Re: Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs
(CACREP)

Over the last ten years, I have had the distinct pleasure of working with a leadership team that is fully invested in the continuous growth and development of our university. When I unveiled the Vision, Mission, and Core Values for the University at the start of my tenure, I challenged all the deans to work with their faculty and staff to obtain recognition from the appropriate accrediting agencies. With full confidence in her team, Dr. Grosby readily accepted the challenge, making the Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) the targeted goal for NSU's College of Psychology.

Despite working through the hardship of a pandemic, the faculty and staff remained true to their commitment of providing a quality educational experience to our students while working towards achieving program accreditation from CACREP. I am pleased to let you know that the extensive review of the self-study documents and the site review team's report in addition to the institution's response to the team report has resulted in the programs receiving accreditation without conditions for eight years.

I would like to personally thank everyone who helped to prepare for the accreditation process and extend my sincere appreciation to Dean Grosby and all the faculty and staff for contributing to the accomplishments that led to this successful outcome. Accreditation is an important time for reflection, assessment, and affirmation of who we are as an institution and certainly reflects our core values and mission. I congratulate you on attaining this significant achievement and for exemplifying the spirit of One NSU.
