PEACE AND CONFLICT STUDIES JOURNAL

Call for Papers

Peace and Conflict Studies (ISSN 1082-7307) is committed to interdisciplinary explorations on conflict resolution, peace building, humanitarian assistance, and other alternative mechanisms that seek to prevent and control violence. PCS is also interested in these areas of focus for social change and nonviolence:

- sustainable development
- ecological balance
- community revitalization
- reflective practice
- action research

- social justice
- human rights
- gender equality
- intercultural relations
- grassroots movements

- organizational transformations
- peace education

Manuscripts may also address various human experiences, social issues, and policy agendas that are connected to the research literature, practice, and experiential learning in the fields.

As a semiannual academic journal, PCS is available online. The online format contains author names and their paper abstracts. Views expressed in articles and other contributions that appear in PCS may not necessarily reflect endorsement by the Editorial Board or Staff. PCS provides opportunities and forums for dialogs over various ideas, assessments, recommendations, and critiques. The text should be directed to a multidisciplinary audience and be as readable and practical as possible. Illustrate theoretical ideas with specific examples, explain technical terms in non-technical language, and keep the style clear and consistent.

Peace and Conflict Studies is indexed and/or abstracted in Peace Research Abstracts Journal, Public Affairs Information Service, Scopus, Sociological Abstracts, Psychological Abstracts, PsycINFO, Political Science Manuscripts, International Political Science Abstracts and Worldviews.

Peace and Conflict Studies is published by the Network of Peace and Conflict Studies sponsored by the Department of Conflict Resolution Studies at NSU. We greatly appreciate the support provided either currently or in the past by the Department of Conflict Resolution Studies, College of Arts, Humanities, and Social Sciences, Nova Southeastern University; the Institute for Conflict Analysis and Resolution, George Mason University; Middle Georgia College; Mershon Center of the Ohio State University; and the Center for International Studies, University of Missouri at St. Louis. Support has also been given by the Lentz Peace Research Association and the Political Science Manuscripts.

Our Review Process

PCS employs a two-stage review process. Submissions receive a preliminary review to ensure they meet the journal's submission requirements. This process typically takes 2-4 weeks. Then, as appropriate, papers are sent out for peer review, which usually is completed within 2-4 months. The author is then informed of the decision rendered about the manuscript.

Document Preparation

Manuscripts should be electronic (Microsoft Word only) and no longer than thirty double-spaced pages of text (or 7,500 – 10,000 words). Using the Online Submission Form, entries should include a title, author name(s) and contact information, and brief author bio(s). Submissions should also include an abstract of the article (no more than 200 words). The actual manuscript should begin with an introduction and have no author identifying information (i.e., blind). There are sections within the form to provide all the above information and to upload the actual manuscript.

All submissions should be prepared according to the Publication Manual of the American Psychological Association (6th edition, American Psychological Association), which pertains especially to citations, headings, and reference format (though PCS guidelines allow single-spaced, rather than double-spaced, references).

In addition, we have the following journal-specific guidelines:

- Footnotes/Endnotes: Please do not use footnotes or endnotes; please incorporate all relevant information into the body of the article. Footnotes and Endnotes are not compliant with APA style.

- Figures, Tables, and Exhibits: Do not include graphs or statistical tables unless necessary for clarity. Figures, tables, and exhibits should comply with APA formatting. All figures, tables, and exhibits should have short, descriptive titles and must be called out in the text.

Publication Process

When a submitted manuscript after peer review is accepted for publication, authors have agreed to grant PCS the right to copyedit and publish. Manuscripts under review for possible publication in PCS should not be submitted for review elsewhere or have been previously published elsewhere.
Questions regarding editorial matters should be sent to the Editor-in-Chief, Cheryl Duckworth.

Online Submission

You may proceed directly to our electronic submission portal, and follow a 4-step process. Once your manuscript moves through the review process, you will be alerted via email about a decision.

We hope you will consider submitting your paper to the Peace & Conflict Studies Journal.
