process. IVCF asked for money for their philanthropic event. This Bill was tabled until a member of the organization can come to a SGA meeting and present this Bill.

Bill: More Events for Pre-Pharm, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

This Bill did not ask for additional funds, just to more effectively utilize the funding already allocated to a more beneficial way at the Pre-Pharm meetings. Bill Approved.

Bill: Can We Have A Plaque?, presented by Commuter Senator Barry

Again, not asking for additional funds, the Pre-Pharm Society requested permission to use the current funding to purchase a plaque for one of their prestigious speakers. Bill Approved.

Thank you, Dean Williams, for attending our meeting! Dean Williams’ insight and wisdom is always greatly appreciated.

Thank you, Nicole Garber of the Rowing Team, for attending our meeting! Nicole Garber invited the Student Government Association to their team fundraiser at 39 Company in Hollywood. They were raising money to buy “shells” (boats). The fundraiser, held this past Tuesday, was only $10 per person for an all-you-could-eat Italian meal. There was not an empty seat in the entire restaurant! Congratulations to the NSU Rowing Team!

Make sure to be present at today’s November 22 IOC meeting! Students will be giving presentations in hopes of becoming elected as the next IOC Senator. There are now two positions open, making a total of three IOC Senators. Thank you again for voting during Homecoming Week for our legislation. Your voice has been heard.

Our meetings for the remainder of this semester will remain on Monday evenings at 7 p.m. Starting in January, the meetings will be on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. The meetings are still located in the Goodwin Senior Residence Hall in classroom A, near the main lobby on the first floor. Now is a great time to come and voice your view of the Budget Process. We are currently deciding on the budget guidelines for all chartered undergraduate organizations. Let us know what you think has a high priority for funding, and what has a low priority. We will be taking all students’ views into consideration during the next budget hearing. After all, you, the student body, voted us into office. It is our job to represent you. Please note, we voted and passed the motion to open up the Budget Hearing for you. Students now will be allowed to come to the Budget Hearing and speak on behalf of their organization. Please let me know if you have any questions concerning this column or the NSU Student Government Association. You can reach me at pphillip@nova.edu. Have a great week!

The Knight will not be published on Monday, November 29 due to the upcoming Thanksgiving Holiday. Not to worry though, the next issue of The Knight will be released on December 6.
Palestinian Leader Dies at the age of 75

By Rafia Chodhry
News Editor

Palestinian leader Yasser Arafat’s death was confirmed on November 11 at 3:30 a.m. after nearly two weeks at a French military hospital for treatment of a mysterious illness.

After a week in France, Arafat fell into a coma and was placed on a life support machine. Channel 13 News reported that during his final hours, an Islamic cleric sat at Arafat’s bedside reading from the Qur’an. Also with him was his wife Suha.

President Bush commented on Arafat’s death as “a significant moment in Palestinian history.” In a statement released after Arafat’s death, the President said the United States conveys its condolences to the Palestinian people, and it anticipates that the future will bring peace. For more information on Yasser Arafat’s death and his complete biography, visit http://news.bbc.co.uk.

Scott Peterson Found Guilty in First and Second Degree

By Rafia Chodhry
News Editor

After a five-month, highly publicized trial, former fertilizer salesman Scott Peterson, 32, was convicted November 12 of first-degree murder of his wife Laci Peterson and second-degree murder of his unborn child, Conner.

Christmas Eve 2002, Scott Peterson reported Laci, eight months pregnant, missing from their home in Modesto California. Four months later, the headless and limbless body of Laci Peterson and the remains of her fetus were washed up on a San Francisco Bay Beach.

In court, Prosecutor Rick Dis-taso argued that “Peterson killed his wife and dumped her weighted body overboard from his finishing boat.” On the other hand, defense lawyers argued that “Mrs. Peterson was abducted by strangers who murdered her.”

After the dismissal of two jurors and nearly a week of deliberation, the verdict of guilty in the first- and second-degree murders was put forth. It is now left to them to decide whether Peterson should get the death penalty or a life sentence.

New Farquhar College Associate Dean Appointed

Academic Director for the Division of MST excited about new position

By Greg Kyriakakis
Staff Writer

Dr. Naomi D’Alessio, a longtime faculty member of NSU, was appointed Associate Dean of the Farquhar College of Arts and Sciences. Serving as the Academic Director for the Division of Math, Science, and Technology for sixteen years, D’Alessio is well versed with the NSU community. She also served as Interim Associate Dean from June 1 until she was officially appointed Associate Dean. The Associate Dean works closely with the Dean and the College’s Division Directors.

D’Alessio is "excited about the direction the college is moving in," especially with the recent expansion of available majors. She is also proud that NSU offers “value-added programs,” like Dual Admittance and the Honors Program, which “add a wonderful component to the college.”

A New York native, D’Alessio began her teaching career in her former state, where she worked with the Education Department to help write standardized exams. In addition to her responsibilities as Associate Dean, D’Alessio hopes to return to teaching classes again at NSU.
HPD Happenings is a column highlighting the events of the Health Professions Division. The focus will be on student affairs, but other events of interest will be included.

On Friday, November 5, 2004, the Administration of NSU dedicated a plaque in honor of Morton Terry, D.O., the former Chancellor of the Health Professions Division. The plaque was added to the Terry Memorial Garden, which is located in front of the Assembly II Building near the clock tower on the HPD campus. Dignitaries including Board of Trustee members, August C. Paoli and Robert A. Steele and NSU President Ray Ferrero, Jr., paid tribute to Dr. Terry for his many years of service to the Osteopathic profession and to the NSU community.

The College of Optometry participated in its college accreditation site visit from November 15-17. An accreditation team from the Accreditation Council on Optometric Education met with administration, faculty, and students to evaluate the College's progress in attaining its academic goals.

During the week of November 15-19, toy drives were sponsored by both the Kappa Psi Pharmacy Fraternity and the Christian Medical Dental Society.

On Wednesday, November 17, representatives from the American Optometric Association hosted a luncheon for faculty, residents, and students. A discussion of various issues concerning the national organization was held.

By Karen Warmuth
Coordinator for Admissions/Student

Upcoming Events:

On Monday, November twenty-second, members of SVOSH (Student Volunteers in Optometric Services to Humanity) will be hosting a Thanksgiving luncheon in the atrium near the HPD library. A traditional Thanksgiving meal will be served at a cost of $5.00 per person.

The Christian Pharmacist Fellowship International will be hosting its annual Thanksgiving Dinner on Tuesday, November twenty-third at the ASA patio from 5:00 to 9:00 p.m.

The Student Osteopathic Medical Association (SOMA) will be hosting an AIDS awareness week during the week of November 29 – December 3. Activities will take place in the Hull Auditorium from 12:00 noon – 1:00 p.m. daily. These activities include informative movies and lectures.

Final Exams for the College of Pharmacy are scheduled from November twenty-ninth through December 7, 2004.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

3rd Annual Senior Prom
Dinner/Dance with Local Nursing Homes

Rolling Hills Country Club
Wednesday, December 8, 2004
6:00 p.m. – 8:00 p.m.

To volunteer or register for this annual event, please call the office of Volunteerism and Community Service at (954) 262-7297 or email us at volunteer@nova.edu. Space is filling up fast.

NANNY FOR 8 YR OLD BOY.
MON-FRI 2PM TO 7PM. MUST HAVE CAR. MUST SPEAK ENGLISH. $150 WEEKLY
CALL CHRISTINE (954) 822-4794

Looking for energetic, motivated person to assist in on-campus promotions for explosive internet entertainment company. Ask for Elisha at (954) 464-8757 to schedule an interview.

Spring Break in Rio de Janeiro, Brazil
VIP Passes, airfare, hotel, & more
Limited Seats Available
Earn a free trip;
Call (305) 861-0778
www.springbreakbrazil.com
On November 13, the Homecoming Dance marked the end of NSU’s Homecoming Week. The event took place at the Bonaventure Resort and Spa, where students dressed in their best gathered to eat, dance, and socialize.

The crowning moment of the dance was the announcement of the 2004 Homecoming court, which included Freshman Prince and Princess Matthew De Bruin and Robin Furmanski; Sophomore Prince and Princess Yanick Kleyman and Andrea Cevallos; and Junior Prince and Princess Perry Dave and Jocelyn McGlothlen.

Seniors Steve Hernandez and Vanessa Mezquia were crowned Homecoming King and Queen, and they took to the dance floor for the first slow dance as two-time NSU Idol winner Amber Gongora sang “Take My Breath Away.”

Above: King Steve Hernandez and Queen Vanessa Mezquia take the floor for the first dance. Left: King Steve Hernandez basks in his royal status as last year’s King, Ryan Tosco, hugs newly-crowned Homecoming Queen Vanessa Mezquia. Photos by Alisha VanHoose.

Right: Robby Mobayed and Diana Rakine weren’t crowned, but they can still have a little fun with borrowed headwear. Photo courtesy of Diana Rakine.

Left: Princes Perry Dave and Yanick Kleyman ham it up for the camera while Princesses Joycelyn McGlothlen, Andrea Cevallos, and Robin Furmanski are congratulated by friends and watch the royal couple’s first dance. Bottom left: Groups of students dance to the cool R&B grooves that made up most of the music at the Homecoming Dance. Bottom right: CJ Jenkins and Marquise Kiffin get the groove on as a number of other dancers stop to watch. Photos by Alisha VanHoose.
Page 8, Top left (from left to right): Vanessa Mezquia, GC Espinosa, and Glen Genova get ready to ride out. Top right: Contestants search through a pool of chocolate pudding for coins as part of the obstacle course. Center (left to right): Joycelyn McGlothlen, Rob Keever, Iris Lee, and Betsy Beals waiting to burn rubber. Bottom left: The Radio X crew (left to right) Iris Lee, Michelle Manley, Kyle Decosta, Danni Garcia (1st place winner) and Casey Jones. Bottom right: Conrad Winiarski jumps for joy as Radio X celebrates victory. Photos by Caroline Cullen

Above left (left to right): Todd Jackson, Patrick Budion, Joel Sanderson, Taylor Liput, and Brynn Furicks representing Rec and Wellness at the raft race. Above right (left to right): Danni Garcia, Eric Naples, Michael Darwish, Tommy Gillette, and Robin Furmandski holding their hand-crafted SGA raft. Right: Terry Weech "Raising the Roof," for the rafters. Below: Remaining team members try to keep aboard their raft as Tommy Gillette (far right) and Michael Darwish hit the water. Bottom left: Teams load their rafts into the water. Bottom right: Yanick Kleyman, Erik Thompson, power lunch

November 22, 2004

The Knight

Sunday's Classic Car Cruise starting at 6:00 p.m.
3-2-1 Runners All Day

Monday's
From 3:00 p.m.
スター・ヒルズ・テイク・アウト - 高級・低級 & a 100ml basket & a 500ml bottle Tome for $24.99

WEDNESDAY
From 9:00 p.m.
$1.00 Discounted bottled beer & $1.00 Wines on special

Thursday
Beach Band-up

2-4-1 Nib Dinnera (after 5:00 p.m.)

Friday
From 3:00 p.m.
Chili Night - $1.00 import bottles & $1.00 12oz shots

FULL MENU TILE TO COME
Musical Notes

The Broward Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Dr. Charles Chen (center), at the October 16 concert. Photo courtesy Dr. Chen

Broward Symphony Orchestra Boasts Student Talent

By Alisha VanHoose

Editor-in-Chief

On October 16, the air of BCC’s Ralph R. Bailey Concert Hall was filled with the intense melodies of Beethoven, Mendelssohn, and Dvorak. Onstage, nine students, including NSU Sophomore Greg Kyriakakis, put bow to string, lips to brass, and mallet to drum at the first concert of the season with the rest of the Broward Symphony Orchestra. “The highlight of this concert season [so far] was definitely when we performed Dvorak’s 9th Symphony,” said Kyriakakis. “Also, I hope the violin soloist [Meimei Luo] returns for an upcoming concert. She’s amazing.”

Many of the musicians are actually music majors at BCC, and their dedication to their instruments shows. Most report that they practice two to four hours each day aside from weekly orchestra rehearsal, but state that it does not pose a problem with scheduling for work, classes, and a social life – most of the time. “If people are going out and I haven’t practiced yet, I have to stay,” said BCC Junior Victor Gutierrez, who plays tuba in the orchestra.

Being a music major is not the only reason that students join the orchestra. First year BCC student Tatiana Roja joined “because of the experience. It’s like a challenge.” She also added that studying music influences her performance in other areas, like math. “Music is all about sequences and numbers. It helps you a lot.”

“Learning music and performing with an orchestra is challenging, but you learn a lot from the more experienced members,” said Kyriakakis. “I’ve made a lot of friends by playing in various orchestras, and met a lot of different conductors and have been influenced by their styles.”

English major and violinist Greg Kyriakakis returns to the orchestra for this, his second year. After having played for ten years, auditions were not a problem for him. “I just showed up one day and wanted to be in the orchestra,” he said. While most students stay with the orchestra for only a year or two while they complete their course of study at BCC, NSU’s Kyriakakis said, “I plan to stay with the Broward Symphony Orchestra for as long as I can.”

Orchestra conductor Dr. Charles Chen very much enjoys working with the students and is always happy to see new faces. “It’s a great experience for students. Many never had a chance to play in an orchestra, especially to play such masterpieces of classical music,” he said. Dr. Chen is the Music Director of the Broward Symphony Orchestra and is responsible for choosing which pieces they play. He also teaches music at BCC.

The Broward Symphony Orchestra’s next concert will be held in BCC’s Ralph R. Bailey Concert hall on December 5. Tickets are $6 at the door, or they can be purchased ahead of time in the lobby of the concert hall. February 19 marks the third concert with a ‘Music of the Night’ theme, while the final concert of the season on May 1 will feature Gold Medal Pianist David Thies.

The Best of Both Worlds at Its Worst

By Shanell R. Lee

lshanell@nsu.nova.edu

The Best of Both Worlds tour has officially come to an end, although it has been resurrected as the Jay-Z and Friends tour. The tour was scheduled to include three shows at Madison Square Garden. October 29 was the first show for the duo at the Garden. At the beginning of the night, the crowd was11 for the upcoming concert. She’s amazing.”

Many of the musicians are actually music majors at BCC, and their dedication to their instruments shows. Most report that they practice two to four hours each day aside from weekly orchestra rehearsal, but state that it does not pose a problem with scheduling for work, classes, and a social life – most of the time. “If people are going out and I haven’t practiced yet, I have to stay,” said BCC Junior Victor Gutierrez, who plays tuba in the orchestra.

Being a music major is not the only reason that students join the orchestra. First year BCC student Tatiana Roja joined “because of the experience. It’s like a challenge.” She also added that studying music influences her performance in other areas, like math. “Music is all about sequences and numbers. It helps you a lot.”

“Learning music and performing with an orchestra is challenging, but you learn a lot from the more experienced members,” said Kyriakakis. “I’ve made a lot of friends by playing in various orchestras, and met a lot of different conductors and have been influenced by their styles.”

English major and violinist Greg Kyriakakis returns to the orchestra for this, his second year. After having played for ten years, auditions were not a problem for him. “I just showed up one day and wanted to be in the orchestra,” he said. While most students stay with the orchestra for only a year or two while they complete their course of study at BCC, NSU’s Kyriakakis said, “I plan to stay with the Broward Symphony Orchestra for as long as I can.”

Orchestra conductor Dr. Charles Chen very much enjoys working with the students and is always happy to see new faces. “It’s a great experience for students. Many never had a chance to play in an orchestra, especially to play such masterpieces of classical music,” he said. Dr. Chen is the Music Director of the Broward Symphony Orchestra and is responsible for choosing which pieces they play. He also teaches music at BCC.

The Broward Symphony Orchestra’s next concert will be held in BCC’s Ralph R. Bailey Concert hall on December 5. Tickets are $6 at the door, or they can be purchased ahead of time in the lobby of the concert hall. February 19 marks the third concert with a ‘Music of the Night’ theme, while the final concert of the season on May 1 will feature Gold Medal Pianist David Thies.

The Best of Both Worlds tour has officially come to an end, although it has been resurrected as the Jay-Z and Friends tour. The tour was scheduled to include three shows at Madison Square Garden. October 29 was the first show for the duo at the Garden. At the beginning of the night, the crowd was mystified by the distinct sounds of the king of rap and the Pied piper of R&B. Jay-Z rocked the crowd with songs like “Your Bodies Call’n” and “Feeling on top,” while R. Kelly made the hearts of the women in the crowd melt with hits like “You don’t know” and “Big Pimp’n.” After singing an a capella rendition of “Confessions,” he told Jay-Z he had something special for him and New York, and then performed his hit song “Throw-Back.” At the end of the concert, Jay-Z told the fans he did the best he could and loved each and every one of them.

Performing as well were Mary J. Blige, T.I., Memphis Bleek, Ja Rule and many more throughout the following nights show.

The following Saturday morning, both R. Kelly and Jay-Z were interviewed on New York’s radio station Hot 97. Jay-Z said that R. Kelly’s actions were foolish and proclaimed that R.Kelly was insecure and jealous of his fans’ love for him. R. Kelly tells a different story. Kelly said he panicked when he thought his life was in danger; he was going to return to the stage but he and his entourage were pepper-sprayed by an unknown assailant. At that point, Kelly refused to return to the stage.

During the Hot 97 interview, Jay-Z publicly admitted that the two were having problems from the beginning of the tour. During R. Kelly’s interview, he told radio personality Angie Martinez he was canceling shows due to technical difficulties. Jay-Z and his promoter decided not to continue the tour with R-Kelly, who is now suing Jay-Z for breach of contract.
Calling All Artists!
Palm Beach Film Festival offers $1,000 prize in poster contest

By Alaina Siminovsky
Arts & Entertainment Editor

In late October, the Palm Beach Film Festival announced a poster contest. The contest’s winning entry will become the official logo for the tenth annual film festival, and the artist will win $1,000. The design will appear on all of the festival’s paraphernalia—from booklets to t-shirts and hats.

“PBIFF’s primary requirement is that the poster design reflect both the unique Palm Beach lifestyle and our love for film. For example, last year’s winning design, by Jessica Fleches of Digital Media Arts College, was of a beach-bound palm tree with leaves made of film,” says Hal Axler, executive director of PBIFF.

The contest’s official deadline is January 14, 2005. The winner will be announced in late January, after all entries are reviewed by a panel of judges.

Palm Beach Film Festival offers $1,000 prize in poster contest

Official Guidelines for Submissions:
- Entries must be mounted on 8.5” x 11” board.
- Design must be easily translatable to a variety of print materials.
- Design should be colorful and make a strong impression, particularly when used alongside PBIFF’s logo.
- Design should incorporate: “10th Annual Palm Beach International Film Festival April 14-21, 2005”.
- No limit to the number of entries submitted.
- Each entry should list the designer’s name, mailing address, email address, telephone number, and photocoppy of their Student ID. This information should be on the back of the poster design.

All entries must be received no later than Jan 14, 2005.
All entries should be sent to: Palm Beach International Film Festival Poster Contest 289 Via Naranjas, Suite 48 Boca Raton, FL 33432

Musical Review
Spend an Evening at Bloomies with the Women of Menopause

By Alaina Siminovsky
Arts & Entertainment Editor

Menopause, The Musical took the stage two weeks ago at Nova Southeastern University’s Miniaci Theater. This fantastic musical embraces “The Change” by illustrating its popular symptoms through the use of well-known songs from the baby boomers adolescent period. For an entire 90 minute period, audiences will find themselves tapping their toes to the music emanating from the stage, carried by the cast’s booming voices.

On one afternoon in New York City, four very different women meet up at a lingerie sale at Bloomingdales. A mid-western housewife, a highly dramatic soap opera star, a businesswoman, and the “Earth-Mother” all join together commiserating about the dreaded “change.” New words are set to old tunes as these women sing about their newly found miseries—night sweats, hot flashes, mood swings, weight gain, insomnia, and depression. Their dancing and singing permeate the many floors of downtown NYC’s Bloomingdales, and the audience’s howling laughter becomes an unconventional accompaniment.

The women of Menopause serve as archetypes, proving that women everywhere are affected by the change regardless of race, social status, or profession. The simple set and props allow the true focus of the play to reside on the women actors and their plight while going through menopause. No longer is menopause the silent passage, the play boats. This play-turned-grassroots movement is slated to travel abroad after its tenure at NSU. Menopause will be running through January 2 and would be the perfect holiday gift for a mother, grandmother, cousin, or friend.

Student and group discount information can be obtained by calling 954-462-0222. The regular ticket price is $39.50, while students can get in for $32.50. For more information, visit www.menopause-the-musical.com or www.browardvents.com.
Name: DJ Soozin

Position: DJ

Radio Show (Name and Time): Fridays 7 - 9 p.m., "The Basement"

Featured Genre of Music: House music, which includes tech, tribal, progressive, funky, deep, electro, etc.

Favorite DJs/Producers: Danny Tenaglia, Deep Dish, Miguel Migs, Jay Tripwire, Fred Everything

What’s in your personal CD player right now? Paul Soul – Beautiful Day

Where can you be seen? Are you performing at any local venues? Where are the best local clubs to hear your favorite genre of music?

Soozin plays at Lush in Ft. Lauderdale every Thursday, every other Friday at the Chesterfield Hotel in South Beach, weekly on Radio X, and weekly on Pulse Radio (www.pulseradio.net). Check www.soozin.com

Other clubs to hear the genre: Different clubs have different music depending on the night, but you can often hear good house music at Space, Crobar, NV, and everywhere in Miami during Winter Music Conference in March

What new DJs/producers do you recommend and why?
Jay Tripwire – amazing producer of tech house
Fred Everything – sick remixes all over the board Switch and McGuyver – a new pair out of Australia with some
The King and I

The King and I takes the stage in a montage of colorful costumes

By Caroline Cullen

Broadway in Fort Lauderdale presented the classic Rodgers and Hammerstein musical, The King and I, at the Broward Center for the Performing Arts November 2 - 14. The King and I is based on the novel Anna and the King of Siam by Margaret Landon, which itself was based on the memoirs of the real Anna Leonowens.

The novel is set in Bangkok in the early 1860s and tells the story of Anna, an adventurous Englishwoman hired to serve as governess and tutor to the King of Siam's 67 children. The musical retells the tale of the Anna's life, romanticizing her experiences as teacher of the royal children in the palace of the King of Siam. The story touches on the issues of the conflicting cultures of east and west, women's rights, and dictatorship versus democracy. Many are familiar with the more modern 1999 release of Anna and the King starring Jodie Foster and Chow Yun-Fat. Sandy Duncan (The Hogan Family, Chicago, and Steel Magnolias) stars as Anna Leonowens along with Martin Vidnovic (Oklahoma!, Guys and Dolls, and Disney's King David) playing the role of The King of Siam. Duncan and Vidnovic make an excellent pair in this performance, each seeming to playfully feed off the other's roles. Surprisingly, an Asian actor did not play the part of The King, as did most of the cast, including the King's children. This discrepancy nobody cared to notice, as Vidnovic commands the stage.

At some points during the musical, the audience would have to pay close attention to the dialect of The King. There were many lines that could not be deciphered when uttered by Vidnovic, leaving one to ponder if this was supposed to be the case.

In the role of Anna, Duncan brought humor, charisma, and life. For those who have read the book or seen the movie renditions of The King and I, they might have considered it a drama or even romance. This production of The King and I had the audience laughing out loud and was consistently comical throughout the show.

The singing was superb. Characters belted out the tunes “Hello, Young Lovers,” “I Have Dreamed,” and “Shall We Dance.” The most amazing aspect of this production was the costumes – hats off to Costume Designer Roger Kirk. His creations were an array of bright, vivid, and exquisitely detailed pieces. The audience was awestruck by the wardrobes of each character; no one character's garb fell behind the others, as each costume was an innovation of exquisiteness.

This rendition of The King and I comes highly recommended, and although the production has run its course at The Broward Center for Performing Arts, it will be playing at the Kravits Center in West Palm Beach from November 16 - 24.

The singing was superb. Characters belted out the tunes “Hello, Young Lovers,” “I Have Dreamed,” and “Shall We Dance.” The most amazing aspect of this production was the costumes – hats off to Costume Designer Roger Kirk. His creations were an array of bright, vivid, and exquisitely detailed pieces. The audience was awestruck by the wardrobes of each character; no one character's garb fell behind the others, as each costume was an innovation of exquisiteness.

This rendition of The King and I comes highly recommended, and although the production has run its course at The Broward Center for Performing Arts, it will be playing at the Kravits Center in West Palm Beach from November 16 - 24.

Yummy…Food for Thought

Thanksgiving is a time for giving and sharing, and I’m sure the Pilgrims didn’t rush back to the Mayflower after dinner. They probably had a few glasses of wine and got cozy with their newfound friends. This compels me to ponder the connection between sex and food, especially with the holidays right around the corner.

Many researchers claim that your diet can affect your sex life. Most of us have heard that oysters and chocolate can be aphrodisiacs – is it just a myth? Or is it true that nutrition plays a fundamental role in lovemaking? One’s food selections can seeminglyrouse the libido and increase general health. According to Discovery Health, “The dietary ingredients for a lifetime of wonderful sex include a variety of fresh, wholesome fruits and vegetables, and lean proteins.” Complex carbohydrates should be the centerpiece of a healthy sex diet, with lean proteins comprising about 20% to 30% of daily calories, advises Chris Meletis, N.D., chief medical officer at the National College of Naturopathic Medicine. Meals rich in fruits and vegetables provide beneficial nutrients that keep organs in peak condition and energy at maximum levels, both of which are essential for lovemaking.

Wow, seems like this eating healthy stuff works for just about everything: good physical shape, clear skin, healthy organs, strong bones, and now, sex! Are McDonald’s and Taco Bell trying to sabotage our sex lives? I go to Wendy’s all the time - that little bitch! What about the Colonel, always smiling down at me when I’m in a hurry – that dirty old dog! Although some foods arouse, others can impair sexual function. Fried fare and rich cream sauces can leave us feeling more sluggish than sexy. What’s more, excessive sugar, salt, saturated fat, and highly processed foods are linked to frigidity, difficulty reaching orgasm, and lack of interest in sex. Cutting back on these foods will help revive and preserve sexual vitality and enhance overall well-being,” writes author of A Natural History of the Senses Diane Ackerman.

Here are some tips for this holiday season: feast on fruits, devour delicious vegetables, savor fresh seafood and lean meats (no pun intended). Don’t forget to have some fun with your partner; cook naked, eat without silverware, stick gummy bears all over your bodies, and turn yourselves into desert with some whipped cream. Get creative; whip each other with twizzlers if you want to get a little frisky. Even dipping a strawberry in melted chocolate or tantalizing with an ice cube can spice up a romantic evening. Have a great holiday, be safe, and bon appetit!
Create Your Own Thanksgiving Feast

Compiled by Alaina Siminovsky

Sweet Potato Pie
Source: Food Network

Ingredients:
- 1b ounces sweet potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 1 1/4 cups plain yogurt
- 3/4 cup packed, dark brown sugar
- 1/2 tsp of cinnamon
- 1/4 tsp of nutmeg
- 5 egg yolks
- Salt
- 1 (9-inch) deep dish, frozen pie shell
- 1 cup chopped pecans, toasted
- 1 tblsp maple syrup

Special equipment: steamer basket

Procedure:
1. Line a medium sized, round colander with a cheese cloth or a clean dish towel. Place the
   5 (16 oz) packages extra firm tofu

2. Make the stuffing: In a large frying pan sauté onion, celery, and mushrooms in two tablespoons of the sesame oil until tender. Add the garlic, sage, thyme, salt and pepper, rosemary, and 1/4 cup of the tamari. Stir well; cook for five minutes. Add prepared herb stuffing and mix well. Remove from heat.

3. Cool to room temperature and then chill in a covered container. (Will keep for two weeks in the refrigerator if you wish to prepare ahead of time.)

4. Remove the weight from the tofu. Hollow out the tofu so that there is one inch of tofu still lining the colander. Place the scooped-out tofu in a separate bowl. Brush the tofu lining with a small amount of the miso seasoning. Scoop the stuffing into the center of the tofu shell. Place the leftover tofu on top of the stuffing and press down firmly. Turn the stuffed tofu onto the prepared cookie sheet, putting the leftover tofu side of the “turkey” (the flat side) down. Gently press on the sides of the “turkey” to form a more oval shape. Brush the tofu turkey with 1/2 of the oiltamari-oil mixture and serve hot.

5. Bake for one hour. After one hour, remove “turkey” from the oven and remove the foil. Baste the “turkey” with the remaining tamari-oil sauce (reserving 4 tablespoons of sauce). Return “turkey” to oven and bake another hour or until the tofu turkey is golden brown. Place the tofu turkey on a serving platter, brush with the remaining tamari-oil mixture and serve hot.

Cranberry Sauce
Source: www.wholefoods.com

Ingredients:
- 1 cup cranberries
- 1/2 cup apple juice
- 1/2 cup honey or rice syrup
- 1 tsp grated orange rind
- 1/2 cup walnuts or pecans

Procedure:
1. Combine cranberries, apple juice, and honey in a sauce pan and simmer for fiveminutes un til the berries pop. Remove from heat and stir in grated orange rind.

2. Cool to room temperature and then chill in a covered container. (Will keep for two weeks in the refrigerator if you wish to prepare ahead of time.)

3.  Cool to room temperature and then chill in a covered container. (Will keep for two weeks in the refrigerator if you wish to prepare ahead of time.)

4. Remove the weight from the tofu. Hollow out the tofu so that there is one inch of tofu still lining the colander. Place the scooped-out tofu in a separate bowl. Brush the tofu lining with a small amount of the miso seasoning. Scoop the stuffing into the center of the tofu shell. Place the leftover tofu on top of the stuffing and press down firmly. Turn the stuffed tofu onto the prepared cookie sheet, putting the leftover tofu side of the “turkey” (the flat side) down. Gently press on the sides of the “turkey” to form a more oval shape. Brush the tofu turkey with 1/2 of the oiltamari-oil mixture. Place the sprigs of rosemary on top of the tofu. Cover the “turkey” with foil.

5. Bake for one hour. After one hour, remove “turkey” from the oven and remove the foil. Baste the “turkey” with the remaining tamari-oil sauce (reserving 4 tablespoons of sauce). Return “turkey” to oven and bake another hour or until the tofu turkey is golden brown. Place the tofu turkey on a serving platter, brush with the remaining tamari-oil mixture and serve hot.

Tofu Turkey
Source: www.allrecipes.com

Ingredients:
- 5 (16 oz) packages extra firm tofu
- 1 red onion, finely diced
- 1 cup chopped mushrooms
- 1/8 cup dried sage
- 1/2 cup tamari
- 1/2 cup sesame oil
- 2 tsp miso paste
- 1 tsp honey mustard
- 3 sprigs fresh rosemary

Procedure:
1. Line a medium sized, round colander with a cheese cloth or a clean dish towel. Place the crumbled tofu in the colander. Place another cheese cloth over the top of the tofu. Place the colander over the top of a bowl to catch the liquid. Place a heavy weight on top of tofu.

2. Preheat the oven to 350° F

3. Preheat the oven to 400° F

4. Remove the weight from the tofu. Hollow out the tofu so that there is one inch of tofu still lining the colander. Place the scooped-out tofu in a separate bowl. Brush the tofu lining with a small amount of the miso seasoning. Scoop the stuffing into the center of the tofu shell. Place the leftover tofu on top of the stuffing and press down firmly. Turn the stuffed tofu onto the prepared cookie sheet, putting the leftover tofu side of the “turkey” (the flat side) down. Gently press on the sides of the “turkey” to form a more oval shape. Brush the tofu turkey with 1/2 of the oiltamari-oil mixture. Place the sprigs of rosemary on top of the tofu. Cover the “turkey” with foil.

5. Bake for one hour. After one hour, remove “turkey” from the oven and remove the foil. Baste the “turkey” with the remaining tamari-oil sauce (reserving 4 tablespoons of sauce). Return “turkey” to oven and bake another hour or until the tofu turkey is golden brown. Place the tofu turkey on a serving platter, brush with the remaining tamari-oil mixture and serve hot.

One Hour Buttermilk Rolls
Source: www.webtrace.com

Ingredients:
- 2 pkgs (1/4 oz. each) active dry yeast
- 1 1/2 cups buttermilk, at room
   temp
- 3 tblsp sugar
- 1/2 tsp. baking soda

Procedure:
(Preheat oven to 400°F) Butter three 6-cup muffin pans. In bowl stir yeast into warm water until dissolved. Stir in buttermilk, shortening, sugar, salt, and baking soda until combined. (Mixture will be lumpy.) Stir in flour, one cup at a time, until soft dough forms. Turn dough out onto lightly floured surface; Knead until smooth and elastic, eight minutes. Let stand ten minutes. Divide into 18 pieces; divide each dough piece into three pieces, cover dough not in use. Roll each dough piece into round ball. Place three balls in each muffin cup. Cover; let rise in warm place until doubled in bulk, 30 minutes. Bake 15-18 minutes or until golden. Cool in pans on racks 10 minutes. Remove from pans; serve or cool completely on rack.

Looking for something to do with your Turkey Day leftovers? Try these!

Turkey-Pineapple leftovers?
Try these!

Turkey-Pineapple Curry
Source: Use it Up, Lois Carlson Willard

Ingredients:
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/3 cup butter
- 1/3 cup flour
- 1 tsp curry powder
- 1 tsp salt
- 4 cups turkey or chicken broth
- 3 cups cooked cubed turkey
- 1 cup canned pineapple tidbits, drained
- cooked rice

Procedure:
In a large skillet, cook onion in butter until soft. Sprinkle in flour, curry powder, and salt. Cook and stir for 3 minutes. Add broth and cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add turkey and pineapple and heat until mixture is hot. Serve over hot rice with desired curry accompaniments. Serves 6

Turkey and Cranberry Corn Muffins
Source: Linda Larson, about.com

Ingredients:
- 1 8-oz package of corn muf
   fin mix
- 1 tblsp chopped fresh pars
   ley or cilantro

Procedure:
Prepare muffins according to package directions, adding the chopped parsley or cilantro.
Grease bottoms of miniature muffin cups, and fill each cup 2/3 fill of batter. Bake according to directions until light golden brown and remove muffins. Let cool.
Cut each muffin in half and make tiny sandwiches with the turkey and cranberry sauce.
living legend. For as Virgil wrote, "Fortune chronicles Alexander's journey to become a snow-peaked mountains of India, the film as they fought from the sun-scorched with his closest companions and vast army – to the rousing "band of brothers" bond the throne at any cost, including murder a queen determined to put her child on vast state, from the tumultuous relation lonely and mysterious death as a ruler of a empire, its gradual decline and ultimate downfall. From his youth, fueled by dreams of glory and adventure, to his by the age of 32, had amassed the greatest The Great was a relentless conqueror who, favors the bold." And no king or emperor, either before or after, ever achieved such fortune, or indeed was so bold, as Alexander the Great.

Movie Openings:

Action/Adven-

Alexander

Opens in theaters nationwide on November 24. This action/adventure is rated R. Distributor: Warner Brothers. Director: Oliver Stone. Producers: Moritz Borman, Thomas Schuhly, Oliver Stone, Jon Kilik, Iain Smith. Cast: Colin Farrell, Rosario Dawson, Anthony Hopkins, Angelina Jolie, Val Kilmer. Synopsis: Alexander The Great was a relentless conqueror who, by the age of 32, had amassed the greatest empire the world had ever seen. Fast and present collide to form the puzzle of the protagonist, a tapestry of triumphs and tragedies in which childhood memories and Alexander's rise to power unfold side by side with the later day expansion of his empire, its gradual decline and ultimate downfall. From his youth, fueled by dreams of glory and adventure, to his of glory and adventure, to his lonely and mysterious death as a ruler of a vast state, from the tumultuous relationship with his parents – a powerful king and a queen determined to put her child on the throne at any cost, including murder – to the rousing "band of brothers" bond with his closest companions and vast army as they fought from the sun-scorched battlefields of the Persian Empire across the snow-peaked mountains of India, the film chronicles Alexander's journey to become a living legend. For as Virgil wrote, "Fortune favors the bold." And no king or emperor, either before or after, ever achieved such fortune, or indeed was so bold, as Alexander the Great.

Comedy

Christmas with the Kranks

Based on the book Skipping Christmas by John Grisham, opens in theaters nationwide on November 24. This comedy is rated PG. Distributor: Revolution Studios. Director: Joe Roth. Producers: Michael Barnathan, Chris Columbus, Mark Radcliffe. Cast: Tim Allen, Jamie Lee Curtis, Julie Gonzalo, Dan Aykroyd, Jake Busey. Synopsis: Imagine a year without Christmas. No crowded malls, no comy office parties, no fruitcakes, no unwanted presents. That's just what Luther (Allen) and Nora Krank (Curtis) have in mind when they decide that, just this once, they'll skip the holiday altogether, despite the fact that they're usually the most fanatical about it. They might as well, since it won't be the same without their daughter, who's away in the tropics. They get the idea to join their daughter in sunny paradise as a surprise, and thus, theirs will be the only house on Hemlock Street without a tree. But when their daughter surprises them by cutting her trip short and returning home for Christmas, there's a mad scramble to prepare themselves to have the traditional Christmas fanfare on extremely short notice.

Local Clubs:

Chocolate Moose Music Café

9118 SR 84 Davie, FL 33324-4416 (954) 474-5040

Eden

2101 S. University Drive Davie, FL 33324 (954) 423-0009

Lush Lounge

3074 NE 33rd Ave Ft. Lauderdale, FL (954)475-6950 www.lushsouthflorida.com

Oxygen Lounge & Sushi Bar

2911 Grand Ave Subterranean Level Streets of Mayfair Coconut Grove, FL 33133 (954)476-0202 www.oxygen-lounge.biz

Space

34 NE 11 St Downtown Miami, FL 33132

Stacy's Bar

4831 SW 148th Ave Davie, FL (954) 434-8032

Special Events:

Broward County Fair

November 19-28, 2004 www.browardcountyfair.com

CD Releases

Movie Openings

LRITC

Living English Café “Holidays”

6 - 7 p.m.

Connections Café

Night Out!

Martini Wednesdays at Lush

Sex and the City Dinner Party at Oxygen

Night Out!: Radio X’s DJ Soolin spins at Lush, Agu at Oxygen

Night Out!: Escape at Oxygen, Deep Dish Featurin Sharam & Ali at Club Space

Calendar compiled by Alaina Siminovsky

Calendar graphics by Alisha VanHoose
Sports

Volleyball Team Falls 3-0 in Last Game of The Season Against Barry

Dana Buss led the Knights’ offense with six kills while Mindy Szarowicz led the defense, but in the end, they couldn’t keep the Bucs down.

By Alicia Winslett
Sports Editor

In their last game of the 2004 season, the women’s volleyball team fell 3 games to 0 against #5 Barry University. In the game against NSU, Barry picked up their twenty-sixth win in the SSC, and they are 16-0 in the conference. The scores of the games were 30-13, 30-12, and 30-15. “I feel that Barry University played an outstanding match on Friday night. They have a very deep bench and have improved dramatically from when we played them in October,” said Coach Michelle DeSantis. With six kills, Dana Buss led the Knight’s offense. Mindy Szarowicz also had six digs, leading the defense, along with Rachel Poe’s 18 assists in the games.

In game one, Barry jumped ahead of NSU with a 15-4 lead. In an answer to that, NSU put up a four-point rally. But it was not enough to hold back the Bucs as they won the match 30-13.

In game two, the Knights held onto a 3-3 tie, but the Bucs quickly regained a 12-point lead. In the end, the Bucs came away with a 30-12 victory.

In game three, the score was very close until the Bucs broke a 7-7

Please see LAST GAME

Sports Stats

Women’s Rowing:

NSU won the women’s varsity four race at the FIRA Fall Classic on Canal 54 in Fellsmere, FL this weekend. The Knights finished first in the 11-boat field with a time of 12:55, ahead of crews from Florida Tech (13:04), Barry University (13:05), Jacksonville University (13:14), and the University of Miami (13:24). NSU’s “B” crew finished sixth (13:28). The Knights varsity eight crew (11:42) finished second in the women’s varsity eight race to Barry University (11:25). NSU also had a second place finish in the women’s novice four “A” race, a fourth place finish in the women’s novice eight race, and a fifth place finish in the women’s novice “B” race.

2004 NSU Women’s Soccer

Nova Southeastern Overall Team Statistics

All game Overall: 15-4-1 Conference: 5-2-1 Home: 7-2-0 Away: 7-1-1 Neutral: 1-1-0

2004 NSU Volleyball

Nova Southeastern Overall Team Statistics

Overall record: 4-29 Conference: 1-15 Home: 4-8 Away: 0-13 Neutral: 0-8 tie with 7 consecutive points. With two five-point rallies, the Bucs took the game 30-15. About the game, DeSantis said, “It was so nice to see the fan support on Friday night, and hopefully that sparked some interest in the sport of volleyball.”

For Barry, Fernanda Brino and Karla Bersano recorded 11 kills, and Samantha Tucillo had 9 digs defensively. With that, Michele Rosamiglia posted 25 assists for the Bucs.

Coach DeSantis explained, “I feel that each player on our team improved in at least one aspect of their game. We play in a conference where 3 teams are consistently ranked in the top 20 in the nation, which means that we are playing against great competition.”

LAST GAME
Continued from page 17

“I feel that Barry University played an outstanding match... they have a very deep bench and have improved dramatically from when we played them in October”

Women’s Basketball to Participate in Holiday Isle Classic
By Kim Garafola
Coordinator of Alumni Pro-

The Nova Southeastern University women’s basketball team will be participating in the Second Annual Holiday Isle Classic from December 2-4, 2004 in Islamorada, FL. The Knights will be joined by the University of West Florida, Concordia College-St. Paul, and Drury University in a weekend full of exciting NCAA Division II basketball action.

The Knights will open up tournament play on Thursday, December 2 as they face the University of West Florida at the Michael Lannen Gymnasium. Tip-off is scheduled for 5:00 p.m. Concordia College-St. Paul will take on Drury University in a game slated for 7:00 p.m.

The winners of both contests will square off in the tournament championship on Saturday, December 4 at 7:00 p.m. The runners-up will play a consolation game the same day with the opening tip slated for 5:00 p.m.

For more information contact Head Coach, Marilyn Rule at (954) 262-8078 or Assistant Coach, Rachel Friesen at (954) 262-8221.
The Knight

Interviewer: Chip, what has been going on within the construction site so far?

CHIP: There has been a great deal of underground re-routing of electric, water, fiber etc. completed. The surface area at the west end of the construction has been cleared and is almost ready for drilling and filling in the pilings that will support the University Center Building. The east end is where we still need to do more re-routing of underground infrastructure and reconfiguration of the landscape. This is why Phase II will encompass much more of the areas between the Residence Halls, Athletic & Student Affairs, ASLRITC Building, and part of Mary McKay Hill Drive. As you can see from the map below, this will require a new walkway that is represented by the dashes. This walkway will be very well lit and I will be there keeping an eye on our NSU community to ensure their safety. These changes are scheduled to take place early December 2004.

Interviewer: Chip will there be more parking areas blocked off to the students, faculty, and staff?

CHIP: Unfortunately, yes. The ASLRITC Staff parking lot and the Athletic & Student Affairs parking lot will become part of the construction site and blocked off. That entire area is part of the re-routing of underground infrastructure and reconfiguration of the landscape during much of the duration of the construction phase. The Athletic & Student Affairs parking area will also be enclosed within the construction area in order to create more parking and to reconfigure an entrance for deliveries on the east side of the Rosenthal Building.

Interviewer: What is your biggest concern right now?

CHIP: My biggest concern that is shared by all of the NSU’s Administration is the safety of all our students, faculty, and staff. Additional lighting has been set up to ensure our students and staff feel safe walking our grounds at night to class and back to the residence halls. Signage has been placed along the construction site and along walkways to ensure that students and staff do not accidentally wander into an active construction area where they could get injured. I would also like to encourage everyone to take advantage of the Wave & Ride Shuttles. Bus Shelters are also listed on the map below.

Interviewer: CHIP, any last comments that you would like to leave us with?

CHIP: During our growing pains, all of our NSU community will need to have patience and tolerance for each other. I hope that students will remember that idea when they become frustrated because they may be running late for class. I hope that a parent, vendor, or staff member will remember that idea when they can't find a parking spot to buy books at the bookstore. Rules, walkways, lights and signs are in place to ensure our Safety while the University Center is under construction. To check our construction photos to monitor our progress, visit: http://www.nova.edu/facilities/construction/UniversityCenter/

Interviewer: Thank you CHIP.

Compiled by Office of Facilities Management
Come celebrate the end of the 2004 Hurricane Season with University of Miami’s

"I Survived the Florida Hurricanes of 2004" Tiki Bar Celebration

Date: Saturday, November 13, 2004
Time: 6:00 P.M. to 10:00 P.M.
Location: Tiki Bar at the University of Miami, Coral Gables, Florida

Covered Spaces

Tickets:

Available at the door

For more information, contact the University of Miami Office of Student Life.

This event is sponsored by the University of Miami Office of Student Life.